

The book cover features a detailed illustration of an Islamic architectural element, likely a mihrab or a niche, rendered in a style reminiscent of a tapestry or intricate tilework. The design is symmetrical and highly decorative, with a central arched opening. The colors are primarily blue, white, and gold, with some green and red accents. The background of the cover is a dark, solid color, which makes the central architectural illustration stand out. The title 'PALACE AND MOSQUE' is written in large, bold, gold-colored capital letters, centered within the dark area. Above the title, the author's name 'TIM STANLEY' is written in smaller, gold-colored capital letters. Below the title, the subtitle 'ISLAMIC ART FROM THE MIDDLE EAST' is written in smaller, gold-colored capital letters.

modern concepts of sacred and secular are shown to be effective as scholarly tools but also to risk imposing false dichotomies The authors consider medieval material culture from a broad perspective addressing works of art and architecture from England to Japan and from the seventh to the fifteenth century Although the essays take a variety of methodological approaches they are unified in their emphasis on the continuing and necessary dialectic between sacred and secular The contributors consciously frame their interpretations in terms and perspectives derived from the Middle Ages thereby demonstrating how the present art historical terminology and conceptual frameworks can obscure the complexity of medieval life and material culture The resonance among essays opens possibilities for productive cross cultural study of an issue that is relevant to a diversity of cultures and sub periods Introducing an innovative approach to the literature of the field this volume complicates and enriches our understanding of social realities across a broad spectrum of medieval worlds
