Matthew Balensuela, 1994-01-01 An anonymous fourteenth century treatise that borrows heavily from the Libellus cantus mensurabilis attributed to Johannes de Muris the Ars cantus mensurabilis mensurata per modos iuris differs from others ars nova treatises in its systematic application of scholastic philosophy and allusions to medieval law Using music as the subject of inquiry the writer addresses questions that occupied scholastic philosophers in other fields such as the natural minimum of a substance and the potentia Dei absoluta The writer quotes legal maxims and alludes to medieval legal issues such as the lex regia and the Becket controversy to justify and prove the rules of music A substantial portion of the treatise was first published as Anonymous V in Edmond de Coussemaker s Scriptores de musica medii aevi where it was paired with a counterpoint treatise beginning Cum notum sit The treatise published by Coussemaker however is not the entire work From textual and manuscript evidence the Greek and Latin Music Theory edition demonstrates that a set of three figures and an introduction are related to the mensural treatise the same evidence suggests that the counterpoint treatise Cum notum sit should not be considered part of the treatise The GLMT edition presents a complete critical text for the treatise together with a facing page English translation Annotations to the translation explain the numerous legal and scholastic allusions in the treatise Also presented are corrected versions of the approximately one hundred musical figures Preceding the critical text and translation an extended introduction explains the musical and intellectual sources of the work Painting the Cannon's Roar Thomas Tolley, 2017-07-05 From c 1750 to c 1810 the paths of music history and the history of painting converged with lasting consequences The publication of Newton s Opticks at the start of the eighteenth century gave a scientific basis to the analogy between sight and sound allowing music and the visual arts to be defined more closely in relation to one another This was also a period which witnessed the emergence of a larger and increasingly receptive audience for both music and the visual arts an audience which potentially included all social strata The development of this growing public and the commercial potential that it signified meant that for the first time it became possible for a contemporary artist to enjoy an international reputation Nowhere is this better illustrated than in the career of Joseph Haydn Although this phenomenon defies conventional modes of study the book shows how musical pictorialism became a major creative force in popular culture Haydn the most popular living cultural personality of the period proved to be the key figure in advancing the new relationship The connections between the composer and his audiences and leading contemporary artists including Tiepolo Mengs Kauffman Goya David Messerschmidt Louthembourg
