Nature Conservation:

Nature Conservation Klaus-Dieter Hupke, 2023-01-01 Many things happen in nature reserves that are contradictory at first glance For example flower meadows are mown down during maintenance work even though all the plants growing there are protected Elsewhere protected reed beds are burnt down in a fen or the top layer of soil is removed with bulldozers in a dune conservation area Still other areas are to remain completely untouched by human intervention The author Klaus Dieter Hupke shows the different strategies of nature conservation He also shows that nature conservation is mostly not exactly what the term says in essence protection of nature On the contrary in Central Europe nature conservation areas are predominantly the relics of old agricultural and thus cultural landscapes Often aesthetic aspects of a landscape section are also in the foreground when designating it as a natural monument or nature reserve Moreover nature conservation runs the risk of becoming a substitute action and an alibi for a still growing destruction of traditional and near natural landscape systems in Central Europe as well as globally The updated second edition now explicitly includes the consequences of climate change for nature conservation and has also incorporated a stronger reference to Austria as well as to the central Alpine region in some places for the relevant readers The Law of Nature Conservation Christopher Rodgers, 2013-03-21

Providing a detailed account of the law of nature conservation this book reviews and discusses the way in which the law promotes the conservation of species of animal bird and plant and how it protects natural habitats for protected species Using an interdisciplinary approach the book sets nature conservation in its economic and scientific context It explains how the law reconciles the public interest in promoting biodiversity and the conservation of species and habitats on the one hand and the private property rights of landowners and other resource appropriators on the other The book offers an illuminating new interpretation of this area of environmental regulation using a resource allocation model of property rights to explain how legal and economic instruments for promoting nature conservation work in practice The analysis covers all recent legislation and case law including the Marine and Coastal Access Act 2009 the Conservation of Habitats and Species Regulations 2010 and the 2012 National Planning Policy Framework The book will serve as a critical guide to UK nature conservation law for those working in the system and a valuable reference point on the UK's approach to the area for environmental lawyers and policy makers overseas Environmental Law Toolkit--NSW , 2005 The Environmental Law Toolkit is a community guide to environmental law in New South Wales It is intended to provide a practical resource for members of the community with an interest in using the law to protect the environment In particular this guide covers the following elements of environmental law environmental planning and assessment natural resource management pollution management biodiversity conservation and natural and cultural heritage The guide also includes a chapter on environmental advocacy covering topics such as submissions letters and petitions using the media access to information defamation law and safe speech incorporating an environmental group corporations and environmental advocacy environmental protest and

Land and its Uses — Actual and Potential F. T. Last, M. C. B. Hotz, B. G. Bell, 2013-03-08 During its existence the Ecosciences Panel of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation was constantly concerned with i the communication gap between the generators of ecological environmental information and those who use it and ii the narrow interpretation of environmental which too frequently was taken as being synonymous with pollution Because of this concern and because the panel recognised that land use is perhaps the overriding facet of environmental policy it was decided to arrange the Seminar recorded in this volume Land and its Uses Actual and Potential An Environmental Appraisal The development of this Seminar was chaired by Professor F T Last who was enthusiastically supported by B G Bell U K Drs S Bie Norway O W Heal U K R Herrmann Federal Republic of Germany M C B Hotz formerly of NATO Belgium but now in Canada L Munn Canada and N Yassoglou Greece Together they decided that the participants should include i planners decision makers and ii scientists generating ecological environmental information in the hope that they would gain a better understanding of each others problems and attitudes and as a result identify how information can be prepared in a more usable form

Summaries of Foreign Government Environmental Reports ,1977 Political Modernisation and the Environment J. van Tatenhove, B. Arts, P. Leroy, 2013-03-14 Recent years have witnessed a substantial change in both the organisation and substance of environmental policy both national and international Western societies have seen a change in the relationships between the state the market and civil society leading to new conceptions of governance a process here called political modernisation that gives rise to the institutionalisation of new policy arrangements An environmental policy arrangement refers to the organisation and substance of a policy domain in terms of policy coalitions policy discourses rules of the game and resources The book uses these theoretical notions to analyze changes in organisation substance and governance in several environmental policy domains such as infrastructure policies global policies on climate change and biodiversity green planning and agriculture policy Changing relationships between the state the market and civil society caused by processes of globalization privatisation and individualisation have resulted in a plurality of policy arrangements in different domains Despite the fact that environmental politics has been substantially renewed there is a delicate balance between traditional and new policy arrangements One of the main themes of the book is the explanation of this balance

Analysis of South Africa's Wildlife Policies and Laws Didi Wamukoya, Mira Dutschke ,2017-10-18 South Africa has a long history of regulation of wildlife conservation that dates as far back as 1656 when Jan van Riebeeck a Dutch colonial administrator and founder of Cape Town gave instructions to regulate hunting in the Cape From that time South Africa has had several wildlife and biodiversity conservation policies and laws After the fall of apartheid the new framework policies and laws on environment and wildlife conservation were enacted to further strengthen wildlife conservation in the country South Africa is also a party to various international agreements that commit the country to its conservation efforts at an international level This rapid independent assessment of the law and policy governing wildlife crimes in South Africa reviews the Constitution and the national framework laws focusing on those laws and policies that impose criminal liability for wildlife offences The assessment then turns to the provinces Provincial governments have a fairly large degree of legislative and executive jurisdiction over conservations and wildlife management issues including enforcing compliance of criminal wildlife laws The review sets out the offences and penalties that exist across the myriad of relevant environmental legislation and policy and looks at the power and mandate of the various enforcement bodies

Environmental Law and Policy in Wales Patrick Bishop, Mark Stallworthy, 2013-02-15 This book examines welsh perspectives on the search for sustainable law and policy solutions to modern environmental threats

Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Forestry in Central Europe Ewald

Rametsteiner, Gerhard Weiss, Klaus Kubeczko, 2005-07-01 Current developments in Central Europe will have far reaching consequences on the region's forestry and related institutional arrangements such as forest administration extension services and forest research. Future prospects for the rural population living on income from forestry will considerably depend on how individuals and organisations react in view of these changes. It will be vitally important how forest owners and managers apply new knowledge in forestry and how organisations best deal with the emerging changes. Innovation and entrepreneurship are main driving forces for economic growth, competitiveness and employment creation especially in rural areas. From 2001 to 2003 the EFI Regional Project Centre INNOFORCE conducted research on innovation and entrepreneurship in forestry in Central Europe seeking answers to the following questions: What is the situation and perceived future outlook for forestry in the region? How important are innovation and entrepreneurship considered in the sector? How much innovation and entrepreneurship is actually taking place? What are supporting and impeding factors? The research report provides new knowledge on innovation behaviour of forest holdings and forest related innovation systems in Central Europe and on changes that are necessary to enhance innovation and entrepreneurship in the sector. Survey results are accompanied by lessons learned from more than 30 cases referring to innovations in forestry implemented in eight countries.

The Geology of Scotland, 5th edition (paperback) Martin Smith, Rob Strachan, 2024-08-30 Although a small country, Scotland's geology is complex, internationally renowned and offers an accessible outdoor research laboratory and training ground for earth science. The onshore and offshore geology together encompass examples of all Earth's geological periods and preserve many classic examples of sedimentary basins and orogenic belts. Palaeontological findings have provided key evidence for the evolution of life. With a wide spectrum of contributors, full colour figures and photographs and for each chapter a Topic Box highlighting key research developments and challenges, this 5th edition of The Geology of Scotland represents a major update and expansion from the 4th edition. A revised Introduction summarizes the geological evolution of Scotland, the nature of the crust and the societal relevance of geology to climate change and sustainability. The final three chapters provide a modern view on energy, water and minerals, environmental concerns and geoconservation. The intervening chapters cover the geological periods, including much new geochronological data and exciting new palaeontological discoveries.

Urban Ecology Kevin J. Gaston, 2010-09-16 This is the urban century in which, for the first time, the majority of people live in towns and cities. Understanding how people influence and are influenced by the green component of these environments is therefore of enormous significance. Providing an overview of the essentials of urban ecology, the book begins by covering the vital background concepts of the urbanisation process and the effect that it can have on ecosystem functions and services. Later sections are devoted to examining how species respond to urbanisation, the many facets of human ecology, interactions and the issues surrounding urban planning and the provision of urban green spaces. Drawing on examples from urban settlements around the world, it highlights the progress to date in this burgeoning field as
