Protest Businesses Mobilising Campaign:

The Protest Business? Grant Jordan, William A. Maloney, 1997-06-15 This study's main concern is to examine why people chose to join campaigning groups such as Friends of the Earth or Amnesty in preference to political parties Particular emphasis is given to environmental campaign groups

Insiders versus Outsiders Andreas Dür, Gemma Mateo, 2016-07-07 What explains differences in the lobbying behaviour of interest groups And what consequences do these differences have for the access that interest groups can gain to decision makers and the influence that they can exert on policy outcomes Building on an unprecedented amount of empirical evidence on lobbying in Europe this book puts forward a distinction between lobbying insiders and lobbying outsiders Lobbying insiders most prominently business interests try to establish direct contacts with decision makers enjoy good access to executive institutions and manage to shape policy outcomes when mobilizing the public on an issue is difficult Lobbying outsiders in particular citizen groups such as consumer environmental or health non governmental organizations put greater emphasis on mobilizing the public or changing public attitudes find it easier to gain access to legislative decision makers and have the greatest impact on outcomes on issues that are amenable to an outside lobbying campaign The book shows that a single argument building on group type as the main variable can explain variation across interest groups in their choice of strategy their access to decision makers and the conditions under which they can exert influence The existence of lobbying insiders and lobbying outsiders has important implications for both our understanding of political decision making and the normative appraisal of contemporary democracy

Protest Campaigns, Media and Political Opportunities Jonathan Cable, 2016-09-21 The attention paid to protest groups and social movements has rarely been higher be it the Occupy movement austerity protests or student demonstrations These formations are under continual scrutiny by academics the press and politicians who are all attempting to interpret and understand protest groups their tactics demands and their wider influence on society Protest Campaigns Media and Political Opportunities takes an in depth look at three different protest groups including a community campaign environmental direct action activists and a mass demonstration It offers a broad perspective of each group through a comprehensive combination of insider stories from activists the authors own involvement with one group newspaper coverage each group's social media websites and leaflets and government documents This wealth of material is pieced together to provide compelling narratives for each group's campaign from the inception of their protest messages and actions through media coverage and into political discourse This book provides a vibrant contribution to debates around the communication and protest tactics employed by protest groups and the significance news media has on advancing their campaigns

Consensus Decision Making, Northern Ireland and Indigenous Movements Patrick G. Coy, 2003 Presents a study of social movement decision making through seven case studies This book focuses on Northern Ireland where frustration with inter community conflict resolution spawned a movement promoting intra community or single tradition programs

Radical Space Debra Benita Shaw, Maggie Humm, 2016-03-24 The spatial turn in the Humanities and Social Sciences has produced a considerable body of work which re assesses space beyond the fixed Cartesian co ordinates of Modernity and the nation state In the process space has been revealed as a productively contested concept with methodological implications across and between disciplines The resulting understandings of space as fluid changeable and responsive to the situation of bodies both human and non human has prepared the ground for radical concepts and uses of space with implications for how we conceive of contemporary lived reality Rather than conceiving of bodies as constantly rendered docile within the spaces of the post industrial nation state Radical Space reveals how activists and artists have deployed these theoretical tools to examine and contest spatial practice Bringing together contributions from academics across the humanities and social sciences together with creative artists this dynamically multidisciplinary collection demonstrates this radicalization of space through explorations of environmental camps new explorations of psychogeography creative interventions in city space and mapping the extra terrestrial onto the mundane spaces of everyday existence

The End Of Globalization Alan Rugman, 2012-09-30 Professor Alan Rugman is one of the world s leading academics in the field of international business and strategy In The End of Globalization he argues that we are currently witnessing the end of globalization and draws on new research and analysis to argue that globalization never really happened anyway Like Bartlett and Ghoshal s Managing Across Borders this book is aimed at the market of practitioners and policy makers not academics and theoreticians showing them what the current state of the global economy means for them Global business is dominated by the 500 largest multinational enterprises MNEs out of a total of 30 000 MNEs altogether The 500 MNEs that are the engines of international business think regional and act local Using analysis drawn from world leading companies Professor Rugman looks in detail at the managerial implications of the end of globalization including in depth discussion of corporate strategies organizational structures and analytical methods Politics at the Edge Chris Pierson,S. Tormey,2016-02-16

Politics at the Edge was the theme of the 1999 PSA Annual Conference This volume brings together nearly twenty of the liveliest most thoughtful and original papers from some two hundred presented at the conference The major traditional strengths of British political science are well represented with papers on parties political theory and the history of political thought but so too are less familiar areas such as the politics of Latin America and the politics of poststructuralism Distinguished contributors include Agnes Heller David Held Mahdi Elmandjra Andrew Dobson Andrew Vincent and Richard Sakwa Interest Group Politics in Europe Jan Beyers,Rainer Eising,William A. Maloney,2013-09-13 Interest organizations have always assumed a prominent place in European politics because they link states with citizens institutionalize the resolution of social conflicts regulate important sectors of the economy and society contribute to workable policy outcomes and socialize members into democratic politics However the plethora of interest group studies that exist have not consolidated our understanding of these actors These analyses have been subject to the vagaries of different theoretical perspectives and vary greatly in their conceptual and methodological frameworks Consequently a not always complementary and fragmented series of findings has emerged This book is a systematic and comprehensive effort at investigating and integrating the state of the art in European interest group research Combining the analysis of interest group politics in the EU with the comparative study of interest organizations the book seeks to identify the areas about which there is consolidated knowledge that are marked by controversies in which considerable uncertainty exists that have been omitted from research programs and that ought to be part of future studies Thereby it provides a general reflection on how the study of interest group politics can be improved by linking it to the comparative study of governance This book was published as a special issue of West European Politics Understanding Political Participation Lynn Bennie,2017-05-15 Developing a framework of analysis which enables a detailed empirical investigation of Scottish Green Party membership this is a detailed assessment of why people become members of a green party The questions are particularly relevant in the light of declining political participation Lynn Bennie responds to the gap in the literature on green and small parties and builds on the work of other researchers who have used similar methods to explore membership of the larger parties The volume incorporates an extensive review of participation literature details the history of the Scottish Green Party documents extensive survey data of party members and develops an understanding of motivations behind membership of a green party It will prove ideal for courses on political behaviour and green politics and be of interest to sociologists and political science researchers
