Food and Health in Europe Aileen Robertson, 2004-01-28 Poor nutrition foodborne disease and lack of secure access to good food make an important contribution to the burden of disease and mortality in the WHO European Region Better diets food safety and food security will not only reduce or prevent suffering to individuals and societies but also help cut costs to health care systems and bring social and economic benefits to countries People s chances for a healthy diet depend less on individual choices than on what food is available and whether it is affordable Policies to benefit health through good food and nutrition must extend beyond the health sector to include sectors ranging from agriculture and food processing manufacturing and trade to transport retailing catering and advertising Food and nutrition policies should be coordinated so that public health is given due priority in the making of food policies by non health sectors This publication discusses in depth the components of food and nutrition policies and the evidence of supporting them It highlights the urgent need for integrated multisectoral food and nutrition policies to encourage the sustainable production of food its safety and the provision of food of high nutritional quality for all

Health Policy Research in South Asia Abdo Yazbeck, David H. Peters, 2003-01-01 South Asia is a region of contrasts with impressive technological achievements but also more than 40 percent of the world s poor These contrasts are evident in the health sector which demonstrates large variations in health nutrition and fertility outcomes Health Policy Research in South Asia showcases some of the innovative qualitative and quantitative research methodologies being used in South Asia to provide empirical guidance for health sector reform and policy development The four research areas presented are analysis of inequality expenditure analysis private sector analysis and consumer and provider perspectives Salient themes emerge from the 12 health policy research activities reviewed and emphasize the importance of strengthening local capacity and building ownership Governments can and should distribute subsidies in the health sector more efficiently and effectively The private sector which dominates service delivery in most of South Asia requires a different set of public sector policy instruments Informed consumers citizens can and should play an important role in influencing health service delivery Empirical research can and should provide policymakers with some of the tools needed to improve and monitor the performance of the sector This book will be of interest to health sector policymakers and analysts to academics and students in public health and health economics and to anyone with an interest in the impact of health policy on development

EBOOK: Successes and Failures of Health Policy in Europe: Four decades of divergent trends and converging challenges Johan Mackenbach, Martin McKee, 2013-03-16 In the last 40 years the health of Europeans overall has improved markedly yet progress has been very uneven from country to country Successes and Failures of Health Policy in Europe considers the impact health policy has had on population health in Europe It asks key questions about mortality trends and health policy activity such as Do between country differences in rates of smoking related diseases reflect differences in tobacco control policies What would be a country's health gain if it implemented the policies of the best performing country Which social economic and political factors influence a country's success in health policy This book fills an important gap by offering a comparative analysis of the successes and failures of health policy in different European countries In doing so it helps readers identify best practices in health improvement from which other countries can learn The book explores how policy impact can be quantified and identifies which aspects of policy we can learn from when tackling the determinants of health in our populations Written by experts and based on the latest evidence based research this volume is a must have for policy makers and those working in healthcare as professionals researchers and students alike

Health Economics in Development Philip Musgrove, 2004 This publication contains a collection of papers which span 21 years of the author's thought and experiences regarding the subject on health economics working at the Pan American Health Organization the World Health Organization and the World Bank The papers consider a range of topics including the connection between public health and economics the issue of equity in health effectiveness and efficiency particularly in relation to communicable diseases and malnutrition health financing how the burden of ill health is measured the roles of the state and the market in health The empirical material refers to a variety of specific health problems or interventions including smoking polio malaria immunisation and various forms of malnutrition

HIV/AIDS in Latin American Countries Anabela Garcia-Abreu, Isabel Noguer, Karen Cowgill, 2003-01-01 Annotation The report evaluates current national surveillance capacity and assesses national responses of the health sector to the epidemic on a country by country basis Importantly the report identifies key areas in which specific interventions are urgently needed and the challenges ahead

EBOOK: Facets of Public Health in Europe Bernd Rechel, Martin McKee, 2014-08-16 Public health has had positive results in the last two centuries when it comes to reducing the impact and prevalence of infectious disease However much remains to be done to reduce non communicable diseases such as heart disease and cancer which make up the major disease burden of the WHO European Region This book takes a broad but detailed approach to public health in Europe and offers the most comprehensive analysis of this region currently available. It considers a huge range of key topics in public health and includes chapters on the following topics: Screening, Health Promotion, Tackling social determinants of health, Health Impact Assessment, The Public Health Workforce, Public Health Research. In addition to these topics and themes, the authors consider the existing public health structures, capacities and services across a range of European countries, identifying what needs to be done to strengthen public health action and improve public health outcomes. Reflecting the broad geographical scope of the entire WHO European region, this book uses examples from a diverse range of countries to illustrate different approaches to public health. This book is essential reading for anyone studying or working in the field of public health, especially those with an interest in European practice. This title is in the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies Series. The World Bank Research Program 2001 World Bank, World Bank Staff, 2001-01-01. This publication is a compilation of reports on research projects initiated under way or completed in fiscal year 2001, July 1 2000 through June 30 2001. The abstracts cover 150 research projects from the World Bank and grouped under 11 major headings including poverty and social development, health and population, education, labor and employment, environment, infrastructure and urban development, and agriculture and rural development. The abstracts detail the questions addressed, the analytical methods used, the findings to date, and their policy implications. Each abstract identifies the expected completion date of each project, the research team, and reports or publications produced.

The Political and Social Construction of Poverty Romano, Serena, 2014-01-29. Poverty is not a neutral phenomenon nor are social inclusion programmes neutrally conceived, designed and implemented. Their ultimate nature is built upon ideas, values, actors, politics and economic constraints. This topical book is one of the first to examine the social and political construction of anti-poverty programmes in Central Eastern Europe and their transformation from communist rule to the current economic crisis. It covers the approach towards the 'parasite poor' through to Guaranteed Minimum Income Schemes and illustrates how the distinction between different categories of 'deserving' and 'undeserving' poor has evolved over the years as the result of changing paradigms combined with the pressure exerted by domestic and international actors, the European Union and the World Bank among others. This text breaks new ground for social policy students and scholars interested in understanding how differently post-communist welfare states have represented, legitimised and dealt with poverty, need and social justice in accordance with divergent normative frameworks constructed at national level.

Aid, Insurgencies and Conflict Transformation Robert Kevlihan, 2013. This book examines the circumstances under which aid can contribute to the management and transformation of intra-state conflicts. How and when do insurgents govern? How does the presence of aid and social services influence how insurgents govern? Under what circumstances can aid contribute to the management and transformation of civil wars? The established literature in this area argues that aid exacerbates civil wars where resources are scarce as greedy rebels steal resources for themselves. This book, however, argues that under certain conditions, such greed can be good Drawing on primary research from three very different conflicts Northern Ireland 1969 1998 southern Sudan 1983 2005 and Tajikistan 1992 1997 and more than 10 years experience working in and researching humanitarian crises this study breaks new ground through its wide ranging comparison of conflicts The book argues that insurgent efforts to reap rewards from aid and social services have in turn facilitated organizational changes and that these changes while they may have had conflict enhancing effects in the short term have also contributed to conflict transformation over the long term This book will be of much interest to students of insurgencies civil wars comparative politics conflict management humanitarian emergencies public health and IR Security Studies in general

Health Systems, Health, Wealth And Societal

Well-Being: Assessing The Case For Investing In Health Systems McKee , Martin, Figueras , Josep, Saltman , Richard B., 2011-05-01 This book argues that health systems are not as is often believed simply a drag on resources but rather part and parcel of improving health and achieving better economic growth

Transforming Socialist Economies S. Burki, D.

Erikson, 2004-12-07 Transforming Socialist Economies Lessons for Cuba and Beyond argues that countries with centrally planned economies can pursue divergent paths towards market liberalization The book reviews the reform processes of China the Central Asian Republics Eastern Europe Russia Vietnam and the role of the international financial institutions and draws lessons for Cuba a country on the verge of wider economic transformation

Innovations in Health Service Delivery

Alexander S. Preker, April Harding, 2003 As the largest expenditure category of the health systems in both industrialised and developing countries hospital care provision has been the focus of reforms over recent decades This publication reviews recent trends in hospital policy reforms and options around the world and includes case studies which offer insights into lessons learned Issues considered include differences in income levels cultural settings and market environments organisational changes such as increased management autonomy and privatisation the need for parallel reforms and effective evaluation mechanisms

Reducing Maternal Mortality Marjorie A. Koblinsky, 2003

To assist countries in their efforts to improve maternal health and reduce maternal mortality the World Bank is publishing two volumes Investing in Maternal Health Learning from Malaysia and Sri Lanka and Reducing Maternal Mortality Learning from Bolivia China Egypt Honduras Indonesia Jamaica and Zimbabwe These two books offer success stories and lessons learned in improving health and reducing maternal mortality in a range of developing countries The first book is based on the experiences of Malaysia and Sri Lanka during the past five to six decades The second book discusses the more recent experiences of Bolivia China Yunnan Egypt Honduras Indonesia Jamaica and Zimbabwe These nine countries have made important strides in improving maternal health and these two books outline what worked and what did not

BOOK JACKET Combating Malnutrition Stuart R.

Gillespie, Milla McLachlan, Roger Shrimpton, 2003 Malnutrition is a factor in half of all child deaths as well as hindering childhood development and increasing the risk of chronic diseases in later life It is clear that the Millennium Development Goals cannot be reached without significant global efforts to eliminate malnutrition This report has been jointly produced by

UNICEF and the World Bank and examines lessons learned from the development policy agenda to reduce malnutrition levels and promote nutrition programmes It includes country case studies from India Madagascar the Philippines and Tanzania

Climate Change and Sustainable Development Mohamed Abdel Rahim M. Salih, 2009-01-01 this book gives a good overview of major challenges facing policy makers researchers and ultimately humankind in dealing with climate change The reader also gets a good understanding of how fragmented and transversal the issues of climate change and sustainable development are Quarterly Journal of International Agriculture a unified useful and stimulating book which should act as a springboard for further work into what is a very topical and extremely important issue for everyone in the world not just academics and policymakers This book serves its intended audience but also deserves to be more widely read World Entrepreneurship Society Too often writings on climate change are placed into two categories climate change deniers and climate change supporters What this timely and insightful collection of Mohamed Salih s does is to problematise the issue taking the debate to a level where it desperately needs to be asking the thorny questions of how do the politics and international relations of climate impact upon the most vulnerable the least affluent the dwellers of the majority world In short Salih challenges us How did the climate change about climate change The responses of his contributors are salient to the point sometimes disturbing but always thought provoking Timothy Doyle Keele University UK Editing the proceedings of a symposium into a cogent and coherent book is no easy task This book a tribute to Professor Opschoor is no exception with disperse contributions of some highly acclaimed authors covering a wide spectrum of themes It is a credit to Professor Salih s insight to string them together in the introductory chapter and entice the reader to read on This book has food for thought on many fronts reaching far beyond climate change as did the oeuvre of Hans Opschoor an instructive read Paul Vlek Center for Development Research ZEF Bonn Germany It is difficult if not impossible to formulate and implement sustainable policy without first understanding the dynamic relationships between nature society economics and technology and research plays a pivotal role in this regard Climate Change and Sustainable Development is an important book which deals with these issues in the context of climate change and the changing global context of development It alerts us to the relationship climate change has with two urgent tasks poverty reduction and sustainable development which require efforts that span countries regions and communities In this interdependent world argue the authors a shared vision and common effort are vital to sustaining our life support system It is a must read Jacqueline Cramer The Netherlands Minister for Spatial Planning and the Environment This unique book provides cutting edge knowledge and analyses of the consequences that climate change will have for sustainable development and poverty reduction within the context of global development Exploring alternative resource management approaches including federal resource management governance ecosystem services digital dematerialization ecological cities biofuels versus food and children and climate change this innovative volume provides fresh insights on the human condition with regards to the current debates on climate change The distinguished contributors examine climate change induced processes that present profound challenges to sustainable development and poverty reduction at the local national and global levels This groundbreaking study will be a welcome addition for graduate and post graduate students in development and environmental studies It will also have great appeal to scientists policy makers and researchers in these fields World Bank Research Program World Bank,2002 Global Monitoring Report 2004,2004-01-01 References pp 217 228 Investing in Maternal Health Indra Pathmanathan,Jerker Liljestrand,2003 This study provides the most comprehensive and detailed analysis available on factors behind the decline in maternal mortality in Malaysia and Sri Lanka in the past 50 to 60 years and the magnitude of health system expenditures on maternal health The main findings are that a modest investment in maternal health services combined with other poverty reduction measures leads to a fairly rapid decline in the maternal mortality ratio MMR defined as the number of maternal deaths per 100 000 live births The strategies of Malaysia and Sri Lanka changed over time from an initial emphasis on expanding the provision of services especially in underserved areas to increasing utilization and finally to emphasizing the improvement of quality Removing financial barriers to maternal care for clients was an important step in both countries Professional midwives constitute the backbone of maternal care in Malaysia and Sri Lanka The MMR reduction in developing countries is feasible with modest public expenditures when appropriate policies are adopted focused wisely and adapted incrementally in response to environmental conditions and systems capacity World Bank
