Women and the Nigeria-Biafra War Sussie U.

Aham-Okoro, Gloria Chuku, 2020-10-07 This first comprehensive study of the Nigeria Biafra War 1967-1970 through the lens of gender explores the valiant and gallant ways women carried out old and new responsibilities in wartime and immediate postwar Nigeria The book presents women as embodiments of vulnerability and agency who demonstrated remarkable resilience and initiative waging war on all fronts in the face of precarious conditions and scarcities and maximizing opportunities occasioned by the hostilities Women's experiences are highlighted through critical analyses of oral interviews memoirs life histories fashion and material culture international legal conventions music as well as governmental and non governmental sources The book fills the gap in the war scholarship that has minimized women's complex experiences fifty years after the hostilities ended It highlights the cost of the conflict on Nigerian women their participation in the hostilities and their contributions to the survival of families communities and the country The chapters present counter narratives to fictional and nonfictional accounts of the war especially those written by men which often peripheralize or stereotypically represent women as passive spectators or helpless victims of the conflict and also highlight and exaggerate women's moral laxity and sensationalize their marital infidelities

Women Medical Doctors in the United States Before the Civil War Edward C. Atwater, 2016 An invaluable reference work chronicling the lives of over 200 women who received medical degrees in the United States before the Civil War This groundbreaking reference work contains brief biographical articles for over two hundred women most of them little known who graduated from schools of medicine in the United States before the Civil War The volume includes an introductory essay examining the social and religious backgrounds of the women graduates as well as their motivations for becoming physicians and their varying degrees of success as practitioners In addition the essay offers information on what physician training and practice were like during the period as well as on the need for reform that provided a setting for women's entry into the profession The biographical entries are supplemented by a chronological table of female medical graduates and a geographical table indicating the places in which they practiced Edward C. Atwater is emeritus professor of medicine and the history of medicine at the University of Rochester School of Medicine

North Carolina Women Michele Gillespie, Sally G. McMillen, 2014 This first of two volumes on North Carolina women chronicles the influence and accomplishments of individual women from the pre Revolutionary period through the early 20th century They represent a range of social and economic backgrounds political stances areas of influence and geographical regions within the state Even though North Carolina remained mostly rural until well into the twentieth century and the lives of most women centered on farm family and church Gillespie and McMillen note that the state's people exhibited a progressive streak that positively influenced women Public funds were set aside to advance statewide education private efforts after the Civil War led to the founding of numerous black schools and colleges and in 1891 the General Assembly chartered the State Normal and Industrial School later UNC-G as one of the first publicly funded colleges for white women By the late 19th century as several essays in this volume reveal education played a pivotal role in the lives of many white and black women It inspired their activism and involvement in a world beyond their traditional domestic sphere The Pacesetter Jerry M. Fisher, 1998 SPORTS Carl G Fisher was an early 20th century entrepreneur whose energy and gift for promotion carried him through a number of very successful and historically noteworthy ventures He created the famed Indianapolis Motor Speedway and its annual 500 mile race and he was the motivating and organizing force behind the Lincoln Highway the nation's first transcontinental road Fisher seems best known as the primary developer of Miami Beach then little more than a tropical swamp He similarly began to develop Montauk Long Island before going bankrupt during the Great Depression This portrait was written by a Fisher relative to offset a general lack of biographical information about him Fisher's first wife Jane wrote an earlier biography Fabulous Hoosier Extensively researched it gives significant detail about Fisher's projects yet at times it reads too much like a mere gathering of facts Nonetheless Fisher's achievements deserve to be documented Libraries in Indiana and South Florida ought to have this title as should those with collections about American entrepreneurs David B Van De Streek Pennsylvania State Univ Libs York Development In Theory And Practice Jan Knippers Black, 2018-02-12 As wealthy countries focus more attention on the ravages of poverty and maldistribution of the world's resources the rationales for what is or is not done in the name of development have become more elaborate and abstract And as the literature has proliferated communication among those who approach development from different perspectives disciplines and professions has become more strained In this innovative text Jan Black argues that what is missing is appropriate theory that can help place the findings of social scientists and seasoned development practitioners at the service of those who would promote a more equitable and empowering approach to development In the first section the author presents the differing and even contradictory definitions of development and the various explanatory models and means of measurement associated with them This is followed by an analysis of the evolution of development strategies and programs both of the First World donor countries and organizations and of Third World leaders movements and regional organizations The author highlights key issues in the development debate of the 1990s including ecology refugees debt the informal sector and gender roles In a final section she addresses the process of development and illustrates through a number of vignettes and case studies the sometimes illusory links between motives and consequences The second edition includes more paradoxes and case studies and increased coverage of refugees and indigenous peoples More information on the new states in post Soviet East and Central Europe is also incorporated At a time when theoreticians and practitioners appear to occupy different worlds and speak different languages and when a large number of developing countries seem to be falling into an irreversible cycle of debt and dependency this book is particularly welcome and compelling Eating Bitterness Kimberley Ens Manning, Felix Wemheuer, 2011-01-01 When the Chinese Communist Party assumed power Mao Zedong declared that not even one person shall die of hunger A little over a decade later China was in the midst of the most devastating famine in modern history Between 1957 and 1962 the years commonly associated with Mao's Great Leap Forward some 30 million peasants died of starvation and exhaustion Rather than exploring why party leaders stumbled so badly in their attempts to modernize China the contributors to this landmark collection draw on newly available sources to show how men and women in rural and urban settings experienced the changes during this period Eating Bitterness lifts the curtain of officially propagated images of mass mobilization to expose the uneven and deeply contested nature of state society relations in Maoist China It also illuminates the role that history writing and memory have played in shaping narratives of the recent past
