Competition Law and Consumer Protection

Katalin Judit Cseres,2005-01-01 The assumption that competition law and consumer protection are mutually reinforcing is rarely challenged The theory seems uncontroversial However because a positive interaction between the two is presumed to be self evident the frequent conflicts that do in fact arise are often dealt with on an ad hoc basis with no overarching legal authority There is a clear need for a detailed and coherent understanding of exactly where the complements and tensions between the two policy areas exist Dr Cseres in depth analysis provides that understanding Proceeding from the dual perspective of law and economics that is of justice fairness and reasonableness on the one hand and of efficiency of the other she fully considers such underlying issues as the following the role of competition law and consumer law in a free market economy the notion of consumer welfare the effect of the modernisation of EC competition law for consumers economics theories of information bounded rationality and transaction costs the special significance of vertical agreements and merger control and how consumers are affected by information asymmetries The ultimate focus of the book is on current and emerging EC law in which a rapprochement between the two areas seems to be under way Dr Cseres provides a knowledgeable guide to the various strands of theory policy and jurisprudence that she shows ought to be taken into account in the process including schools of thought and law and policy experience in both Europe and the United States A special chapter on Hungary where post 1989 law and practice reveal a fresh and distinctly forward looking understanding of the matter is one of the book s most extraordinary features Competition Law and Consumer Protection stands alone as a committed contribution to bridging a gap in legal knowledge the significance of which grows daily It will be of immeasurable value to a wide range of professionals from academics and researchers to officials policymakers and practitioners in competition law consumer protection advocacy economic theory and planning business administration and various pertinent government authorities

Coherence between Data Protection and Competition Law in Digital Markets Klaudia Majcher, 2023-09-28 In digital markets data protection and competition law affect each other in diverse and intricate ways Their entanglement has triggered a global debate on how these two areas of law should interact to effectively address new harms and ensure that the digital economy flourishes Coherence between Data Protection and Competition Law in Digital Markets offers a blueprint for bridging the disconnect between data protection and competition law and ensuring a coherent approach towards their enforcement in digital markets Specifically this book focuses on the evolution of data protection and competition law their underlying rationale their key features and common objectives and provides a series of examples to demonstrate how the same empirical phenomena in digital markets pose a common challenge to protecting personal data and promoting market competitiveness A panoply of theoretical and empirical commonalities between these two fields of law as this volume shows are barely mirrored in the legal enforcement policy and institutional approaches in the EU and beyond where the silo approach continues to prevail The ideas that Majcher puts forward for a more synergetic integration of data protection and competition law are anchored in the concept of sectional coherence This new coherence centred paradigm reimagines the interpretation and enforcement of data protection and competition law as mutually cognizant and reciprocal allowing readers to explore in an innovative way the interface between these legal fields and identify positive interactions instead of merely addressing inconsistencies and tensions This book reflects on the conceptual practical institutional and constitutional implications of the transition towards coherence and the relevance of its findings for other jurisdictions

Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement Maria Ioannidou, 2015-09-03 Despite the growing importance of consumer welfare in EU competition law debates there remains a significant disconnect between rhetoric and reality as consumers and their interests still play only an ancillary role in this area of law Consumer Involvement in Private EU Competition Law Enforcement is the first monograph to exclusively address this highly topical and much debated subject providing a timely and wide ranging examination of the need for more active consumer participation in competition law Written by an expert in the field it sets out a comprehensive framework of policy implications and arguments for greater involvement positioning the debate in the context of a broader EU law perspective It outlines pragmatic approaches to remedial and procedural measures that would enable consumer empowerment Finally the book identifies key institutional and political obstacles to the adoption of effective measures and suggests alternative routes to enhance the role of consumers in private competition law enforcement The book's innovative approach combining

EU Competition Law, the Consumer Interest and Data Protection Federico Ferretti,2014-07-24 The legitimacy or illegitimacy of information exchanges between competitors remains a topical debate with regard to EU competition law and policy This book reexamines the issue in the retail financial services sector focusing on the peculiar problems that it poses for EU market integration consumer policy and protection and the intersection with fundamental rights It analyzes and reflects on the relevant case law and guidelines offered by the corresponding European authorities providing a critique of the current approach and advancing the proposition that information markets themselves need attention in addition to the markets that they serve The book also advances new perspectives on cases in which consumers personal information is involved in the exchange recognizing the inevitable interaction between EU competition law the interests and protection of consumers and personal data protection It suggests that the status quo under competition law is unsatisfactorily short sighted and that the EU should take a holistic approach including information markets to the analysis of competition law reflecting consumer protection and fundamental rights aspects in the assessment has failed The second revised and enlarged edition of this volume retains its title nonetheless Building on a scholarly rather than black letter law account it shows European constitutional law as it looks following the Treaty of Lisbon with the EU s foundational treaties mandating the exercise of public authority establishing a hierarchy of norms and legitimising legal acts providing for citizenship and granting fundamental rights In this way the treaties shape the relations between legal orders between public interest regulation and market economy and between law and politics The contributions demonstrate in detail how a constitutional approach furthers understanding of the core issues of EU law how it offers theoretical and doctrinal insights and how it adds critical perspective From Reviews of the First Edition should be mandatory reading for anyone who wants to get a holistic perspective of the academic debate on Europe s constitutional foundations It is impossible to present the richness of thought contained in the 833 pages of the book in a short review Common Market Law Review an enduring scholarly work which gives an English speaking audience important and overdue access to the long standing and forever vigorous traditions of European constitutional law unhesitatingly recommended European Law Journal real scholarship in the profound sense of the word K Lenaerts Professor of European Law Leuven Yale Law Journal: Volume 121, Number 8 - June 2012 Yale Law Journal, 2012-06-02 This issue of The Yale Law Journal the 8th issue of Volume 121 academic year 2011 2012 features articles and essays by several notable scholars Principal contributors include leading scholars in their fields Contributions includes articles by Ian Ayers on opt out provisions and an economic theory of rule altering and by James Greiner and Cassandra Pattanayak on randomized evaluation in legal assistance as well as an essay by Joshua Wright on the dichotomy between antitrust policy and consumer protection Student work explores discovery law after recent changes in pretrial dismissal standards a proposal for a fair mandatory arbitration scheme fair notice provisions and corporate purposes in light of the Craigslist eBay litigation This is the final issue for volume 121 the June 2012 issue

Principles of European Constitutional Law Armin von Bogdandy,Jürgen Bast,2009-12-03 For the time being the political project of basing the European Union on a document entitled Constitution

Reforming Corporate Retail Investor Protection Diane Bugeja, 2019-12-12 The spate of mis selling episodes that have plagued the financial services industries in recent years has caused widespread detriment to investors Notwithstanding numerous regulatory interventions curtailing the incidence of poor investment advice remains a challenge for regulators particularly because these measures are taken in a fire fighting fashion without adequate consideration being given to the root causes of mis selling Against this backdrop this book focuses on the sale of complex investment products to corporate retail investors by drawing upon the widespread mis selling of interest rate hedging products IRHP in the UK and beyond It brings to the fore the relatively understudied field concerning the different degrees of investor protection mechanisms applicable to individual retail investors as opposed to corporate retail investors by taking stock of past regulatory reforms and forthcoming regulatory initiatives as well as more importantly the conclusions reached by the judiciary in IRHP mis selling claims The conclusions are particularly interesting corporate retail investors are in a vulnerable position when compared to individual retail investors The former are exposed to a heightened risk of mis selling meaning that regulatory intervention should be targeted accordingly The recommendations made as a result of these findings are further supported by insights emerging from behavioural law and economic theories This book is aimed at researchers lawyers and students with an interest in the financial regulation field who are keen to explore potential regulatory reforms to the investment services regime that address the root causes of mis selling and restore a level playing field amongst all retail investors time whilst the application of competition rules has over the years been focusing on restrictions to the competitive process with the effect of harming consumers a wave of cases recently brought or decided at EU and national level appear to be inspired by wide and somewhat elusive fairness considerations including non discrimination neutrality equality of opportunities natural justice or avoidance of abuse of law Reference can be made to cases relating to product design IP licensing geo blocking network neutrality privacy concerns or fiscal justice This volume explores how fairness may guide competition enforcement what its significance may be in explaining recent trends and actual outcomes and what implications can be observed or expected by relying on a fairness standard in the design of substantive principles Associating lawyers and economists practitioners and academics it discusses the boundaries of fairness in a world where the rationality of markets has been profoundly shaken by recent crises
