most closely involved in child protection the heavy workload often means there is little time to catch up on and assimilate up to date research fully This book offers a through guide to what research and policy initiatives can give to the practice of the reader new chapters addressing issues of culture and parenting each chapter contains key messages for practitioners key websites have been listed a website on Evolve with supplementary material Protecting Youth at Work National Research Council and Institute of Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Health and Safety Implications of Child Labor, 1998-11-18 In Massachusetts a 12 year old girl delivering newspapers is killed when a car strikes her bicycle In Los Angeles a 14 year old boy repeatedly falls asleep in class exhausted from his evening job Although children and adolescents may benefit from working there may also be negative social effects and sometimes danger in their jobs Protecting Youth at Work looks at what is known about work done by children and adolescents and the effects of that work on their physical and emotional health and social functioning The committee recommends specific initiatives for legislators regulators researchers and employers This book provides historical perspective on working children and adolescents in America and explores the framework of child labor laws that govern that work The committee presents a wide range of data and analysis on the scope of youth employment factors that put children and adolescents at risk in the workplace and the positive and negative effects of employment including data on educational attainment and lifestyle choices Protecting Youth at Work also includes discussions of special issues for minority and disadvantaged youth young workers in agriculture and children who work in family owned businesses

Seeing the Child in Child Protection Social Work Sue Kennedy, 2019-12-19 Recent Serious Case Reviews into child deaths have concluded that social workers attention is drawn away from the child by demands placed on them by the adults organisational structures and systems This book repositions social work thinking and practice by placing the child s lived experience at the centre of its illustrative examples and cases Child Protection Margaret Bell, 2018-12-17 First published in 1999 this book is based on an extensive research study of the experiences of eighty three families and the range of professionals involved in initial child protection conferences this book explores the opportunities and difficulties of working in partnership in child protection within the context of rights justice and empowerment The research identifies what families find helpful and unhelpful in the intervention as well as analysing the difficulties faced by practitioners In exploring the families experience the author provides a concrete base for a much needed clarification of the nature of and limitations on partnership practice within child protection Equally the analysis of professional perspectives on current procedures and the agency structures in place to support them provides insight into key intra and inter agency issues including training The Identification of the conflicts and ambiguities which are inherent in the particular system and with which the professional struggle is of particular interest to social work practioners and their managers as well as to academics and other researchers in the field The book therefore contributes to the debate about what constitutes good practice in this complex field and while affirming some of the strengths of the existing system suggests some ways in which both the families and professionals who work with them can be better supported

Social Work with Children, Young People and their Families in Scotland Steve Hothersall, 2014-04-22 This fully updated and revised third edition addresses the changes to law and practice in relation to adoption and permanency the children's hearing system and the implications of the provisions of the Children and Young People's Act 2014 and other related matters including the National Practice Model of GIRFEC This is the only text to provide coverage of the new legal policy and practice landscape of social work with children and families in Scotland and as such it is an indispensable guide for students newly qualified social workers managers and practice teachers and a range of other professionals in health education the police and others in cognate disciplines

Protecting Children in the Digital Era Eva Lievens, 2010-07-26 From the mid 1990s onwards concerns regarding the exposure of children to harmful content in the increasingly digital media environment intensified Soon thereafter policy makers across Europe realised that alternative regulatory instruments such as self and co regulation might be more appropriate than traditional legislation to address this matter of public interest Taking the complex and delicate nature of protecting minors into account this book provides an in depth legal analysis of the alternative regulatory instruments that can be used to regulate content in the digital era with particular attention to the protection of fundamental rights such as freedom of expression privacy and procedural guarantees internal market regulation competition rules and implementation requirements

Social Work, Domestic Violence and Child Protection Catherine Humphreys, 2000-01-26 Describes the different types of coral reefs and the creatures that live in them Includes related activities

Social Work, Parents and the Child Protection Process Katrin Bain, John Harris, 2024-10-18 Despite the pivotal role played by parents in the child protection process little attention has been paid to how social workers perceive them Exploring representations of parents within Children's Services at the levels of policy organisation and frontline practice the concept of citizenship is used to construct a typology with ten variants of parent citizenship The typology reveals the complexities of parental representations and their relationship to the content of policy organisational environments and dominant societal themes as it uncovers how social workers represent parents in their day to day practice The book is a resource that can be used by students practitioners researchers and parent advocacy organisations to evaluate policy and practice and to contribute to the search for the best possible outcomes for families Arguing that parental participation in the child protection process is essential the book increases the visibility of parents and contributes to a much needed dialogue about working with parents in Children's Services
