Mobility, Migration and the Chinese Scientific Research System Koen Jonkers, 2010-04-07 China's rise is having a large impact on the global science system The internalisation of this system in the past two decades would not have been possible without the outbound and especially the return flows of overseas Chinese scientists This book explores their impact combining macro level institutional and statistical analysis with an account of how the research culture has changed at the operational level The theoretical framework used departs from the human capital approach by building on literature from migration studies and evolutionary theories of the science system It presents the results of an innovative mix of quantitative and qualitative methodological approaches Overseas Chinese scientists and returnees are shown to have played an important role in shaping the internal development of the Chinese research system as well as its relationship with research systems in Western Europe and North America Now that the situation is improving return has become an increasingly interesting option for expatriate researchers This development may result in a virtuous cycle Based on extensive and original empirical research Mobility Migration and the Chinese Scientific Research System will be of interest to scholars and postgraduate students of research systems in general and the Chinese research and innovation system in particular

Proceedings, 2002 Observation and Experiment in the Natural and Social Sciences Maria Carla Galavotti, 2006-04-18 According to a long tradition in philosophy of science a clear cut distinction can be traced between a context of discovery and a context of justification This tradition dates back to the birth of the discipline in connection with the Circles of Vienna and Berlin in the twenties and thirties of last century Convinced that only the context of justification is pertinent to philosophy of science logical empiricists identified its goal with the rational reconstruction of scientific knowledge taken as the clarification of the logical structure of science through an analysis of its language and methods Stressing justification as the proper field of application of philosophy of science logical empiricists intended to leave discovery out of its remit The context of discovery was then discarded from philosophy of science and left to sociology psychology and history The distinction between context of discovery and context of justification goes hand in hand with the tenet that the theoretical side of science can and should be kept separate from its observational and experimental components Further the final abstract formulation of theories should be analysed apart from the process behind it resulting from a tangle of context dependent factors This conviction is reflected by the distinction between theoretical and observational sentences underpinning the Hempelian view of theories as nets whose knots represent theoretical terms
