having a significantly varied impact across the region In the modern globalised world there is growing need to adopt an outward looking approach in dealing with matters of common interest This book answers this need by bringing together leading legal scholars and practitioners in the region to explore the theory and practice of trusts law contextualised to specific jurisdictions in the Asia Pacific Exploring 17 jurisdictions in Asia it bring both an academic and practitioner perspective to trusts law in the region Property and Protection Frank Meisel,Peter J Cook,2000-12 This book dedicated to Brian Harvey brings new insights to issues of property law consumer protection auction sales and tax Women's Land Rights & Privatization in Eastern Africa Birgit Englert,Elizabeth Daley,2008 This collection examines women s land rights in East Africa in the context of land tenure reforms and privatization Equality in Asia-Pacific Phil C. W. Chan,2014-02-04 In 1948 the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed the Universal Declaration of Human Rights stating every human being s right of equality in dignity and right However notwithstanding recognition by the international community of its importance and codification in numerous national and sub national constitutions and legislation reinforced by various multilateral and regional human rights treaties the right of equality continues to be unable to take complete firm hold in all regions and countries Evidence as presented by the insightful papers in this collection published initially as a Special Double Issue of The International Journal of Human Rights dedicated to exploring the place of equality in Asia Pacific societies suggests that although progress is being made the right of equality has not yet fully materialized both in law and in reality in the world s most populous region Many factors particularly entrenched cultural heritage and practices the lingering effects of colonialism and newly found independence and above all pervasive ignorance and prejudices continue to impede the recognition development and protection of equality in this region Of course equality a normative right and entitlement by virtue of our humanity has neither been fully achieved in societies outside the region Such neo colonial thinking in fact perpetuates and assists in the subjugation of the right of equality in the Asia Pacific Region as a matter of relevance and concern only to Western countries Accordingly we hope that our discussions will also be able to shed light and generate reflections on realities outside the region as interlinked with our aim The Editor s book fee has been donated to the UNICEF Tsunami Fund This book was previously published as a special issue of The International Journal of Human Rights Rights of Women Shraddha Verma,2023-07-08 Rights of Women Helping Women Through Law is an empowering book that sheds light on the legal rights and protections available to women Authored by Shraddha Verma this informative guide aims to educate and empower women by providing valuable insights into various aspects of the law that directly impact their lives From addressing gender based discrimination and harassment to navigating issues related to marriage divorce child custody and workplace rights Verma covers a wide range of topics The book provides practical advice case studies and resources to help women understand their legal rights seek justice and make informed decisions With a compassionate and supportive approach Verma encourages women to assert their rights and overcome legal challenges This book serves as a valuable

Women, Violence and Social Change R. Emerson Dobash, Russell P. Dobash, 2003-12-16

Demonstrates how refuges and shelters stand at the core of the battered women s movement and how the movement has challenged the police courts and social services to provide greater assistance to women in both Britain and the US World Development Report 2012 World Bank, 2011-09-01 This year s World Development Report looks at facts and trends regarding the various dimensions of gender equality in the context of the development process World Development Report 2012

The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank The International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / The World Bank, 2011-09-28 The lives of women around the world have improved dramatically at a pace and scope difficult to imagine even 25 years ago Women have made unprecedented gains in rights education health and access to jobs and livelihoods More countries than ever guarantee equal rights in property marriage and other domains Gender gaps in primary schooling have closed in many countries while in a third of all countries girls now outnumber boys in secondary school And more young women than men attend universities in 60 countries Women are using their education to participate more in the labor force they now make up for 40 percent of the global labor force and 43 percent of its farmers Moreover women now live longer than men in every region of the world Despite the progress gaps remain in many areas Women are more likely to die relative to males in many low and middle income countries than their counterparts in rich countries especially in childhood and during their reproductive years Primary and secondary school enrollments for girls remain much lower than for boys in many Sub Saharan African countries and some parts of South Asia as well as among disadvantaged populations Women are more likely than men to work as unpaid family laborers or in the informal sector to farm smaller plots and grow less profitable crops operate in smaller firms and less profitable sectors and generally earn less Women especially poor women have less say over decisions and less control over household resources And in most countries fewer women participate in formal politics than men and are underrepresented in the upper echelons The World Development Report 2012 Gender Equality and Development argues that closing these persistent gender gaps matters It matters because gender equality is a core development objective in its own right But it is also smart economics Greater gender equality can enhance productivity improve development outcomes for the next generation and make institutions more representative Building on a growing body of knowledge on the economics of gender equality and development the Report identifies the areas where gender gaps are most significant both intrinsically and in terms of their potential development payoff and where growth alone cannot solve the issues It then sets forth four priorities for public action Reducing excess female mortality and closing education gaps where they remain Improving access to economic opportunities for women Increasing women s voice and agency in the household and in society Limiting the reproduction of gender inequality across generations
