Recalling Local Pasts Autonomous History In Southeast Asia:

Nationalism and Imperialism in South and Southeast Asia Arnold P. Kaminsky, Roger D. Long, 2016-09-13 This volume is a festschrift for Damodar Ramaji SarDesai b 1931 Professor Emeritus of History at the University of California Los Angeles UCLA His work for over fifty years at UCLA has been an inspiration to generations of students and he has made major contributions in his chosen areas of specialization of India its foreign policy with regard to southeast Asia imperialism and the history of the modern European empires Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka Ghosts of the Past in Southern Thailand Anthony Reid, Barbara Watson Andaya, Geoff Wade, Azyumardi Azra, Numan Hayimase, Christopher Joll, Francis R. Bradley, Philip King, Dennis Walker, Kobkua Suwannathat-Pian, Iik A. Mansurnoor, Duncan McCargo, 2013-01-01 At the heart of the on going armed conflict in southern Thailand is a fundamental disagreement about the history of relations between the Patani Malays and the Thai kingdom While the Thai royalist nationalist version of history regards Patani as part of that kingdom since time immemorial Patani Malay nationalists look back to a golden age when the Sultanate of Patani was an independent prosperous trading state and a renowned center for Islamic education and scholarship in Southeast Asia a time before it was defeated broken up and brought under the control of the Thai state While still influential in recent years these diametrically opposed views of the past have begun to make way for more nuanced and varied interpretations Patani scholars intellectuals and students now explore their history more freely and confidently than in the past while the once rigid Thai nationalist narrative is open to more pluralistic interpretations There is growing interaction and dialogue between historians writing in Thai Malay and English and engagement with sources and scholarship in other languages including Chinese and Arabic In The Ghosts of the Past in Southern Thailand 13 scholars who have worked on this sensitive region evaluate the current state of current historical writing about the Patani Malays of southern Thailand The essays in this book demonstrate that an understanding of the conflict must take into account the historical dimensions of relations between Patani and the Thai kingdom and the ongoing influence of these perceptions on Thai state officials militants and the local population Historical Dictionary of Burma (Myanmar) Donald M. Seekins, 2017-03-27 Burma Myanmar is a Southeast Asian country that is emerging from crisis after more than a half century of hard line military rule and cultural diplomatic and economic isolation With the dissolution of its military regime the State Peace and Development Council in 2011 a formally civilian but military dominated constitutional government was inaugurated By 2012 Burma s president retired General Thein Sein had established a working relationship with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi the leader of the country s pro democracy movement since 1988 and after a 2012 by election she and members of her opposition party the National League for Democracy NLD entered the new Union Parliament as legislators However even with the election victory of Daw Suu Kyi and the NLD in the General Election of November 2015 Burma faces daunting challenges it is still one of the poorest countries in Southeast fissured by longstanding ethnic conflicts that have made a nationwide peace agreement elusive and its people's security and the environment are threatened by foreign economic exploitation Religious discord is also widely evident as Buddhist militants instigate violence against the country's religious minorities especially Muslims Today Burma's prospects are the most hopeful they have been for over half a century as the country takes steps along the road to a more open society and economy This edition of the Historical Dictionary of Burma Myanmar encompasses not only current developments but also Burma's over 1 500 years old recorded history and the most important features of its cultures ethnicity religions society and economy This is done through a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture

A History of Ayutthaya Chris Baker, Pasuk Phongpaichit, 2017-05-11 Early European visitors placed Ayutthaya alongside China and India as the great powers of Asia Yet in 1767 the city was destroyed and its history has been neglected This book is the first study of Ayutthaya from its emergence in the thirteenth century until its fall It offers a wide ranging view of social political and cultural history with focus on commerce kingship Buddhism and war By drawing on a wide range of sources including chronicles accounts by Europeans Chinese Persians and Japanese law literature art landscape and language the book presents early Siam as a commercial society not the peasant society usually assumed Baker and Phongpaichit attribute the fall of the city not to internal conflict or dynastic decline but failure to manage the social and political consequences of prosperity This book is essential reading for all those interested in the history of Southeast Asia and the early modern world

Recalling Local Pasts Sunēt Chutintharānōn, Christopher John Baker, 2002 The history of Southeast Asia especially mainland Southeast Asia has been written as a history of kings and states The modern states of Burma Thailand Malaysia Cambodia Laos and Vietnam thread their way back into the past and the emergence of these states the importance of their capitals and the power of their dynasties have been the dominant themes of the history of the region This collection of essays challenges this perspective Taken together they question how powerful the great centers and their rulers really were The authors shift the focus to smaller settlements and more peripheral communities looking at the capitals and the central authority from this viewpoint They react against the modern impulse to look at the commonalities of the region and instead concentrate on the variety The result is an intimate and unusual view of historical Southeast Asia as a society of cosmopolitan cities mobile communities and fluid local politics Essays consider Pegu Arakan Phuket the Vietnamese port city of Hoi An the eastern Martaban Bay port cities and the Orang Laut and the Malay kingdoms of Melaka and Johor The contributors are Sunait Chutintaranond Tun Aung Chain Jacques P Leider Dhiravat na Pombejra Nguyen Chi Thong and Chuleeporn Virunha Early Modern Southeast Asia, 1350-1800 Ooi Keat Gin, Hoang Anh Tuan, 2015-10-08 This book presents extensive new research findings on and new thinking about Southeast Asia in this interesting richly diverse but much understudied period It examines the wide and well developed trading networks explores the different kinds of regimes and the nature of power and security considers urban growth international relations and the beginnings of European involvement with the region and discusses religious factors in particular the spread and impact of Christianity One key theme of the book is the consideration of how well developed Southeast Asia was before the onset of European involvement and how during the peak of the commercial boom in the 1500s and 1600s many polities in Southeast Asia were not far behind Europe in terms of socio economic progress and attainments Southeast Asia D R SarDesai, 2012-12-23 A balanced accessible and authoritative account of the history of Southeast Asia from ancient to contemporary times Southeast Asian Studies in China Saw Swee-Hock, John Wong, 2007 Traces the development of Southeast Asian Studies in China discusses the current status of these studies examines the problems encountered in the pursuit of these studies and attempts to evaluate their prospects in the years ahead Asian Expansions Geoff Wade, 2014-10-17 Asia as we know it today is the product of a wide range of polity expansions over time Recognising the territorial expansions of Asian polities large and small through the last several millennia helps rectify the fallacy long held and deeply entrenched that Asian polities have been interested only in the control of populations not in expanding their command of territory In countering this misapprehension this book suggests that Asian polities have indeed been concerned with territorial control and expansion over time whether for political or strategic advantage trade purposes defence needs agricultural expansion or increased income through taxation The book explores the historical experiences of a set of polity expansions within Asia specifically in East and Southeast Asia and by examining the motivations mechanisms processes validations and limitations of these Asian territorial expansions reveals the diverse avenues by which Asian polities have grown The chapters draw on these historical examples to highlight the connections between Asian polity expansion and centralised political structures and this aids in a broader and more comprehensive understanding of Asian political practice both past and present Through these chapter studies and the integrative introduction the book interrogates key concepts such as imperialism and colonialism and the applicability and relevance of such terminology in Asian contexts both historical and contemporary Comparisons and contrasts with European historical expansions are also suggested This book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Asian history as well as by those with an interest in Asian interactions international relations polity expansion Asia Europe historical comparisons and globalisation Rights and Security in India, Myanmar, and Thailand Chosein Yamahata, Sueo Sudo, Takashi Matsugi, 2020-02-27 This book is centred on the role of the triangular interactions among communities educational sectors and academic diplomacy in facilitating peaceful societal change by evaluating the common challenges in India Myanmar and Thailand It analyses urban poverty religious freedom ethnic diversity women s rights development and regional partnership civil military relations and human security in democratic transition and explores in depth the societal issues from local and international perspectives paying special attention to the protection of rights and promotion of security in these societies The book highlights that the continuous application of knowledge across borders and the promotion of international norms are essential tools in enabling social transformations from the bottom In addition the contributors promote further discussion on both the process and the outcome from action research projects that shape the lives of the local people and their communities The book therefore contributes to the existing literature by offering additional insights into the societies of India Myanmar and Thailand for policy makers social innovators researchers development analysts and planners and the general public including students Post-war Laos Vattana Pholsena, 2006 More than a quarter of century after the end of the war in 1975 the Lao leadership is still in search for a compelling nationalist narration Its politics of culture and representation appear to be caught between the rhetoric of preservation and the desire for modernity Meanwhile originating from the periphery where ethnic minorities had hitherto been symbolically politically and administratively confined the participation of some of their members in the Indochina Wars 1945-75 exposed these individuals to socialization and politicization processes This rigorously researched and cogently argued book is a fine grained analysis of substantial ethnographic material showing the politics of identity the geographies of memory and the power of narratives of some members of ethnic minority groups who fought during the Vietnam War in the Lao People s Liberation Army and or were educated within the revolutionary administration No study has ever been conducted on the latter s views on the nationalist project of the late socialist era Their own perceptions of their membership of the nation have been overlooked Post War Laos is a set to be a landmark study and an original contribution which refines established theories of nationalism such as Anderson s imagined community by addressing a common weakness namely their tendency to deny agency to individuals who in fact interpret their relationship to and place within the nation in a variety of ways that may change according to time and circumstance Empires of the Sea , 2019-10-07 Empires of the Sea brings together studies of maritime empires from the Bronze Age to the Eighteenth Century The volume aims to establish maritime empires as a category for the comparative study of premodern empires and from a partly non western perspective The book includes contributions on Mycenaean sea

Coutre Peter Borschberg,2013-11-11 Jacques de Coutre was a Flemish gem trader who spent nearly a decade in Southeast Asia at the turn of the 17th century He left history a substantial autobiography written in Spanish and preserved in the National Library of Spain in Madrid Written in the form of a picaresque tale with an acute eye for the cultures he encountered the memoirs tell the story of his adventures in the trading centres of the day Melaka Ayutthaya Cambodia Patani Pahang Johor Brunei and Manila Narrowly escaping death several times De Coutre was inevitably drawn into dangerous intrigues between the representatives of European power myriad fortune hunters and schemers and the rulers and courtiers in the palaces of Pahang Patani Siam and Johor Forging Islamic Power and Place Francis R. Bradley,2015-07-31

Forging Islamic Power and Place charts the nineteenth century rise of a vast network of Islamic scholars stretching across Southeast Asia and the Indian Ocean to Arabia Following the political and military collapse of the tiny Sultanate of Patani in what is now southern Thailand and northern Malaysia a displaced community of scholars led by Shaykh D d bin Abd All h al Fa n regrouped in Mecca In the years that followed al Fa n composed more than forty works that came to form the basis for a new text based type of Islamic practice Via a network of scholars students and scribes al Fa n s writings made their way back to Southeast Asia becoming the core texts of emerging pondok Islamic schools throughout the region Islamic scholars thus came to be the primary power brokers in the construction of a new moral community setting forth an intellectual wave that spurred cultural identity literacy and a religious practice that grew ever more central to daily life In Forging Islamic Power and Place Francis R Bradley analyzes the important role of this vibrant Patani knowledge network in the formation of Islamic institutions of learning in Southeast Asia He makes use of an impressive range of sources including official colonial documents traveler accounts missionary writings and above all a trove of handwritten manuscripts in Malay and Arabic what remains of one of the most fertile zones of knowledge production anywhere in the Islamic world at the time Writing against prevailing notions of Southeast Asia as the passive recipient of the Islamic traditions of the Middle East Bradley shows how a politically marginalized community engineered its own cultural renaissance via the moral virility of the Islamic scholarly tradition and the power of the written word He highlights how in an age of rising colonial power these knowledge producers moved largely unnoticed and unhindered between Southeast Asia and the Middle East carrying out sweeping cultural and religious change His focus on Thailand's so called deep south which has been marginalized in scholarly studies until recent times helps lay the groundwork for a new generation of scholarship on the region and furthers our understanding of the present day crisis in southern Thailand The study of Islam in Southeast Asia has been most often relegated to the realm of religious studies and historians have considered the development of the nation as the single most important historiographical problem in the region By focusing on the role of human agency and the logistics of knowledge transmission this book transforms our understanding of the long and complex history of the flow of religious knowledge between the Middle East and Southeast Asia

Negotiating Ethnic Diversity and National Identity in History Education Helen Mu Hung Ting, Luigi Cajani, 2023-05-26 This edited book explores the problems and challenges of negotiating the representation of ethnic minorities within history education It investigates how states balance the non acknowledgement of the reality of cultural or religious diversity and the promotion of a point of convergence in history education to foster national identity Shifting our attention away from the intractable challenges posed by post conflict countries for reconciliation the contributors draw attention to the need to explore ways to prevent or pre empt conflicts and exclusion through history education which could contribute to developing a more sustainable culture of peace Drawing on a wide range of contexts and sources this book asks how history education could contribute to forming critical historically informed and committed young citizens The book will be of interest to students and academics working on themes such as nationalism citizenship ethnicity history education multicultural education peace studies and area studies as well as practitioners in the fields of history social studies civic or citizenship

Buddhist Fury Michael K. Jerryson, 2011-07-28 Buddhist violence is not a well known concept In fact it is generally considered an oxymoron An image of a Buddhist monk holding a handgun or the idea of a militarized Buddhist monastery tends to stretch the imagination yet these sights exist throughout southern Thailand Michael Jerryson offers an extensive examination of one of the least known but longest running conflicts of Southeast Asia Part of this conflict

based primarily in Thailand's southernmost provinces is fueled by religious divisions Thailand's total population is over 92 percent Buddhist but over 85 percent of the people in the southernmost provinces are Muslim Since 2004 the Thai government has imposed martial law over the territory and combatted a grass roots militant Malay Muslim insurgency Buddhist Fury reveals the Buddhist parameters of the conflict within a global context Through fieldwork in the conflict area Jerryson chronicles the habits of Buddhist monks in the militarized zone Many Buddhist practices remain unchanged Buddhist monks continue to chant counsel the laity and accrue merit Yet at the same time monks zealously advocate Buddhist nationalism act as covert military officers and equip themselves with guns Buddhist Fury displays the methods by which religion alters the nature of the conflict and shows the dangers of this transformation Pelagic Passageways Rila Mukherjee, 2011 Due to the frontierization of nation states maritime historians have tended to ignore the northern Bay of Bengal Yet this marginal region now dispersed over the four nation states of India China Myanmar and Bangladesh was not marginal in the past Until recently however historians have concentrated largely on the big four the Gujarat Malabar Coromandel and western Bengal coasts Extreme eastern South Asia Bengal and the lands to its north east fanning into Burma and China or modern India's north east and beyond is the focus of Pelagic Passageways This regional unit including diverse topographic features plains forests estuaries deltas rivers mountains lakes plateaus and remote passes oscillates between unity and fragmentation between centrality and marginality in the larger space of the Bay of Bengal To attempt a history of this space is indeed challenging There is not one but two deltas here the western delta corresponding to present West Bengal in India and centred now on Kolkata and the south eastern delta in present Bangladesh centred on Dhaka and running into Arakan Not merely in terms of location but on a historical axis too the two deltas are vastly different as they have followed disparate trajectories dictated in part by their geographies Pelagic Passageways therefore questions the conventional fault line located on the south eastern Bengal delta between the historiography of South and South East Asia Concentrating on commodity and currency flows travel trade routes and interactive networks Pelagic Passageways visualizes the cultural space of the northern Bay of Bengal as embracing upland landlocked areas Ava Yunnan the Tripuri Dimas and Ahom states not usually seen as part of maritime history This collection of essays suggests that they too were a part of the social and commercial networks of the Indian Ocean While these countries literally fell off the map this volume proposes that we see these areas instead as crossroads mediating flows between the land dwelling and aquatic worlds
