Provolone In The Casket Memoirs Of A Mortician:

Provolone in the Casket William F. Higbie, Frank Montimurro, 2001-10-12 An inside look at the funeral business Provolone in the Casket is also the life story of Fran Montimurro a second generation Italian American who spent 35 years as a New York City funeral director With humor pathos regret exhuberance and philosophy Fran tells the story of his rise to success in his chosen profession as he prepared the famous the notorious and the anonymous for their final journeys He discusses the processes and ethics of the funeral business his religious faith and his personal views of the after life After We Die Norman L. Cantor, 2010-11-11 What will become of our earthly remains What happens to our bodies during and after the various forms of cadaver disposal available Who controls the fate of human remains What legal and moral constraints apply Legal scholar Norman Cantor provides a graphic informative and entertaining exploration of these questions After We Die chronicles not only a corpse s physical state but also its legal and moral status including what rights if any the corpse possesses In a claim sure to be controversial Cantor argues that a corpse maintains a quasi human status granting it certain protected rights both legal and moral One of a corpse s purported rights is to have its predecessor s disposal choices upheld After We Die reviews unconventional ways in which a person can extend a personal legacy via their corpse s role in medical education scientific research or tissue transplantation This underlines the importance of leaving instructions directing post mortem disposal Another cadaveric right is to be treated with respect and dignity After We Die outlines the limits that post mortem human dignity poses upon disposal options particularly the use of a cadaver or its parts in educational or artistic displays Contemporary illustrations of these complex issues abound In 2007 the well publicized death of Anna Nicole Smith highlighted the passions and disputes surrounding the handling of human remains Similarly following the 2003 death of baseball great Ted Williams the family in fighting and legal proceedings surrounding the corpse s proposed cryogenic disposal also raised contentious questions about the physical legal and ethical issues that emerge after we die In the tradition of Sherwin Nuland s How We Die Cantor carefully and sensitively addresses the post mortem handling of human remains

Memoirs of a Mortician Gary L Sage Sr., 2022-08-01 Gary L Sage Sr is a former rodeo cowboy an air force vet turned mortician and your tour guide on a journey through a landscape of strange and improbable stories all of them entertaining some of them grim and some of them outright silly originating in the very necessary field of caring for those who have departed this earth You will learn that natural causes aren t necessarily natural especially when the Mafia is involved You ll learn that quick draw contests using unloaded guns are probably best avoided You ll learn that during mining booms on the western frontier a popular cause of death category was wore out Sage is an engaging teller of his unique tales which stretch across many decades and a number of western states locations both urban and remote Mortician Diaries June Nadle, 2006 In this fascinating account of a life spent with death mortician June Nadle shares the most riveting bizarre and inspiring experiences from her 50 year career The Life of Death: The Bare Bones of Undertaking Ralph

Rossell,2017-11-21 Growing up living in and working in a small town funeral home may not be for everyone but it certainly means life is never dull Ralph was born the month his father and mother moved to Flushing Michigan to work in his uncle s funeral home Dinners and sleep interrupted by calls from families were a common occurrence but so were the heart warming moments helping grieving families The Life of Death is a collection of stories about Ralph s memories of the funeral home both growing up and then working there as a licensed funeral director for more than 45 years His tales range from the ironic such as a widow learns of a secret windfall only after selling the item at a garage sale to the inspired when a hard hearted minister gets an earful about preaching to those who need it and reaches out to the family Ralph includes humorous stories a power outage that causes a minister to be late to the funeral of a man who was never on time a family concerned about the smell of smoke that later requests an area to smoke cigarettes and a funeral service that is over almost before it begins And the book would not be complete without a few paranormal experiences Step through the doors of the funeral home via Ralph s memory for an unforgettable glimpse into small town life the business of funerals and the very human responses to the mysteries of death Ralph R Rossell has been an active licensed funeral director for more than 45 years He received an Associate degree from Flint Community Junior College a BA degree from the University of Michigan Flint a Mortuary Science degree from Wayne State University and an insurance license from the State of Michigan As a hobby he and his wife of more than 45 years Elizabeth have enjoyed restoring many old homes and then renting them out They have a daughter and son in law and two grandchildren a son and daughter in law and a dog Ralph who is ordained with American Marriage Ministries has officiated at several weddings In his spare time he enjoys reading fishing and spending time in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan

From the Back of the Hearse J. D. Holman,2009-02 So here I am sitting on a cold tile floor in an embalming room leaning against the wall with a dead naked lady in my lap and laughing until tears come to my eyes Death is not a respecter of persons or age Through illness disease homicide suicide or accident it takes the young old rich and poor Sometimes it s horrible sometimes sad sometimes unnecessary and sometimes a blessing Sometimes it is even humorous It is not written to be disrespectful but to show that even in times of sadness and despair there can be a lighter side to death

The Green Reaper Elizabeth Fournier,2017-08-15 When Elizabeth Fournier was eight her mother and grandparents died She spent a lot of time in funeral homes as a kid since her family were frequently found in caskets Fournier family members didn t have the best longevity record As a young girl Elizabeth found cemeteries a place of peace and tranquility As a teen she d attend funerals of people she didn t know Not surprisingly she eventually headed into the local funeral home and asked for a job any job She landed the position of live in night keeper where she resided in a trailer in the far reaches of a large hilly cemetery She slept with a shotgun near her bed experiencing the scariest summer of her life In her memoir Elizabeth Fournier writes about her calling to the funeral industry and how her early struggles helped shape her life ministry taking care of the dead and preparing more meaningful burials As a one woman funeral service in the rural town of Boring

Oregon Mortician Elizabeth Fournier supports old school burial practices that are kinder to humans and the Earth She has been called The Green Reaper for her passionate advocacy of green burial As an undertaker she is always ready to lend a hand or a shovel

Nine Years Under Sheri Booker,2013-05-30 A dazzling and darkly comic memoir about coming of age in a black funeral home in Baltimore Sheri Booker was only fifteen when she started working at Wylie Funeral Home in West Baltimore She had no idea her summer job would become nine years of immersion into a hidden world Reeling from the death of her beloved great aunt Sheri found comfort in the funeral home and soon had the run of the place With AIDS and gang violence threatening to wipe out a generation of black men Wylie was never short on business As families came together to bury one of their own Booker was privy to their most intimate moments of grief and despair But along with the sadness Booker encountered moments of dark humor brawls between mistresses and widows and car crashes at McDonald s with dead bodies in tow While she never got over her terror of the embalming room Booker learned to expect the unexpected and to never ever cry Nine Years Under offers readers an unbelievable glimpse into an industry in the backdrop of all our lives

The Life of Death Ralph R. Rossell,2017-11-30 Growing up living in and working in a small town funeral home may not be for everyone but it certainly means life is never dull Ralph was born the month his father and mother moved to Flushing Michigan to work in his uncle s funeral home Dinners and sleep interrupted by calls from families were a common occurrence but so were the heart warming moments helping grieving families The Life of Death is a collection of stories about Ralph s memories of the funeral home both growing up and then working there as a licensed funeral director for more than 45 years His tales range from the ironic such as a widow learns of a secret windfall only after selling the item at a garage sale to the inspired when a hard hearted minister gets an earful about preaching to those who need it and reaches out to the family Ralph includes humorous stories a power outage that causes a minister to be late to the funeral of a man who was never on time a family concerned about the smell of smoke that later requests an area to smoke cigarettes and a funeral service that is over almost before it begins And the book would not be complete without a few paranormal experiences Step through the doors of the funeral home via Ralph s memory for an unforgettable glimpse into small town life the business of funerals and the very human responses to the mysteries of death Casket Chronicles T A Walters,2020-08-22 Casket Chronicles is a collection of stories about the author s experiences living and working in a funeral home while he was attending college Some of the stories are hilarious Some of the stories are heartbreaking All of the stories are true Most people think of the funeral business as being very subdued where words are spoken in hushed tones and those who work in it are best described as somber Like almost everything else in life you never really know what goes on behind closed doors How could the station wagon used to pick up bodies just vanish What did the waitress at the drive in really think was in the back of the car Why did the woman driving a Cadillac stop in the middle of the busy street in front of the funeral home and start screaming obscenities How did a woman s panties end up inside a casket The answers to these questions and other interesting tales are found on the pages of Casket Chronicles Does This Mean You'll See Me Naked? Robert Webster, 2011-05-01 Why would someone want to hang out with dead bodies With curious anecdotes and unbelievable truth funeral director Robert Webster reveals that answer and more offering readers entertaining and quirky stories gleaned from a life lived around death Webster tackles those embarrassing questions we all have about what really goes on behind the scenes when you've left this world Strange things people put in caskets The biggest rip offs in the business The crazy things that happen to a body after death Lime wash and other ways to hide the truth The most important thing an undertaker does How to avoid the high pressure funeral parlor What that is not a coffin the body is resting in The Removalist Matthew Franklin Sias, 2019-01-18 To be able to thrive in a field most are terrified of is a source of pride To be in the presence of those who have crossed over the great divide is oddly meaningful in an ultimate sense In this sequel to Silent Siren Memoirs of a Lifesaving Mortician ride along with mortuary removal technician Matthew Franklin Sias as he cares for the deceased in rural Washington State Step into the hidden world of death care and explore the challenge of removing the deceased from the oftentimes difficult regularly awkward and sometimes downright bizarre circumstances in which they die the art and science of embalming and the intrigue of forensic pathology Sias is a veteran death investigator former funeral director embalmer intern and paramedic with twenty-eight years of emergency response experience Smoke Gets in Your Eyes: And Other Lessons from the Crematory Caitlin Doughty, 2014-09-15 Morbid and illuminating Entertainment Weekly a young mortician goes behind the scenes of her curious profession Armed with a degree in medieval history and a flair for the macabre Caitlin Doughty took a job at a crematory and turned morbid curiosity into her life's work She cared for bodies of every color shape and affliction and became an intrepid explorer in the world of the dead In this best selling memoir brimming with gallows humor and vivid characters she marvels at the gruesome history of undertaking and relates her unique coming of age story with bold curiosity and mordant wit By turns hilarious dark and uplifting Smoke Gets in Your Eyes reveals how the fear of dying warps our society and will make you reconsider how our culture treats the dead San Francisco Chronicle Mortuary Confidential Kenneth McKenzie, Todd Harra, 2018-02-27 When the casket reached the front of the sanctuary there was a loud cracking sound as the bottom fell out And with a thump down came Father Iggy From shoot outs at funerals to dead men screaming and runaway corpses undertakers have plenty of unusual stories to tell and a special way of telling them In this macabre and moving compilation funeral directors across the country share their most embarrassing jaw dropping irreverent and deeply poignant stories about life at death's door Discover what scares them and what moves them to tears Learn about rookie mistakes and why death sometimes calls for duct tape Enjoy tales of the dearly departed spending eternity naked from the waist down and getting bottled and corked in a wine bottle And then meet their families the weepers the punchers the stolidly dignified and the ones who deliver their dead mother in a pickup truck If there's one thing undertakers know it's that death drives people crazy These are the best bodies of work from America's darkest profession Sick funny and brilliant I love this book Jonathan Maberry Undertakings of an Undertaker Stanley Swan, 2015-01-23 Could these remains yet to be identified be one of the victims of Rochester's Genesee River killer Did the mourner in the chapel with the casket and the deceased actually think there was an apparition present Is it legal to bury a man with no pants Would a man really drive his deceased wife to a mortuary instead of calling the authorities Those ashes seeping from the fractured urn imagined or real The black cat visiting the deceased man's wake a family friend or fiend These are just some of the intriguing unusual and funny stories to be found in Undertakings of an Undertaker True Stories of Being Laid to Rest Author Stanley Swan spent 37 years in funeral service making notes from day one and he has now penned them to paper and put them into print for others to see Here you will read about the challenges facing those in funeral service the highs the lows the personal sacrifices and the rewards You will also experience all of the emotions encountered during the day to day business of taking care of a community's funeral and burial needs Every story is true as it really happened with no embellishment nothing left out 100 percent fact Step into the world of funeral service of which little has been written about over the last few decades Funny gut wrenching chilling unbelievable in many instances Come take part in the Undertakings of an Undertaker True Stories of Being Laid to Rest A book you'll want to share for sure
