The Pageantry of Britain Sir Julian Paget, 1979 The Pageant of British History J. E. Parrot, 2021-01-18 A Pageant of British Steam Geoff Swaine, 2018-10-30 A Pageant of British Steam is a book honouring the position to which Britains Heritage Steam Railways has now arrived Preservation has become the word for the achievements of the thousands of volunteers who have given up a mass of time to advance the saving of this section of Britains history Most of these people are the likely descendants of our Industrial Revolution where the skills have never been forgotten The book shows in fine color photography the wonderful selection of locomotives and rolling stock running on our preserved lines all across the country Text highlights the historical background of railway history from the earliest times right through to the end of steam in the nineteen sixties Geoff Swaine has emerged to be a leader in this field of photography be it lineside or heritage working steam His style is one of his own where the subject leaps from the page usually bathed in fine sunlight with blue sky above Informative captions accompany every picture not only targeting the novice or newcomer to the subject but the experienced rail enthusiast will also be pleased to learn a thing or two This book strongly features the historical background as well as catching some of the people who now revel in dressing the part to prove their love of this enthralling and popular subject

Colour Films in Britain Sarah Street, Keith M. Johnston, Paul Frith, Carolyn Rickards, 2021-11-18 The story of Eastmancolors arrival on the British filmmaking scene is one of intermittent trial and error intense debate and speculation before gradual acceptance This book traces the journey of its adoption in British Film and considers its lasting significance as one of the most important technical innovations in film history Through original archival research and interviews with key figures within the industry the authors examine the role of Eastmancolor in relation to key areas of British cinema since the 1950s including its economic and structural histories different studio and industrial strategies and the wider aesthetic changes that took place with the mass adoption of colour Their analysis of British cinema through the lens of colour produces new interpretations of key British film genres including social realism historical and costume drama science fiction horror crime documentary and even sex films They explore how colour communicated meaning in films ranging from the Carry On series to Monty Python s Life of Brian 1979 from Lawrence of Arabia 1962 to A Passage to India 1984 and from Goldfinger 1964 to 1984 1984 and in the work of key directors and cinematographers of both popular and art cinema including Nicolas Roeg
