Davis,2014-10-17 Meet Bill Bryson in Antarctica in this engaging book by one of the world's authority on penguins Part memoir partly the research of a field biologist Professor Penguin could be called How Penguins Shaped My Life Based on journals kept during Davis's years of working with penguins in the wild the story takes readers to remote locations Antarctica the Galapagos the deserts of Chile and Peru the Falkland Islands the wild coasts of Argentina and South Africa and New Zealand Davis a world authority on penguins reveals that these box office favourites are not the cute mate for life animals we've been led to believe He also reveals that penguins are a lot like humans sometimes disturbingly so when it comes to their basic needs sex food shelter marriage family and travel Over the years that Davis studies penguins he realises that they are far more complex and nuanced than he imagines at his first encounter. They really don't deserve to be seen as so black and white. He expertly marries scientific knowledge with his own anecdotes told with humour, hard-earned knowledge and insight. He also includes stories about those who have helped advance our knowledge of penguins. Other Professor Penguins. Implicit throughout is Davis's philosophy: the more we learn about the natural world and specifically penguins, the more we learn about ourselves. And he asks: Is the isolation of Antarctica sufficient to protect penguins from us?
