Sletmo, 2019-04-01 In GATT negotiations over the past several years the United States a founding member of the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation Forum has been pushing hard for a global liberalization of trade in services This development would have special significance for the Pacific because of the intensifying competition between the United States and Japan for market shares A comprehensive analysis of the service sector s role in that dynamic region is offered in this timely volume Leading experts explore how service enterprises have affected trade in goods and transnational manufacturing forming a regional pattern of interdependence The authors assess each service sector from a regional perspective and offer detailed individual country studies as well The concluding chapters provide a broad overview of corporate strategies discuss questions of regional cooperation and identify opportunities for new regional service enterprises a negotiating style reflecting the US regulatory approach to international trade and also as a geo political strategy of the US for supporting its strategic rebalancing towards Asia From both economic and geo political perspectives the TPP has various significant implications for China and India that are examined in the book This book sheds light on how China and India s entries in the TPP are mutually beneficial and how both countries can gain from the TPP by gaining preferential access to large markets and using it as an opportunity for introducing more outward oriented reforms The book also cautions that US must reconcile to the rebalancing of economic power within the grouping that will occur following the entries of China and India Otherwise the TPP and China and India might walk divergent paths and trade and regional integration in Asia Pacific may not ever converge This book will interest anyone who wishes to learn more about the TPP and its future implications and challenges and China and India s roles in global and regional trade APAIS 1994: Australian public affairs
