Paintings of the British Social Scene Edward Dudley Hume Johnson,1986 British painting of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries portrays the life of the times with remarkable fidelity Leading artists devoted themselves to mirroring with unique charm and accuracy the changing tastes and concerns of their age and their work provides a record of social change within a continuing tradition unparalleled in the art of other countries Hogarth was the founder of British genre painting and perhaps its most caustic exponent combining stark realism with high comedy in his comprehensive exposure of the follies and vices of Georgian London Paintings of the British Social Scene Edward Dudley Hume Johnson,1986

JOHNSON,1986 Art of Ford Madox Brown Kenneth Bendiner,2010-11-01 This is the first comprehensive history devoted to the art of Ford Madox Brown 1821-93 in which his paintings establish him as a major figure in the most important new art movement of Victorian England Pre Raphaelitism The book presents a new explanation of the development and basic aims of Pre Raphaelite art as a whole and offers a revealing discussion of the power and importance of the humor and negative spirit that run throughout Brown's work It also ties Brown's realist approach to British decorative taste at midcentury and redefines his place in the Aesthetic Movement a cultural trend that dominated the latter half of the nineteenth century In addition the artist's socialist leanings and nationalistic tendencies expressed in depictions of workers children women and religious scenes are set out more fully than in any previous literature on the artist Historical Dictionary of Rococo Art Jennifer D. Daunton,2000 The process of urbanisation and suburbanisation in Britain from the Victorian period to the twentieth century The Victorian Period Robin Gilmour,2014-09-19 This is a thought provoking synthesis of the Victorian period focusing on the themes of science religion politics and art It examines the developments which radically changed the intellectual climate and illustrates how their manifestations permeated Victorian literature The author begins by establishing the social and institutional framework in which intellectual and cultural life developed Special attention is paid to the reform agenda of new groups which challenged traditional society and this perspective informs Gilmour s discussion throughout the book He assesses Victorian religion science and politics in their own terms and in relation to the larger cultural politics of the middle class challenge to traditionalism Familiar topics such as the Oxford Movement and Darwinism are seen afresh and those once neglected areas which are now increasingly important to modern scholars are brought into clear focus such as Victorian agnosticism the politics of gender Englishness and photography The most innovative feature of this compelling study is the prominence given to the contemporary preoccupation with time The Victorians time hauntedness emerges as the defining feature of their civilisation the remote time of geology and evolution the public time of history the private time of autobiography Reality's Dark Light Maria K. Bachman,Don Richard Cox,2003 In the midst of a Victorian culture ingrained with strict social etiquette and societal norms Wilkie Collins composed novels that contained asocial even anarchic gold but for the majority it was a harsh world with little guarantee of money or food For the poor and destitute London s streets offered little more than the barest living Yet men women and children found a great variety of ways to eke out their existence sweeping roads selling matches singing ballads and performing all sorts of menial labor Many of these activities apart from the direct begging of the disabled depended on an appeal to charity but one often mixed with threats and promises Down and Out in Eighteenth Century London provides a remarkable insight into the lives of Londoners for all of whom the demands of charity and begging were part of their everyday world

Tourism, Landscape, and the Irish Character William Williams,2012-02-24 Picturesque but poor abject yet sublime in its Gothic melancholy the Ireland perceived by British visitors during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries did not fit their ideas of progress propriety and Protestantism The rituals of Irish Catholicism the lamentations of funeral wakes the Irish language they could not comprehend even the landscapes were all strange to tourists from England Wales and Scotland Overlooking the acute despair in England s own industrial cities these travelers opined in their writings that the poverty bog lands and ill thatched houses of rural Ireland indicated moral failures of the Irish character

Conceiving the City Nicholas Freeman,2007-09-20 Conceiving the City is an innovative study of the ways in which a generation of late Victorian novelists poets painters and theoreticians attempted to represent London in literature and art Breaking away from the language and style of Dickens and the static panorama paintings of William Powell Frith major figures such as Henry James and J M Whistler and crucially less celebrated authors such as Arthur Machen Edwin Pugh and George Egerton bent realism into exciting new shapes In the naturalism of George Gissing and Arthur Morrison the fragmentary impressions of Ford Madox Ford and the brooding mystery of Alvin Langdon Coburn s photogravures London emerged as a focus for dynamic explicitly modern art Although many of these insights would be dismissed or at least downplayed by subsequent generations the ideas evolved during the period from 1870 to 1914 anticipate not only the work of high modernists such as Eliot and Woolf but also that of later urban theorists such as Foucault and de Certeau and the novels and travelogues of contemporary London writers Peter Ackroyd and Iain Sinclair Nicholas Freeman recovers a sense of late Victorian London as a subject for dynamic theoretical and aesthetic experiments and shows in stimulating analyses of Conan Doyle H G Wells Arthur Symons and others how much of our understanding of urban space we owe to eminent and not so eminent Victorian figures Written in a clear and accessible style the book restores a much needed historical perspective to our engagement with the metropolis

Catalogue of British Oil Paintings 1820-1860 Ronald Parkinson,Victoria and Albert Museum,1990 From luminaries such as J M W Turner to the all but forgotten George Travers and through the hierarchy of genres from high art to animals fruit flowers sea and landscapes the 500 pictures covered in this catalogue form about half of the V A s collection of British oil paintings

The 'perpetual fair' Anne Wohlcke,2015-11-01 Each summer a perpetual fair plagued eighteenth century London a city in transition overrun by a burgeoning population City officials attempted to control disorderly urban amusement according to their own gendered understandings of order and morality Frequently derided as locations of dangerous femininity disrupting masculine commerce fairs withstood regulation attempts Fairs were important in the lives of ordinary Londoners as sites of women's work sociability and local and national identity formation Rarely studied as vital to London's modernisation urban fairs are a microcosm of London's transforming society demonstrating how metropolitan changes were popularly contested This study contributes to our understanding of popular culture and modernisation in Britain during the formative years of its global empire Fascinating examples drawn from literary and visual culture make this an engaging study for scholars and students of late Stuart and early Georgian Britain urban and gender history World's Fairs and cultural studies Great Britain
