Robert I. Rotberg

Political Leadership In Africa:

Governance and Leadership in Africa Robert I. Rotberg, 2014 Examines the current state of governance and leadership in Africa and discusses the various types of government found in the continent showing the correlation between the quality of a country's leadership and the quality of life enjoyed by that country's people Political Leadership in Africa Giovanni Carbone, Alessandro Pellegata, 2020-03-19 An innovative analysis of political leadership in Africa between 1960 and 2018 drawing on an entirely new dataset Trappings of Power Z. Allan Ntata, 2012 Why is it that by his death having solved the country's hunger problems and set an example for Africa on how to deal with foreign donors and international aid organisations such as the IMF and the World Bank Mutharika was regarded as a pariah both in Malawi and internationally Mutharika had overseen the expansion of the transport infrastructure presided as Chairman of the African Union and helped Malawi achieve rapid GDP growth How is it that he also left Malawi with serious economic problems particularly relating to nonexistent foreign exchange reserves and the inability of the country to import fuel Why is it that that when he died he had become the most hated man in Malawi at least aside from his staunch party followers This book analyses the presidency of Bingu wa Mutharika from the inside his love hate relationship with foreign donors and international aid agencies and his political successes and failures to show how power and political success in Africa is a trap that ensnares African leaders to easily forget their mission to serve the people The role of patronage and culture and the tendency of advisors in contributing to their leaders feelings of infallibility is also highlighted The book uncovers lessons on the inner dynamics of power and politics in Africa that will be enlightening to all interested in African politics specifically and third world political development in general Comparative Political Leadership in Africa Girma Yohannes Iyassu Menelik, 2014-07-25 The modern government structures owe their origins to Aristotle's six forms of government These classifications were out dated by the 18th century development of constitutional systems namely Constitutional republicanism established in the USA via the war of independence 1775 1783 democratic radicalism unleashed in France via the French Revolution of 1789 and the parliamentary government which emerged in the United Kingdom During the 20th century the above political systems were collapsed during the post World War II with capitalist communist second world and third world Political Leadership in Africa John R. Cartwright, 1983-01-01 Lessons from Political Leadership in Africa Chris Jones, Pregala Pillay, Purshottama Reddy, Sakhile Zondi, 2022-02-17 The central message of this book is that leadership serves as a blueprint to transform Africa into a global powerhouse There is an urgent need to refocus our efforts on the African Continent and her people while at the same time forging ahead with democratic accountable people centred ethical and transparent governance and leadership Corruption has undoubtedly become a hostile enemy in robbing the poor violating the trust of the people and eroding the moral fibre of society Abuse of power position or office compounded by greed self enrichment and acts of dishonesty has dire consequences for mankind and as such each contribution in this book promotes Africa's vision to sustain humanity and its people away from social ills such as extreme poverty distinct inequalities and large scale unemployment What is needed is a new generation of bold passionate confident inspiring leaders to make a difference and leave an edible mark in the global arena This is the fundamental spirit of leadership for the Africa that this book wants and wishes to nurture We cannot go back and change the past but we can learn lessons both good and bad and change the future towards a bigger better and brighter tomorrow The Oxford Handbook of Political Leadership R. A. W. Rhodes, Paul 't Hart, 2014-05-29

Political leadership has made a comeback It was studied intensively not only by political scientists but also by political sociologists and psychologists Sovietologists political anthropologists and by scholars in comparative and development studies from the 1940s to the 1970s Thereafter the field lost its way with the rise of structuralism neo institutionalism and rational choice approaches to the study of politics government and governance Recently however students of politics have returned to studying the role of individual leaders and the exercise of leadership to explain political outcomes The list of topics is nigh endless elections conflict management public policy government popularity development governance networks and regional integration In the media age leaders are presented and stage managed spun DDLas the solution to almost every social problem Through the mass media and the Internet citizens and professional observers follow the rise impact and fall of senior political officeholders at closer quarters than ever before This Handbook encapsulates the resurgence by asking where are we today It orders the multidisciplinary field by identifying the distinct and distinctive contributions of the disciplines It meets the urgent need to take stock It brings together scholars from around the world encouraging a comparative perspective to provide a comprehensive coverage of all the major disciplines methods and regions It showcases both the normative and empirical traditions in political leadership studies and juxtaposes behavioural institutional and interpretive approaches It covers formal office based as well as informal emergent political leadership and in both democratic and undemocratic polities Political Leadership in Africa Victor T. Le Vine, 1967 Digitalization and Gender Equality in Political Leadership in Sub-Saharan Africa Diego B. P. Gomes, Carine Meyimdjui, 2023-06-09 We examine the impact of digitalization on people s perceptions of women as political leaders in 34 Sub Saharan African countries We find that being a social media or internet user is linked to a higher likelihood of people supporting gender equality in political leadership However the intensive margin of usage does not appear to be significant Furthermore women s perceptions of gender equality in political leadership are more sensitive to internet and social media use than men s The paper recommends policies for improving ICT infrastructure and investing in technological education Governance and the Crisis of Rule in Contemporary Africa Ebenezer Obadare, Wale Adebani, 2016-02-09 This volume advances the discussions of leadership in Africa s specific history culture economy and politics The book promotes an understanding of leadership and its paradoxes and illuminates the conditions under which political leadership has been produced and how those conditions have shaped leaders Political Leadership And African Women: With a Focus on West Africa Amadou Beidy Sow, 2020-04-17 This book presents a prototype of leadership that can be applicable to other societies and groups This work is neither based on the comparison between women and men as political leaders nor is it concerned about any woman politician It focuses on women who are involved in politics in Africa especially in West Africa It examines the social religious economic political and educational experiences of women who are political leaders Political Leadership in Africa Victor T. Le Vine,1967

Africa in Contemporary Perspective Manuh, Takyiwaa, Sutherland-Addy, Esi, 2014-05-08 An important feature of Ghanaian tertiary education is the foundational African Studies Programme which was initiated in the early 1960s Unfortunately hardly any readers exist which bring together a body of knowledge on the themes issues and debates which inform and animate research and teaching in African Studies particularly on the African continent This becomes even more important when we consider the need for knowledge on Africa that is not Eurocentric or sensationalised but driven from internal understandings of life and prospects in Africa Dominant representations and perceptions of Africa usually depict a continent in crisis Rather than buying into external representations of Africa with its lacks and aspirations for Western modernities we insist that African scholars in particular should be in the forefront of promoting understanding of the pluri lingual overlapping and dense reality of life and developments on the continent to produce relevant and usable knowledge Continuing and renewed interest in Africa s resources including the land mass economy minerals visual arts and performance cultures as well as bio medical knowledge and products by old and new geopolitical players obliges African scholars to transcend disciplinary boundaries and to work with each other to advance knowledge and uses of those resources in the interests of Africa s people

Leaders for a New Africa Giovanni Carbone, 2019 Political leadership can be a crucial ingredient for the development of sub Saharan Africa The region has been going through important transformations with both political landscapes and economic trajectories becoming increasingly diverse The changes underway include the role of leadership and its broader impact This volume argues that on the whole African leaders and the way they reach power generally do contribute to shaping their countries progresses and achievements It also zooms in on some influential African leaders who recently emerged in key states across the continent illustrating and explaining the individual paths that brought them to power while reflecting on the prospects for their governments actions Far from the simplistic stereotypes of immovable ineffective and greedy rulers the resulting picture reveals dynamic and rapidly evolving political scenarios with key implications for development in the region Reflections on Leadership and Institutions in Africa Kenneth Kalu, Toyin Falola, 2020-05-22

This book contains different reflections on leadership and institutions in Africa Drawing from different ideological and methodological orientations the book highlights how leadership and institutions have shaped and continue to shape the trajectory of Africa s political and economic development The book explores different epochs in Africa s history from the era of colonialism to the period of nationalist movements and up to post colonial Africa Essays in the volume engage with major actors and important institutions that defined each era By presenting various reflections and representations of leadership and institutions in Africa this book attempts to make the connection between leadership and institutions on the one hand and between these variables and Africa's development on the other. Similar to most studies on Africa's political economy the book considers the role of external forces whether operationalized through direct interventions as was the case during the colonial era or through subtle imposition of policies as has been the new model in post colonial times. Drawing from these lenses issues around Africa's dependency on external interventions neo colonialism neoliberalism and disregard for Africa's culture are explored and contextualized within the framework of leadership and institutions.

Political Party Followership and Political Leadership in Africa Enoch Antwi, 2015-12-03 The importance of party followership in political leadership in Africa has increased dramatically during the past decade. Lindberg 2010 Tagoe 2011. However research on the contribution to good governance in Africa of the interaction between party followership and the political leadership is largely less known and minimally undertaken. Drawing on corruption and governance assessment models this mixed method study examined political leadership corruption focusing on the possible influences that party followership may have on the political leadership corruption. We hypothesized that there is a relationship between the expectations of political party followers and the corrupt behaviors of political leaders. Also we proposed that there is a relationship between the value or size of the gifts party followers received during primaries and the methods used for making Members of Parliament MPs perceive that a gift was expected. Data from 92 MPs and 92 party delegates as well as a follow up interview of five MPs and five delegates in Ghana supported our hypothesized model.

Leadership in Africa, 2008 Reimagining Justice, Human Rights and Leadership in Africa Everisto Benyera, 2019-08-08 Failed attempts in Africa to develop democracies and instill virtues of a just state and society which promote benevolent leadership and advance political and economic rights and freedoms call for a new imagination. By exploring a wide range of issues concerning justice human rights and leadership this book makes two major contributions to the extant literature in each of these areas. Firstly as a project in decoloniality it constitutes an epistemic break from mainstream logics and approaches to understanding state society and development in Africa presenting an approach that is filtered through a Euro American lens that reifies the hegemony of a particular spatio temporality. In other words it emphasises the importance of situatedness by thinking from rather than about or with Africa. And secondly it addresses a fundamental shortcoming in decolonial thought which is often criticised for rejecting western paradigms of thought without providing viable alternatives. The issues covered include state failure in Africa the geopolitics of US and NATO military interventions on the continent individual states responses to international law indigenous moral political leadership authentic inclusion of marginalised voices in development practice an endogenous approach to environmental ethics and a spiritualist reflection on the need for Africa to chart her own course to political social and economic redemption. By searching for alternative paths to justice human rights and leadership this book represents an effort to actualise the core vision of the African Renaissance to find African solutions for African problems.
