Policy Planning And Local Government:

Policy Planning and Local Government Robin Hambleton, 1978 Handbook of Local Government Administration John J. Gargan, 1996-10-11 This theoretically and experientially grounded reference provides a complete overview of the principles and applications of government administration and management practices in the local public sector. Written by over 25 distinguished academics and professionals with substantial experience as practitioners and consultants of administrative operations to local governments, the book covers the effects of environmental conditions on local administrators and management techniques to administration in different types of local government. It helps readers reduce research time by presenting advanced materials on local government administration and management in a single source. Handbook of Local Government Administration John J. Gargan, 2019-09-17 This theoretically and experientially grounded reference provides a complete overview of the principles and applications of government administration and management practices in the local public sector. Written by over 25 distinguished academics and professionals with substantial experience as practitioners and consultants of administrative operations to local governments, the book covers the effects of environmental conditions on local administrators and management techniques to administration in different types of local government. It helps readers reduce research time by presenting advanced materials on local government administration and management in a single source. Corporate and Policy Planning in Local Government, and Social Policy in Urban Planning Proceedings of the Seminars on Corporate and Policy Planning and Transport Research and Computation (International) Co, 1976 Local Plans in British Land Use Planning Patsy Healey, 2013-10-22 Local Plans in British Land Use Planning provides an analysis of the nature, purpose, and operation of development plans in British planning practice. Comprised of 10 chapters, the book discusses about the use of development plans as procedural tools used by government agencies as an element in programs for intervening in the way a land is used and developed. Chapter 1 discusses land policy, land use planning, and development plans, while Chapter 2 covers the British land policy and land use planning. Chapter 3 and 4 tackle structure and local plans respectively. The fifth chapter attempts to answer the question: Why prepare a local plan? and the next three chapters tackle local plan production, form, and content, and use. Chapter 9 covers the need of explanation regarding the planning system, and Chapter 10 discusses the recommendation to tackle the issues of the British planning system. The book will be of great interest to readers who are curious about the British planning system and in the analysis of public programs. Environmental Management and Governance Raymond Burby, Jennifer Dixon, Neil Ericksen, John Handmer, Peter May, Sarah Michaels, D. Ingle Smith, 2013-04-15 Problems for environmental management are taking on a new urgency. This book addresses aspects of environmental management that raise fundamental questions about governmental roles and the relationship of humans to the environment. It examines the interaction of local and national governments and the strengths and weaknesses of co-operative vs coercive environmental management through a focus on the management of natural hazards Leading experts in the field examine new and innovative environmental management and planning programmes with particular focus on North America and Australia This book offers a new understanding of environmental problems and explores the appropriate policy mix that must be developed for environmental management to strive towards environmental sustainability

The Reorganisation of British Local Government John Dearlove, 1979-09-20 This volume was first published in 1979 just a few years after the Local Government Act of 1972 redrew the map of British local government Local authorities were also encouraged to change their organization and methods of work anxiety was expressed about finance councillor calibre and the credibility of the whole system itself and neighbourhood councils and public participation in planning were introduced John Dearlove's aim is to make sense of these changes and the discussion they generated He does this by showing that both the official case for reorganization and the academic discussion of it have hindered their own understanding by uncritically accepting superficial traditional wisdoms which fail to reveal the concealed ideological positions behind reorganization Thus he aims to develop a truly political perspective on reorganisation which is rounded out and given greater depth by the insertion at appropriate points of comparative material drawn from American experience and studies

Local government planning for community food systems Raja, S.; Sweeney, E.; Mui, Y.; Frimpong Boamah, E., Over the last couple of decades local governments have started taking action to address food system challenges Many innovative food policies have taken place in cities in particular However despite major developments spearheaded by visionary local leaders and communities in recent years local governments in low and middle income countries LMICs continue to face major challenges in integrating food security nutrition and sustainable food systems in their agenda This publication introduces a new knowledge base for understanding food planning and governance processes and models in local governments of low and middle income countries a valuable counterbalance to the prevailing literature and experience from high income countries It provides practical insights on the needs challenges and opportunities in local food planning practice in three countries in Asia Africa and Latin America and the Caribbean Based on reported cases this publication offers a broad guiding framework and a methodology for subnational government bodies including city metropolitan regional district and parish governments that takes into consideration the uniqueness of each local context
