Images and Ideas in Chinese Classical Prose Youshi Zhen, 1988 The classical prose essay ku wen of the T'ang and Sung dynasties is one of the major Chinese literary genres of far greater significance in the Chinese literary tradition than the comparable essay form is in Western literature This first comprehensive study of ku wen in English focuses on its four most important writers Han Yu and Liu Tsung-yuan of the T'ang and Ouyang Hsiu and Su Shih of the Sung With this work the author hopes to restore a balance to Western study of the literature of the T'ang and Sung which tend to be regarded as ages of poetry The four masters all of them major poets as well took their prose writings in ku wen very seriously leaving a heritage of masterpieces as models to be emulated by all subsequent Chinese writers In treating the individual writers the author emphasizes the relationship between a writer's ideas, his literary temperament and his stylistic practices in the process showing how each writer attempted to create a ku wen that would serve as a multi-faceted medium of literary discourse

Art, Psychoanalysis, and Adrian Stokes Janet Sayers, 2018-03-21 Illustrated with Barbara Hepworth's abstract stone carving with other works of art and with fascinating vignettes from Adrian Stokes's writing this biography highlights his revolutionary emphasis on the materials led inspiration of architecture sculpture painting and the avant garde creations of the Ballets Russes In also detailing Stokes's role as catalyst of the transformation of St Ives in Cornwall into an internationally acclaimed centre of modern art and his falling in love again in his early forties this biography shows how Stokes used all these experiences together with his many years of psychoanalytic treatment by Melanie Klein in forging insights about ways the outer world gives form to the inner world of fantasy and imagination

T. S. Eliot's Ascetic Ideal Joshua Richards, 2020-09-07 In T. S. Eliot's Ascetic Ideal Joshua Richards charts an intellectual history of T. S. Eliot's interaction with asceticism This history is drawn from Eliot's own education in the topic with the texts he read integrated into detailed textual analysis Eliot's early encounters with the ascetic ideal began a lifetime of interplay and reflection upon self-denial, purgation and self-surrender In 1909 he began a study of mysticism likely in George Santayana's seminar and thereafter showed the influence of this education Yet his interaction with the ascetic ideal and his background in mysticism was not a simple thing still his early cynicism was slowly transformed to an embrace

the secular literary culture of the Wars of the Roses and especially of the Middle English romances that were distinctively written in prose during this period Megan Leitch argues that the pervasive textual presence of treason during the decades c 1437 c 1497 suggests a way of conceptualising the understudied space between the Lancastrian literary culture of the early fifteenth century and the Tudor literary cultures of the early and mid sixteenth century Drawing upon theories of political discourse and interpellation and of the power of language to shape social identities this book explores the ways in which in this textual culture treason is both a source of anxieties about community and identity and a way of responding to those concerns Despite the context of decades of civil war treason is an understudied theme even with regards to Thomas Malory s celebrated prose romance the Morte Darthur Leitch accordingly provides a double contribution to Malory criticism by addressing the Morte Darthur s engagement with treason and by reading the Morte in the hitherto neglected context of the prose romances and other secular literature written by Malory s English contemporaries This book also offers new insights into the nature and possibilities of the medieval romance genre and sheds light on understudied texts such as the prose Siege of Thebes and Siege of Troy and the romances William Caxton translated from French More broadly this book contributes to reconsiderations of the relationship between medieval and early modern culture by focusing on a comparatively neglected sixty year interval the interval that is customarily the dividing line the no man s land between well but separately studied periods in English literary studies The New International Encyclopaedia ,1905 The New International Encyclopædia Daniel Coit Gilman,Harry Thurston Peck, Frank Moore Colby,1907 Crossing Boundaries John A. McCarthy,2016-11-11 Crossing Boundaries focuses on the intellectual and social factors that led to the emergence and first flowering of the German essay John McCarthy challenges traditional ways of thinking about literature by concentrating on the impact of Enlightenment philosophy rhetoric genre theory and literary life on the evolution of essayistic writing in German Taking issue with the commonly held view that the German essay did not evolve until after 1750 and then only under the influence of French and British models McCarthy argues that Enlightenment skepticism and the social ideas of the galant homme spawned an early native form Varieties of that form a kind of writing the author terms essayism were pervasive extending into a variety of genres in the hands of writers such as Leibniz Lessing Goethe Schiller and Schlegel He combines in depth analyses of representative essays with unique adaptations of recent developments in literary theory intellectual history literary history and social history McCarthy s argument is centrally concerned with the critical reexamination of the categories of knowledge and of the means of disseminating information that characterized eighteenth century thought The essay an experimental form that crosses boundaries of discipline and genre is derived from this new emphasis and is the clearest reflection of the dialectic interplay among thinking writing and reading It is also as such the genre or mode most closely related to Enlightenment philosophy itself The Standard Dictionary of Facts Henry Woldmar Ruoff,1909 The American Ideal Peter C. Carafiol,1991 This work argues that American literary scholarship enshrines a reactionary vision of history of narrative and of America itself Carafiol examines the way idealist assumptions have been essential to doing American literary history and unwraps the implications of that symbiosis for current debates about the aims and methods of literary history in general Carafiol directs his critique not only at traditional approaches to American literature but also at the most influential recent efforts by New Historicists and cultural critics to revise that tradition Reconsidering the debate between ahistorical and historical models of literary study he argues that works by such writers like Emerson and Thoreau subvert the claims of critics on both sides Such writing is important he proposes not as timeless art or as social document but as a voice that can speak powerfully in contemporary conversations challenging literary critics in all fields to reconsider their critical assumptions and professional practices

Russian Postmodernist Fiction Mark Naumovich Lipovet[skii],1999 Critically surveys 20th century Russian literature to develop a specific understanding of Russian postmodernism looking at work by Aksyonov Bitov Erofeev Pietsukh Popov Sokolov and Tolstaya Also grapples with some central issues of the critical debate and draws on both Bakhtinian and chaos theory to describe postmodern poetics as a dialogue with chaos The appendix provides biographical sketches and primary and secondary bibliographies Paper edition unseen 25 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Ascetic Ideal Stephen Mulhall,2021 Stephen Mulhall traces the development of an ideal of asceticism through Western culture He shows how influential this self denying attitude to life has been not just in religion and morality but in aesthetics science and philosophy And he illuminates the role of the ascetic ideal in the thought of Nietzsche who introduced the concept
