

the crowd, he said: "We who have given up our homes and all that is dear to us find it hard to understand stinginess in others. Now I have some exquisite pears, which I shall freely offer to you all."

"If you have pears of your own," said one of the on-lookers, "why didn't you eat one of those?"

"Because first I need one of these pips to grow them from," said the priest. He made quick work of the pear, then took a pip in his hand and, unfastening a pick from his shoulder, made a hole in the ground several inches deep. He dropped in the pip, covered it with dirt, and asked one of the bystanders to fetch him a little boiling water, which he poured over it. All eyes were fixed upon him.

Suddenly a sprout shot up from the spot. It grew larger and larger, branched and thickened, and in a trice there was a full-grown tree laden with leaves before them. Buds appeared in rich profusion, then flowers, and finally all the branches were hung with fruit — plump, ripe, fragrant pears.

The priest began to pick them and hand them round to the crowd, until every last one was gone. Then he took his pick and began to hack away at the base of the tree. Finally it fell and he shouldered it, leaves and all, and walked quietly away.

All this time, the countryman with the cart of pears had been standing among the crowd, straining his neck to see, and forgetting all about his business. Now that the priest had disappeared from view, he turned — and saw that every last pear on his cart was gone! Instantly he realized that the pears the priest had been giving away were his.
