Handbook of Psychiatric Consultation with Children and Youth Norman R. Bernstein, James Sussex, 2012-12-06 I have spent the best part of the last quarter of a century working on the consultation service at the Massachusetts General Hospital Much of my satisfaction has stemmed from working with nonpsychiatric physicians especially in having them come to realize the value of psychological methods in the treatment of their patients It has always been my belief that learning to understand the patient s mental life was as much a part of medicine as the taking of vital signs To treat adequately certainly to treat well a physician must know something of his patient s thought processes Teaching others the value of this knowledge is the first step in educating them to seek ways of learning it themselves Rarely can this be done in the lecture hall One can best pique curiosity by demonstrating worth and that is done at the bedside or in whatever setting the consultation is carried out Every consultation then carries an implicit imperative to attest its value It can be covert teaching at its best I have found the practice of consultation psychiatry satisfying and compelling enough to want to remain in it for at least another quarter of a century

Psychiatric Emergencies in Family Practice J. Pollitt, 2012-12-06 Crises are not a feature of depressive illness but this illness needs to be considered in the diagnoses of three acute emergencies the agitated patient the withdrawn patient and the suicidal patient A The agitated patient Restless anguished phrenetic and impetuous behaviour Differential diagnoses include hypomania acute anxiety and grief hysteria drug intoxication thyrotoxicosis cerebrovascular accident or cerebral tumour Agitated depression carries a relatively high risk of suicide Management usually requires admission and use of adequate doses of antidepressant and neuroleptic drugs and often ECT B The withdrawn patient who avoids social contacts and obligations and is often slowed up in mind and body Differential diagnoses include schizophrenia CVA or tumour hysteria and semi coma including drug intoxication Withdrawn and retarded patients with depressive illness are at risk of failing to eat or care for themselves C The suicidal patient May present as unexpected inexplicable coma a badly cut patient may be confused by the doctor with accident or assault The immediate emergency is medical or surgical treatment is for coma bleeding or asphyxia and requires immediate admission to casualty The first presentation of depression is always a minor emergency as it may be the only attempt the patient makes to see a doctor Diagnosis must be positive based on the recognition of depressive features not negative based on the exclusion of other diseases The cardinal symptoms of depressive illness 1 Disturbed sleep pattern 2 Change in appetite for food
