Pakistan The First Twelve Years The Pakistan Times Editorials Of Mazhar Ali Khan:

Pakistan, the First Twelve Years Mazhar Ali Khan, 1996 Originally published as editorials in the daily The Pakistan Times Production of Postcolonial India and Pakistan Ted Svensson, 2013-07-31 This work seeks to during 1947 1959 examine the event and concurrent transition that the inauguration of India and Pakistan as postcolonial states in August 1947 constituted and effectuated Analysing India and Pakistan together in a parallel and mutually dependant reading and utilizing primary data and archival materials Svensson offers new insights into the current literature seeking to conceptualise independence through partition and decolonisation in terms of novelty and as a restarting of time Through his analysis Svensson demonstrates the constitutive and inexorable entwinement of contingency and restoration of openness and closure in the establishment of the postcolonial state It is maintained that those involved in instituting the new state in a moment devoid of fixity and foundation anchor it in preceding beginnings. The work concludes with the proposition that the novelty should not only be regarded as contained in the moment of transition It should also be seen as contained in the pledge in the promise and the gesturing towards a future community Distinct from most other studies on the partition and independence the book assumes the constitutive moment as the focal point offering a new approach to the study of partition in British India decolonisation and the institutional of the postcolonial state This work will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations South Asian studies and political and postcolonial theory Islamabad and the Politics of International Development in Pakistan Markus Daechsel, 2015-03-19 This book offers a transnational history of Pakistan s development in the 1950s and 1960s and the creation of the capital city Islamabad Breakdown in Pakistan Masooda Bano, 2012-04-25 Thirty percent of foreign development aid is channeled through NGOs or community based organizations to improve service delivery to the poor build social capital and establish democracy in developing nations However growing evidence suggests that aid often erodes rather than promotes cooperation within developing nations. This book presents a rare micro level account of the complex decision making processes that bring individuals together to form collective action platforms It then examines why aid often breaks down the very institutions for collective action that it aims to promote Breakdown in Pakistan identifies concrete measures to check the erosion of cooperation in foreign aid scenarios Pakistan is one of the largest recipients of international development aid and therefore the empirical details presented are particularly relevant for policy The book's argument is equally applicable to a number of other developing countries and has important implications for recent discussions within the field of economics The Post-Colonial State in the Era of Capitalist Globalization Tariq Amin-Khan, 2012-03-12 State formation in post colonial societies differed greatly from the formation of the Western capitalist state The latter has been extensively studied while a coherent grasp of the post colonial state has remained elusive Amin Khan provides a critical historical and contemporary understanding of post colonial state formations in Asia and Africa and suggests how this process differed from the formation of states in Latin America In distinguishing between the post colonial state and the Western capitalist state the author argues that the unitary colonial state left a strong legacy on the decolonized states of Asia and Africa reinscribing their subordination vis vis Western states transnational corporations and multilateral institutions The indigenous elites decision at the time of decolonization to retain colonial state structures meant the readaptation of capitalism imperialism nexus to suit new post colonial realities which enabled the formation of clientelist relationships This post colonial reality and exploration of the contemporary context provides the basis of analyzing two post colonial state forms the capitalist and proto capitalist varieties which are examined using the case Pakistan Ali Mazhar Khan.1996 studies of India and Pakistan Islam, Nationalism and the West I.
