Nature Into Art:

Rachel Ruysch: Nature Into Art, 2024-11-26 Abstraction in Art and Nature Nathan Cabot Hale, 2012-06-19 In this stimulating thought provoking guide a noted sculptor and teacher demonstrates how to discover a rich new design source in the abstractions inherent in natural forms Through systematic study of such properties as line form shape mass pattern light and dark space proportion scale perspective and color as they appear in nature students can learn to utilize the infinite variety and diversity of those elements as a wellspring of creative abstraction The author invites students to learn the necessary techniques through a series of projects devoted to exploring and drawing plants animals birds landscapes seascapes skies and more Lines of growth and structure water and liquid forms weather and atmospheric patterns luminosity in plants and animals earth colors and lightning are among the sources of abstraction available to the artist who is aware of them This book will train you to see and use these elements and many more An intriguing blend of art psychology and the natural sciences Abstraction in Art and Nature is profusely illustrated with over 370 photographs scientific illustrations diagrams and reproductions of works by the great masters It not only offers a mind stretching new way of learning and teaching basic design but deepens our awareness of the natural environment In short Mr Hale s book is an indispensable guide that artists teachers and students will want to have close at hand for instruction inspiration and practical guidance

Nature Into Art Handasyde Buchanan, 1979 Nature in Ireland John Wilson Foster, Helena C. G. Chesney, 1998 How has Irish nature been studied How has it been expressed in literature and popular culture How has it influenced and been influenced by political economic and social change These long neglected questions are pursued in Nature in Ireland a pioneering collection of original essays by leading naturalists science writers and cultural historians who bring us from the geological prehistory of Ireland to the environmental threats of the late twentieth century The Nature of the Creative Process in Art Jaroslav Havelka, 2012-12-06 No single factor determined the growth of this book It may have been that as a novice researcher in Behavioral Psychology I experienced growing discontent with the direction of intellectual activity in which the accent was on methodology and measurement with a distinct atmosphere of dogmatism insecurity and defensiveness The anathema of tender mindedness was attached to any study of mental manifestations that avoided laboratory confirmation and statistical significance Man in his uniqueness and unpredictable potentialities remained unexplored Yet outside the systematic vivisection of variables and their measurement men of originality and genius were studying the mind in its complex yet natural interaction of aspirations values and creative capacities It was almost too easy for me to turn to them for the re orientation of my psychological interest and it was not difficult to find in Freud the most daring and penetrating representant of humanistic psychology Furthermore it could have been the fact that Freud s thoughts on creative processes appeared to me at once starkly original and yet incomplete and fragmentary that led me to reconsider and expand on them Freud s fascination with culture and creativity although frank and serious led him to a peculiar indecisiveness and overcautiousness which was radically different from the dramatic boldness of his therapeutic methods and the depth of his personality theories Colour in Art, Design & Nature C. A. Brebbia, C. Greated, M. W. Collins, 2011 This book is ambitiously interdisciplinary and may be divided into four main sections defined in terms of the authors themselves Firstly there are two contributions by biologists Secondly the largest section is by practising artists Thirdly there are two engineering based contributions Finally two contributions address some of the historical proponents of colour theory and art These eleven works in full colour form a striking contribution to the commonwealth of colour studies and to a possible unification of Snow's two cultures Colour and inter disciplinarity go hand in hand This so often involves the authors leaving the comfort zone of their original speciality and striving for excellence in another The personal story of Franziska Schenk is but one good example It seems that our perceptions of aesthetics and beauty must be very flexible indeed as to find absolute opposites equally fascinating If so it goes to show how wonderful are the construction and operation of the human brain Does psychology win in the end Does colour lead to a single culture Nature in the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Times Albrecht Classen, 2024-07-01 The study of pre modern anthropology requires the close examination of the relationship between nature and human society which has been both precarious and threatening as well as productive soothing inviting and pleasurable Much depends on the specific circumstances as the works by philosophers theologians poets artists and medical practitioners have regularly demonstrated It would not be good enough as previous scholarship has commonly done to examine simply what the various writers or artists had to say about nature While modern scientists consider just the hard core data of the objective world cultural historians and literary scholars endeavor to comprehend the deeper meaning of the concept of nature presented by countless writers and artists Only when we have a good grasp of the interactions between people and their natural environment are we in a position to identify and interpret mental structures social and economic relationships medical and scientific concepts of human health and the messages about all existence as depicted in major art works In light of the current conditions threatening to bring upon us a global crisis it matters centrally to take into consideration pre modern discourses on nature and its enormous powers to understand the topoi and tropes determining the concepts through which we perceive nature Nature thus proves to be a force far beyond all human comprehensibility being both material and spiritual depending on our critical approaches Art, Science, and Witchcraft in Early Modern Holland Claudia Swan, 2005-06-08 Publisher Description Nature and Imagination in Ancient and Early Modern Roman Art Gabriel Pihás, 2022-07-27 This volume uses the art of Rome to help us understand the radical historical break between the fundamental ancient pre supposition that there is a natural world or cosmos situating human life and the equally fundamental modern emphasis on human imagination and its creative power Rome's unique art history reveals a different side of the battle between ancients and moderns than that usually raised as an issue in the history of science and philosophy The book traces the idea of a cosmos in pre modern art in Rome from the reception of Greek art in the Roman republic to the construction of the Pantheon to early Christian art and architecture It then sketches the disappearance of the presupposition of a cosmos in the High Renaissance and Baroque periods as creativity became a new ideal Through discussions of the art and architecture that defines proto modern Rome from Michelangelo's terribilità in the Sistine Chapel Caravaggio's realism Baroque illusionism the infinities of Borromini's architecture to the Grand Tour's representations of ruins through an interpretation of such major issues and works this book shows how modern art liberates us while leaving us feeling estranged from our grounding in the natural world The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history architectural history classics philosophy and early modern history and culture "Art, Technology and Nature " Camilla Skovbjerg

Paldam, 2017-07-05 Since 1900 the connections between art and technology with nature have become increasingly inextricable Through a selection of innovative readings by international scholars this book presents the first investigation of the intersections between art technology and nature in post medieval times Transdisciplinary in approach this volume's 14 essays explore art technology and nature's shifting constellations that are discernible at the micro level and as part of a larger chronological pattern Included are subjects ranging from Renaissance wooden dolls science in the Italian art academies and artisanal epistemologies in the followers of Leonardo to Surrealism and its precursors in Mannerist grotesques and the Wunderkammer eighteenth century plant printing the climate and its artistic presentations from Constable to Olafur Eliasson and the hermeneutics of bioart In their comprehensive introduction editors Camilla Skovbjerg Paldam and Jacob Wamberg trace the Kantian heritage of radically separating art and technology and inserting both at a distance to nature suggesting this was a transient chapter in history Thus they argue the present renegotiation between art technology and nature is reminiscent of the ancient and medieval periods in which art and technology were categorized as aspects of a common area of cultivated products and their methods the Latin ars the Greek techne an area moreover supposed to imitate the creative forces of nature New curiosities in art and nature: or, a Collection of the most valuable secrets in all arts and sciences; as appears by the contents. Composed and experimented by the Sieur Lemery ... Translated into English from the seventh edition ... Illustrated with cuts. To which is added a supplement by the translator Nicolas LÉMERY, 1711 Art, Religion and Resistance in (Post-)Communist Romania Maria Alina Asavei, 2020-10-22 This book illuminates the interconnections between politics and religion through the lens of artistic production exploring how art inspired by religion functioned as a form of resistance directed against both Romanian national communism 1960 1989 and latterly consumerist society and its global market It investigates the critical tactical and subversive employments of religious motifs and themes in contemporary art pieces that confront the religious affair in post communist Romania In doing so it addresses a key gap in previous scholarship which has paid little attention to the relationship between religious art and political resistance in communist Central and South East Europe Cross-Cultural Issues in Art Steven Leuthold, 2010-12-16

This book provides an engaging introduction to aesthetic concepts expanding the discussion beyond the usual Western theorists and Western examples The Voice of Nature in Ted Hughes's Writing for Children Lorraine Kerslake, 2018-06-12

 Despite the fame Ted Hughes's poetry has achieved there has been surprisingly little critical writing on his children's literature This book identifies the importance of Hughes's children's writing from an ecocritical perspective and argues that the healing function that Hughes ascribes to nature in his children's literature is closely linked to the development of his own sense of environmental responsibility This book will be the first sustained examination of Hughes's greening in relation to his writing for children providing a detailed reading of Hughes's children's literature through his poetry prose and drama as well as his critical essays and letters In addition it also explores how Hughes's children's writing is a window to the poet's own emotional struggles as well as his environmental consciousness and concern to reconnect a society that has become alienated from nature This book will be of great interest to not only those studying Ted Hughes but also students and scholars of environment and literature ecocriticism children's literature and twentieth century literature Greenland in Art Emanuel A Petersen Cristina Berna, Eric Thomsen, 2025-04-04 Emanuel Aage Petersen born Aage Emanuel Petersen on February 18 1894 in Copenhagen died December 27 1948 in Farum He was a Danish painter best known for his Greenlandic motifs In 1921 he was in Greenland Enthusiastic about the island he returned to Greenland every year from 1923 to 1926 From 1928 to 1930 he undertook an art expedition which was financed by Gr nlands Styrelse and the Danish state The depiction of Greenland became his life's purpose He created between 2000 and 3000 paintings in the course of his life His depictions of the country's nature were initially characterized by very detailed porcelain painting but later he began to paint in a more stylized manner Emanuel Aage Petersen paid particular attention to the play of colors and the depiction of weather conditions and he always painted good weather In addition to landscapes he also painted villages and everyday situations of the population although these were not always true to life and were always seen from a great distance He created both watercolors and oil paintings In the early 1930s he travelled to Paris and Rome among other places to present his works at colonial exhibitions His paintings were also shown in Sweden and Great Britain during this period He returned to Greenland in 1935 as well as in 1937 and again after the end of the war in 1946 He died two years later at the age of 54 Eight lectures delivered to the students of the Royal Academy George Clausen, 2018-01-16 George Clausen delivers these eight lectures to the students of The Royal Academy of Arts about the aims and ideals of art He includes the truth to nature and style within art and explores the imagination and taste in drawing and using colour Art and Theory of Art Rudolf Steiner, 2021-10-19 An Author's Summary 1888 Four Essays Written between 1890 and 1898 Eight Lectures between 1909 and 1921 CW 271 The challenge of saying something about art was personal for Rudolf Steiner He experienced it as deeply connected with his biography It is not for nothing that in the last lecture of this volume he points to his repeated attempts to develop a new approach and new forms of expression for speaking about art We find at least three forms of this attempted approach in this book Zvi Szir from the introduction The subject practice and vital importance of art was a thread that ran through Rudolf Steiner's life from his early work as a scholar of Goethe through his time as an editor of a literary and arts journal in Berlin in the 1890s and to his two and a half decades as a spiritual researcher and teacher. Understanding and articulating the significance of art was a perennial challenge for Rudolf Steiner. This volume of Steiner's Collected Works is unique in that it showcases a survey of both early written works and later lectures to anthroposophic audiences and in doing so presents a picture of a lifetime of intensive effort to convey something essential about the arts. Beginning with his early philosophical work and literary criticism at the end of the nineteenth century and on into his later lectures, this volume follows Steiner's endeavor to reveal in words the mystery obscured by the vague concept of what art is. Viewed as a whole, this volume forms one of the most provocative collections of the twentieth century on the subject of art. It offers a unique analysis of the origin, foundation, and method of the creative process. This book is a translation of Kunst und Kunsterkenntnis: Grundlagen einer neuen Ästhetik, 3rd edition, published by Rudolf Steiner Verlag, Dornach, Switzerland, 2010, GA 271.

Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies Catrin Gersdorf, Sylvia Mayer, 2006. Nature in Literary and Cultural Studies is a collection of essays written by European and North American scholars who argue that nature and culture can no longer be thought of in oppositional, mutually exclusive terms. They are united in an effort to push the theoretical limits of ecocriticism towards a more rigorous investigation of nature's critical potential as a concept that challenges modern culture's philosophical assumptions, epistemological convictions, aesthetic principles, and ethical imperatives. This volume offers scholars and students of literature, culture, history, philosophy, and linguistics new insights into the ongoing transformation of ecocriticism into an innovative force in international and interdisciplinary literary and cultural studies.

Education in the Industrial and Fine Arts in the United States Isaac Edward Clarke, 1892. Ecological Thought in German Literature and Culture Gabriele Duerbeck, Urte Stobbe, Hubert Zapf, Evi Zemanek, 2017-10-16. The volume offers a survey of the contribution of German literature and culture to the evolution of ecological thought. As the field of ecocritical theory and practice is rapidly expanding towards transnational and global dimensions, it seems nevertheless necessary to consider the distinct manifestations of ecological thought in various cultures. In this sense, the volume demonstrates in twenty-six essays from different disciplines how German literature, philosophy, art, and science have contributed in unique ways to the emergence of ecological thought on national and transnational scale. The volume maps the most important and characteristic of these developments both on a theoretical and on a textual-analytical level. It is structured in five parts: ranging from proto-ecological thought since early modern times (part I) to major theoretical approaches (part II), environmental history (part III), and ecocritical case studies (part IV) to ecological visions in different media and art forms (part V). The four editors have widely published and are actively involved in ecocritical literary and cultural studies. The group of editors consists of two scholars of German literature and cultural studies: Gabriele Duerbeck and Urte Stobbe, both University of Vechta; a scholar in German and comparative literature: Evi Zemanek, University of Freiburg; as well as a scholar of Anglo-American ecoliterature and ecocriticism Hubert Zapf All of them are involved in various projects and research networks on ecology and literature The contributors of the individual chapters likewise are all experts in their respective fields ranging from German literature history environmental studies art history music and art The book is a unique and readily accessible collection of essays that is of relevance not only for a German and continental European but for a worldwide audience
