How to Prepare for NATURAL DISASTERS

Since the start of the 20th century, natural disasters have caused 8 million deaths and over $7 trillion in economic damage.

Although it's sometimes impossible to know what destruction these disasters will cause, being prepared can make the situation easier to maneuver and safer.

Environmental Planning and Management aims to provide a strong basis for ensuring compatibility and synergy between cultural heritage conservation and socioeconomic growth by fostering the adoption of a modern environmental planning approach throughout southeast Europe SEE The aim of environmental planning is to integrate traditional urban spatial planning with the concerns of environmentalism to ensure sustainable development when innovatively applied to cultural heritage sites environmental planning s comprehensive perspective can be regarded as composed of three spheres the built and historical environment the socioeconomic and cultural environment and the biophysical environment In this regard this publication as one of the results of the CHERPLAN project addresses vital parts of cultural heritage management It provides the basic framework defined by the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization UNESCO and the International Council on Monuments and Sites ICOMOS and guidelines for twenty specific management issues composed of a thematic introduction recommendations and good practice examples Thus the publication provides practical information on the application of environmental planning in SEE some of it developed within CHERPLAN pilot projects and some of it defined through the experiences of other cultural heritage sites In both cases recommendations and good practice examples
