Indo-Muslim Painting, 1500-1800 Murad Khan Mumtaz, 2023-08-28 Islamic art is often misrepresented as an iconophobic tradition. As a result of this assumption, the polyvalence of figural artworks made for South Asian Muslim audiences has remained hidden in plain view. This book situates manuscript illustrations and album paintings within cultures of devotion and ritual shaped by Islamic intellectual and religious histories. Central to this story are the Mughal siblings Jahanara Begum and Dara Shikoh and their Sufi guide Mulla Shah. Through detailed art historical analysis supported by new translations, this study contextualizes artworks made for Indo-Muslim patrons by putting them into direct dialogue with written testimonies.

Painting with Pastels Maggie Price, 2007-05-04 Come enjoy the art of pastel painting with beloved workshop instructor Maggie Price. In this step-by-step guide, she teaches you everything you need to know to make the most of this accessible art form. From selecting the right materials to learning the fundamentals of composition, Maggie starts with the basics and progresses to 21 complete pastel demonstrations that detail specific painting techniques and effects. You'll learn how to create depth and movement with color, paint using a range of strokes, blend colors to create luminous skies, reflections, and more. Underpaint to achieve brilliant light and deep shadows. Mix pastels with watercolor and gouache to create fluid effects. Create new compositions from photographs. In addition to step-by-step guidance, you'll be inspired by the work of ten nationally renowned pastel artists. Their contributions to this book illustrate the limitless possibilities of pastel painting and offer additional insight for working with this versatile medium. Maggie also includes dozens of helpful sidebars to help you save time, avoid mistakes, and work more efficiently. With its blend of visual instruction, thorough guidance, and breathtaking artwork, this is the only guide you need to experience the joy and satisfaction of painting with pastels. Aesthetic

Hybridity in Mughal Painting, 1526-1658 Valerie Gonzalez, 2016-03-03 The first specialized critical aesthetic study to be published on the concept of hybridity in early Mughal painting, this book investigates the workings of the diverse creative forces that led to the formation of a unique Mughal pictorial language. Mughal pictoriality distinguishes itself from the Persianate models through the rationalization of the picture's conceptual structure and other visual modes of expression involving the aesthetic concept of mimesis. If the stylistic and iconographic results of this transformational process have been well identified and evidenced, their hermeneutic interpretation greatly suffers from the neglect of a methodologically updated investigation of the images' conceptual underpinning. Valerie Gonzalez addresses this lacuna by exploring the operations of cross-fertilization at the level of imagistic conceptualization resulting from the multifaceted encounter between the local legacy of Indo-Persianate book art, the freshly imported Persian models to Mughal India after 1555, and the influx of European art at the Mughal court in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. The author's close examination of the visuality, metaphysical order, and aesthetic language of Mughal imagery and portraiture sheds new light on this particular aspect of its aesthetic hybridity, which is usually approached monolithically as a historical phenomenon of cross-cultural interaction. That approach fails to consider specific parameters and features inherent to the artistic practice, such as the differences between doxis and praxis conceptualization and realization intentionality and what lies beyond it By studying the distinct phases and principles of hybridization between the variegated pictorial sources at work in the Mughal creative process at the successive levels of the project intention the practice realization and the result product the author deciphers the modalities of appropriation and manipulation of the heterogeneous elements Her unique American Drawings and Watercolors in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Kevin J. Avery, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2002 The Metropolitan Museum began acquiring American drawings and watercolors in 1880 just ten years after its founding Since then it has amassed more than 1 500 works executed by American artists during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in watercolor pastel chalk ink graphite gouache and charcoal This volume documents the draftsmanship of more than 150 known artists before 1835 and that of about 60 unidentified artists of the period It includes drawings and watercolors by such American masters as John Singleton Copley John Trumbull John Vanderlyn Thomas Cole Asher Brown Durand George Inness and James Abbott McNeill Whistler Because the 504 works illustrate such a wide range of media techniques and styles this publication is a veritable history of American drawing from the eighteenth through most of the nineteenth century Metropolitan Museum of Art website Science and Art Antonio Sgamellotti, Brunetto Giovanni Brunetti, Costanza Miliani, 2015-11-09 Science and art are increasingly interconnected in the activities of the study and conservation of works of art Science plays a key role in cultural heritage from developing new analytical techniques for studying the art to investigating new ways of preserving the materials for the future For example high resolution multispectral examination of paintings allows art historians to view underdrawings barely visible before while the use of non invasive and micro sampling analytical techniques allow scientists to identify pigments and binders that help art conservators in their work It also allows curators to understand more about how the artwork was originally painted Through a series of case studies written by scientists together with art historians archaeologists and conservators Science and Art The Painted Surface demonstrates how the cooperation between science and humanities can lead to an increased understanding of the history of art and to better techniques in conservation The examples used in the book cover paintings from ancient history Renaissance modern and contemporary art belonging to the artistic expressions of world regions from the Far East to America and Europe Topics covered include the study of polychrome surfaces from pre Columbian and medieval manuscripts the revelation of hidden images below the surface of Van Gogh paintings and conservation of acrylic paints in contemporary art Presented in an easily readable form for a large audience the book guides readers into new areas uncovered by the link between science and art The book features contributions from leading institutions across the globe including the Metropolitan Museum of Art New York Art Institute of Chicago Getty Conservation Institute Opificio delle Pietre Dure Firenze National Gallery of London Tate Britain Warsaw Academy of Fine Art and the National Gallery of Denmark as well as a chapter covering the Thangka paintings by Nobel Prize winner Richard Ernst American Watercolor in the Age of Homer and Sargent Kathleen A.
