Proverbios Africanos African Proverbs:

Non-Western Educational Traditions Timothy G. Reagan, 2004-09-22 This text provides a brief yet comprehensive overview of a number of non Western approaches to educational thought and practice Its premise is that understanding the ways that other people educate their children as well as what counts for them as education may help us think more clearly about some of our own assumptions and values and to become more open to alternative viewpoints about important educational matters The value of this informative mind opening text for preservice and in service teacher education courses is enhanced by Questions for Discussion and Reflection and Recommended Further Readings included in each chapter New in the Third Edition Chapter 2 Conceptualizing Culture I We and The Other is new to this edition It is a response to feedback about the problems inherent in our general discourse about culture and in addition provides an example of a culture that is near to us but nevertheless alien the culture of the Deaf World Chapter 9 which deals with Islam and traditional Muslim education has been substantially revised The subtitle of the Third Edition has been changed to Indigenous Approaches to Educational Thought and Practice reflecting not so much a change in the emphases found in the book but rather a recognition of the growing scholarly interest in indigenous peoples their languages cultures and histories Various points throughout the text have been expanded and clarified and chapters have been updated as needed Non-Western

F. Chapman, 2003 Southern African Literatures is a major study of the work of writers from South Africa Zimbabwe Zambia Malawi Angola Mozambique and Namibia written at a time of crucial change in the subcontinent It covers a wide range of work from the storytelling of stone age Bushmen to modern writing by renowned figures such as Es'kia Mphahlele, Nadine Gordimer and Andr   Brink encompassing traditional popular and elite writing literature in translation and case studies based on topical issues. Michael Chapman argues that literary history in the southern African region is best based on a comparative method which while respecting differences of language, race and social circumstance seeks cultural interchange including translations of experience across linguistic and ethnic borders. Instead of perpetuating division the study examines points of common reference as it asks what makes a literary culture. Who are to be regarded as major and minor authors? What are the strengths and limitations of local and international perspectives? Should literature in today's southern Africa be confined to the art forms of poems, plays and fiction? The author seeks to answer these questions vital to all literary discussion in the volatile context of recent southern African history in a style accessible to the general reader. The study is republished with a revised Preface in which the author considers the sometimes heated debates that accompanied the book's initial appearance. Southern African Literatures in 2000 was awarded the premier Bill Venter Prize for academic literature in South Africa.
