Proust's Duchess Caroline Weber, 2019-11-26 PULITZER PRIZE FINALIST A brilliant look at turn of the century Paris through the first in depth study of the three women Proust used to create his supreme fictional character the Duchesse de Guermantes Weber has done a remarkable job of bringing to life a world of culture glamour and privilege The Wall Street Journal Geneviève Halvy Bizet Straus Laure de Sade Comtesse de Adhème de Chevalign and Elisabeth de Riquet de Caraman Chimay the Comtesse Greffulhe these were the three superstars of fin de siècle Parisian high society who as Caroline Weber says transformed themselves and were transformed by those around them into living legends paragons of elegance nobility and style All well but unhappily married these women sought freedom and fulfillment by reinventing themselves between the 1870s and 1890s as icons At their fabled salons they inspired the creativity of several generations of writers visual artists composers designers and journalists Against a rich historical backdrop Weber takes the reader into these women's daily lives of masked balls hunts dinners court visits nights at the opera or theater But we see as well the loneliness rigid social rules and loveless arranged marriages that constricted these women's lives Proust as a twenty year old law student in 1892 would worship them from afar and later meet them and create his celebrated composite character for The Remembrance of Things Past

Proust's Imaginary Museum Gabrielle Townsend, 2008 This study of Marcel Proust's creative imagination examines an aspect of the novel that has hitherto been largely overlooked the author's dependence on secondary visual sources Gabrielle Townsend argues that reproductions play a key role in the work's complex multi layered structure

Cacaphonies Annabel L. Kim, 2022-04-05 Exploring why there is so much fecal matter in literary works that matter Cacaphonies takes fecal matter and its place in literature seriously Readers and critics have too long overlooked excrement's vital role in the twentieth and twenty first century French canon In a stark challenge to the tendency to view this literature through sanitizing abstractions Annabel L Kim undertakes close readings of key authors to argue for feces as a figure of radical equality both a literary object and a reflection on literature itself without which literary studies is impoverished and sterile Following the fecal through line in works by C line Beckett Genet Sartre Duras and Gary and the contemporary authors Anne Garr ta and Daniel Pennac Kim shows that shit far from vanishing from the canon after the early modern period remains present in the modern and contemporary French literature that follows She argues that all the shit in the canon expresses a call to democratize literature making literature for all just as shit is for or of all She attends to its presence in this prized element of French identity treating it as a continually uttered desire to manifest the universality France aspires to as encapsulated by the slogan Liberté galité fraternité but fails to realize In shit there is a concrete universalism that traverses bodies with disregard for embodied differences Cacaphonies reminds us that literature and the ideas to be found therein cannot be separated from the corporeal envelopes that create and receive them In so doing it reveals the aesthetic political and ethical potential of shit and its capacity to transform literature and life The Arcades

Project Walter Benjamin, 1999 Focusing on the arcades of 19th century Paris glass roofed rows of shops that were early centers of consumerism Benjamin presents a montage of quotations from and reflections on hundreds of published sources 46 illustrations The Cinema of Raúl Ruiz Michael Goddard, 2013-09-22 Raúl Ruiz while considered one of the world's most significant filmmakers by several film critics is yet to be the subject of any thorough engagement with his work in English This volume sets out on this task by mapping as fully as possible Ruiz's cinematic trajectory across more than five decades of prolific work up to his death in 2011 ranging from his earliest work in Chile to high budget European costume dramas culminating in Mysteries of Lisbon 2010 It does so by treating Ruiz's work with its surrealist magic realist popular cultural and neo Baroque sources as a type of impossible cinematic cartography mapping real imaginary and virtual spaces and crossing between different cultural contexts aesthetic strategies and technical media It argues that across the different phases of Ruiz's work identified there are key continuities such as the invention of singular cinematic images and the interrogation of their possible and impossible combinations Reading Sedgwick Lauren Berlant, 2019-10-29 Over the course of her long career Eve Kosofsky Sedgwick became one of the most important voices in queer theory and her calls for reparative criticism and reading practices grounded in affect and performance have transformed understandings of affect intimacy politics and identity With marked tenderness the contributors to Reading Sedgwick reflect on Sedgwick's many critical inventions from her elucidation of poetry's close relation to criticism and development of new versions of queer performativity to highlighting the power of writing to engender new forms of life As the essays in Reading Sedgwick demonstrate Sedgwick's work is not only an ongoing vital force in queer theory and affect theory it can help us build a more positive world in the midst of the bleak contemporary moment Contributors Lauren Berlant Kathryn Bond Stockton Judith Butler Lee Edelman Jason Edwards Ramzi Fawaz Denis Flannery Jane Gallop Jonathan Goldberg Meridith Kruse Michael Moon Jos Esteban Mu oz Chris Nealon Andrew Parker H A Sedgwick Karin Sellberg Michael D Snediker Melissa Solomon Robyn Wiegman

Afterlives of Abandoned Work Matthew Harle, 2018-12-27 Afterlives of Abandoned Work considers the relevance of unfinished projects to literary history and criticism looking beyond famous posthumous work to investigate the abandoned everyday from scrapped plans and rejected ideas to half written novels or unfinished artistic works It traces how the reading of abandoned creative endeavor whether arriving in the form of a rejection letter a disagreement with a collaborator or the simple act of walking away from one s desk can change the way we think about cultural production the creative process and the intellectual construction of everyday life Over five distinct journeys through a variety of archives from major research libraries to the unique collections of individual enthusiasts Matthew Harle draws surprising connections between literary studies media studies and visual arts exploring unfinished projects from Thomas Pynchon Muriel Spark B S Johnson Harold Pinter and others Rooted in literary criticism Afterlives of Abandoned Work reads unbuilt buildings unfilmed screenplays and unpublished novels and radio sketches as forms of text that can help us consider the enduring fragmentation and anecdotal construction of cultural form as well as expand literary criticism s approach to the archive

Marcel Proust's Search for Lost Time Patrick Alexander, 2009-09-22 An accessible irreverent guide to one of the most admired and entertaining novels of the past century Remembrance of Things Past There is no other guide like this a user friendly and enticing entry into the marvelously enjoyable world of Proust At seven volumes three thousand pages and more than four hundred characters as well as a towering reputation as a literary classic Proust s novel can seem daunting But though begun a century ago in 1909 it is in fact as engaging and relevant to our times as ever Patrick Alexander is passionate about Proust s genius and appeal he calls the work outrageously bawdy and extremely funny and in his guide he makes it more accessible to the general reader through detailed plot summaries historical and cultural background a guide to the fifty most important characters maps family trees illustrations and a brief biography of Proust Essential for readers and book groups currently reading Proust and who want help keeping track of the huge cast and intricate plot this Reader s Guide is also a wonderful introduction for students and new readers and a memory refresher for long time fans

Proust's Snobs, Inverts, and Jews Adeline Soldin, 2025-03-06 An intersectional investigation of identity formation in Marcel Proust s magnum opus As metonyms for broader categories such as class sexuality and ethnicity the three most discussed identity groups in Proust s la Recherche du Temps Perdu snobs inverts and Jews prove to be deeply intertwined and perplexing representations Attentive to these interwoven complexities Proust s Snobs Inverts and Jews examines the novelist s exploitation of classification systems as a means to subvert the notion of a fixed identity To illustrate Proust s challenges to a social order that restricts our perceptions of identity Adeline Soldin addresses the inconsistencies and friction surrounding the portrayal of these key figures in his seven volume novel. Many scholars have recognized that the narrator's formative journey in La Recherche leads to disillusionment and increased mockery of his fellow characters. Soldin contends however that Proust does not merely deride characters' behavior but rather interrogates their diverse motivations and tendencies thereby exposing the performative nature of identity. Proust's Snobs, Inverts, and Jews draws on Judith Butler's theories of performativity to illustrate Proust's precocious portrayal of identity in La Recherche as an elusive, unattainable idea that characters pursue yet consistently fail to establish. Ultimately the enigmatic and anonymous narrator models fluidity and promotes fantasy and imagination to compensate for the limitations imposed on individuals by social and linguistic conventions. The Ecstatic Quotidian Jennifer Anna Gosetti-Ferencei, 2010-11. Fascination with quotidian experience in modern art, literature, and philosophy promotes ecstatic forms of reflection on the very structure of the everyday world. Gosetti-Ferencei examines the ways in which modern art and literature enable a study of how we experience quotidian life. She shows that modernism, while exhibiting many strands of development, can be understood by investigating how its attentions to perception and expectation to the common quality of things or to childhood play gives way to experiences of ecstasis, the stepping outside of the ordinary familiarity of the world. While phenomenology grounds this study through Husserl, Heidegger, Merleau-Ponty, and Bachelard, what makes this book more than a treatise on phenomenological aesthetics is the way in which modernity itself is examined in its relation to the quotidian. Through the works of artists and writers such as Benjamin, Cézanne, Frost, Klee, Newman, Pollock, Ponge, Proust, Rilke, Robbe-Grillet, Rothko, Sartre, and Twombly, the world of quotidian life can be seen to harbor a latent ecstasis. The breakdown of the quotidian through and after modernism then becomes an urgent question for understanding art and literature in its capacity to further human experience and it points to the limits of phenomenological explications of the everyday. Reading in Proust's *A la recherche Adam Watt, 2009-06-18. Adam Watt's critical study of Proust's A la recherche du temps perdu focuses on the role of the acts of reading depicted in the seminal novel. Reading is shown to be a formative and often troubling force in the life of the novel's narrator. Proust's Cup of Tea Emily Eells, 2017-03-02. Proust's Cup of Tea analyzes Proust's reading of various Victorian authors and shows how they contributed to A la recherche du temps perdu. This book proves that British literature and art played a fundamental role in Proust's writing process by citing from the manuscript versions of his novel as well as from his correspondence, essays, and the lengthy critical apparatus accompanying his translations of Ruskin. Eells reflects here on why Proust was attracted to Victorian culture and how he incorporated it into his novel. The works of the British novelists he was most interested in, Thomas Hardy and George Eliot, address questions of gender which Proust develops in his own work. He builds Sodome et Gomorrhe, I, the section of his novel focusing on homosexuality, on a series of explicit citations and guarded allusions to Shakespeare, Darwin, Walter Scott, Oscar Wilde, and Robert Louis Stevenson. Eells explores how Proust followed in the pioneering footsteps of those British writers who had ventured beyond the boundaries of conventional sexuality, though he took pains to erase their traces in the definitive version of his work This study also highlights how Proust made his fictitious painter Elstir into a master of ambiguity by modeling his art on Turner the Pre Raphaelites and Whistler Eells shows that Proust drew on Victorian culture in his depiction of sexual ambiguity arguing that he confounded eroticism and aestheticism in the way he inextricably linked the man woman figure with British art and literature As Proust aestheticized male and female homosexuality using references to British art and letters Eells coins the term Anglosexuality to refer to his characters of the third sex She defines Anglosexuality as an intersexuality represented through intertextuality as an artistic sensitivity an aesthetic stance and a new way of seeing Proust s Cup of Tea thus demonstrates that Victorian culture and homoeroticism form one of the cornerstones of Proust s monumental work

Writing the Politics of Difference Hugh J. Silverman, 1991-06-04 This book addresses various phases of continental philosophy both in the context of its multiple traditions and in relation to the alternatives that mark the understanding of its present and future Divided into two parts the authors first focus on the diversity of traditions in continental philosophy in connection with the texts of Hegel Marx Kierkegaard Sartre and De Beauvoir Second they explore the reality of social political sexual and philosophical differences in connection with the writings of Merleau Ponty Arendt Habermas Heidegger Foucault Irigaray Kristeva Derrida and Vattimo They also stress the various theoretical foundations that manifest these differences Issues surrounding the role of philosophical systems language ethical choice relations with others the gendered body socialization and the status of philosophy today constitute the fabric of this book The authors place these ideas in the context of current thought and current debates in continental philosophy and evaluate their significance for the future

Sights Unseen Dan North, 2009-03-26 Many British films never make it to the screen Obstacles of finance censorship distribution or creative breakdown can appear in their way and they might even fail to get beyond the script stage This book collects new essays by leading scholars that use archival resources to reconstruct the stories behind a range of films by prominent film makers These thwarted productions are all too often excluded from histories of British cinema but the accounts of their unmaking contained in Sights Unseen provides an illuminating insight into the factors which have served to undermine the stability of the film industry in Britain

Time and the Moment in Victorian Literature and Society Sue Zemka, 2011-11-24 Sudden changes opportunities or revelations have always carried a special significance in Western culture from the Greek and later the Christian kairós to Evangelical experiences of conversion This fascinating book explores the ways in which England under the influence of industrializing forces and increased precision in assessing the passing of time attached importance to moments events that compress great significance into small units of time Sue Zemka questions the importance that modernity invests in momentary events from religion to aesthetics and philosophy She argues for a strain in Victorian and early modern novels critical of the values the age invested in moments of time and suggests that such novels also offer a correction to contemporary culture and criticism with its emphasis on the momentary event as an agency of change
