Prospects Int Wb Slovenia K Wilson,2003-10      Prospects Fiona Wallace,2003      Prospects Upp-Int Wb Slovenia K Wilson,2003-10-01      Hungary's Integration Into European Union Markets Bart?omie? Kami?ski,1999 Abstract June 1999 Can Hungarian firms cope with competitive pressures and market forces within the European Union market a criterion for joining The empirical evidence suggests that Hungary can withstand such competitive pressures without suppressing the real incomes of Hungary s citizens Hungary has achieved impressive results in reorienting both its production and trade Between 1989 and 1992 as the former CMEA markets collapsed and Hungary liberalized imports and the exchange rate regime exports to the European Union EU expanded with manufactured exports redirected largely to Western mostly EU markets During this first phase of expansion characterized by a dramatic reorientation and explosion of trade the value of Hungary s exports increased 84 percent In 1993 export expansion lost steam and EU oriented exports fell 12 percent In a second phase of expansion in 1994 97 driven by restructured and rapidly changing export offers exports again registered strong performance their value increasing 132 percent There was a dramatic shift from an export basket dominated by resource intensive low value added products to one driven by manufactures with a rapidly accelerating growth of engineering products Machinery and transport equipment rose from 12 percent of exports to the EU in 1989 to more than 50 percent in 1997 The shift from natural resource and unskilled labor intensive products to technology and capital intensive products in EU oriented exports suggests the potential for integration higher in the value added spectrum More stringent EU environmental regulations will affect a relatively low and falling share of Hungary s exports The Hungarian share of environmentally dirty products imported by the EU has increased but these products have not been trendsetters among Hungarian exports their share in exports falling from 26 percent in 1989 to 16 percent in 1996 The rapid pace of Hungary s turnaround seems to reflect the emergence of second generation firms mostly foreign owned Foreign owned firms tend to be more export oriented Hungary has been one of the more successful transition economies because its economy was receptive to foreign direct investment from the outset Between 1990 and 1997 Hungary absorbed roughly half of all foreign capital invested in Central Europe This paper a product of Trade Development Research Group is part of a larger effort in the group to study regional integration The author may be contacted at bkaminski@worldbank.org      Balkan Yearbook of European and International Law 2020 Zlatan Meškić,Ivana Kunda,Dušan V. Bližina drugosti Lucija Čok,2006      Impact of International Shocks on North Macedonia and the Western Balkans

Simona Kovachevska Stefanova,Ming Ma,Ms. Adina Popescu,Faton Sulejmani,2025-05-23 The Western Balkan economies have faced numerous external shocks in recent years while simultaneously becoming more integrated with the European Union This paper employs a global vector autoregressive GVAR model to estimate the spillovers of real financial monetary and global commodity price shocks across all countries in the region The findings reveal that real shocks from the euro area significantly impact economic activity and trade Financial shocks effects are moderated by the level of financial depth and integration Both conventional and unconventional monetary policy shocks influence economic activity and inflation depending on the degree of monetary autonomy Additionally global energy commodity price shocks are identified as major drivers of inflation North Macedonia in particular experiences the most substantial spillovers through industrial activity and trade due to its high integration into European global value chains      Addressing rural youth migration at its root causes: A Conceptual Framework Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2016-01-01 Distress migration is particularly acute among rural youth Agriculture and rural development are central to the rate of rural out migration to urban areas The agricultural sector needs to engage youth in order to increase global food production In doing so agricultural transformation can balance out migration from rural areas and thus contribute to stable growth This document presents the conceptual framework for distress migration of rural youth The framework focuses on the migration of rural youth aged 15 24 who account for a large proportion of migrants and are a particularly vulnerable group The framework comprises three sections 1 Analysis of the main factors determining the propensity of rural youth to migrate 2 Assessment of the likely impacts of distress migration of rural youth in terms of rural development for local areas of origin 3 Illustration of the most promising policies and programmes to reduce distress migration of rural youth and maximize its developmental benefits for the communities of origin      Regional Economic Outlook, November 2017, Europe International Monetary Fund.

European Dept.,2017-11-13 The European recovery is strengthening and broadening appreciably Real GDP growth is projected at 2 4 percent in 2017 up from 1 7 percent in 2016 before easing to 2 1 percent in 2018 These are large upward revisions 0 5 and 0 2 percentage point for 2017 and 2018 respectively relative to the April World Economic Outlook The European recovery is spilling over to the rest of the world contributing significantly to global growth In a few advanced and many emerging economies unemployment rates have returned to precrisis levels Most emerging market European economies are now seeing robust wage growth In many parts of Europe however wage growth is sluggish despite falling unemployment

Annual Performance Report 2004 ,      Republic of North Macedonia International Monetary Fund. European

Dept.,2025-05-06 2025 Selected Issues      The Crisis Hits Home Erwin R. Tiongson,Naotaka Sugawara,Victor Sulla,Ashley Taylor,Anna I. Gueorguieva,Victoria Levin,Kalanidhi Subbarao,2009-12-02 The crisis threatens the welfare of about 160

million people in the Europe and Central Asia ECA region who are poor or are just above the poverty line Using pre crisis household data along with aggregate macroeconomic outturns to simulate the impact of the crisis on households transmitted via credit market shocks price shocks and income shocks this report finds that adverse effects are widespread and that poor and non poor households alike are vulnerable By 2010 for the region as a whole some 11 million more people will likely be in poverty and over 23 million more people will find themselves just above the poverty line because of the crisis The aggregate results mask the heterogeneity of impact within countries including the concentration of the poverty impact in selected economic sectors Meanwhile stress tests on household indebtedness in selected countries suggest that ongoing macroeconomic shocks will expand the pool of households unable to service their debt many of them from among the ranks of relatively richer households In fact already there are rising household loan delinquency rates Finally there is evidence that the food and fuel crisis is not over and a new round of price increases via currency adjustments will have substantial effects on net consumers Lessons from last year s food crisis suggest that the poor are the worst hit as many of the poor in Albania Kyrgyz Republic and Tajikistan for example are net food consumers with limited access to agricultural assets and inputs The resilience of households to macroeconomic shocks ultimately depends upon the economy s institutional readiness the flexibility of the economic policy regime and the ability of the population to adjust However compared with previous crises the scope for households to engage in their traditional coping strategies may be more limited Fiscal policy responses in the short term are also constrained by rapidly falling revenues Governments in ECA have to make difficult choices over what spending items to protect and what items to cut social protection programs to reform and scale up and new interventions to mitigate the impact of the crisis

From Transition to Market Mr.Stanley Fischer,Ms.Ratna Sahay,Mr.Carlos A. Végh Gramont,1998-04-01 This paper presents evidence on the behavior of output and inflation in the transition economies during 1992-95 A regression analysis explores the differences in output performance across the transition economies during this period The paper then engages in a numerical somewhat speculative exercise to assess the long run growth potential of the transition economies It concludes that it should take about 20 years for the faster reformers to reach current OECD per capita levels

Democratisation Without Societal Participation? Nina Wichmann,2007 This book explores the strategy of the European Union in the democratisation processes of Serbia and Croatia in the years 2000-2005 It argues that the EU intervention turned the democratization processes into Europeanisation processes which featured the promotion of societal participation the regional approach and the conditionality principle as their constitutive elements In examining the EU s choice of actors targeted and analysing the issue areas promoted by its policy the study explores the implementation of concepts of societal participation and challenges the proclamation of civil society promotion being an indispensable part of the EU s democratisation agenda for Serbia and Croatia
