Summary of Corrections , Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliana Cicin-Sain,David Vanderzwaag,Miriam C. Balgos,2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world presents in depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean such as shipping fishing oil and gas development in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated precautionary and anticipatory Overall the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world Challenges and Opportunities in Regional Governance of Ocean Ecosystems Lucia Fanning, Sebastian Unger, Robin Mahon, 2022-09-19 Contesting Global Environmental Knowledge, Norms and Governance M. J. Peterson, 2019-01-08 Through theoretical discussions and case studies this volume explores how processes of contestation about knowledge norms and governance processes shape efforts to promote sustainability through international environmental governance The epistemic communities literature of the 1990s highlighted the importance of expert consensus on scientific knowledge for problem definition and solution specification in international environmental agreements This book addresses a gap in this literature insufficient attention to the multiple forms of contestation that also inform international environmental governance These forms include within discipline contestation that helps forge expert consensus inter disciplinary contestation regarding the types of expert knowledge needed for effective response to environmental problems normative and practical arguments about the proper roles of experts and laypersons and contestation over how to combine globally developed norms and scientific knowledge with locally prevalent norms and traditional knowledge in ways ensuring effective implementation of environmental policies This collection advances understanding of the conditions under which contestation facilitates or hinders the development of effective global environmental governance The contributors examine how attempts to incorporate more than one stream of expert knowledge and to include lay knowledge alongside it have played out in efforts to create and maintain multilateral agreements relating to environmental concerns It will interest scholars and graduate students of political science global governance international environmental politics and global policy making Policy analysts should also find it useful
