Weinstein, 2005 Weinstein explores the modernist commitment to unknowing by addressing the work of three experimental writers Franz Kafka Marcel Proust William Faulkner Intimate Domain Martha J. Reineke, 2014-10-01 For Ren Girard human life revolves around mimetic desire which regularly manifests itself in acquisitive rivalry when we find ourselves wanting an object because another wants it also Noting that mimetic desire is driven by our sense of inadequacy or insufficiency Girard arrives at a profound insight our desire is not fundamentally directed toward the other's object but toward the other's being We perceive the other to possess a fullness of being we lack Mimetic desire devolves into violence when our quest after the being of the other remains unfulfilled So pervasive is mimetic desire that Girard describes it as an ontological illness In Intimate Domain Reineke argues that it is necessary to augment Girard's mimetic theory if we are to give a full account of the sickness he describes Attending to familial dynamics Girard has overlooked and reclaiming aspects of his early theorizing on sensory experience Reineke utilizes psychoanalytic theory to place Girard's mimetic theory on firmer ground Drawing on three exemplary narratives Proust's In Search of Lost Time Sophocles's Antigone and Julia Kristeva's The Old Man and the Wolves the author explores familial relationships Together these narratives demonstrate that a corporeal hermeneutics founded in psychoanalytic theory can usefully augment Girard's insights thereby ensuring that mimetic theory remains a definitive resource for all who seek to understand humanity's ontological illness and identify a potential cure Time and Sense Julia Kristeva, 2025-01-14 Julia Kristeva's Time and Sense is a major reassessment of Marcel Proust and In Search of Lost Time Not only a meditation on Proust it is also a commentary on how the experience of literature is manifested in time and sensation Kristeva uses Proust as a starting point to reflect on broader notions of character time sensation metaphor and history Feminist Philosophy of Religion Pamela Sue Anderson, Beverley Clack, 2004 Feminist Philosophy of Religion Critical Readings brings together key new writings in this growing field

Ricci,2017-09-08 The present work is a study in the history of an enduring idea that defines the inner life of the mind and also supplied a substratum for the twentieth century literary imagination and substance for philosophical thinking producing a unique alliance between philosophy and literature This special union was forged by a new holistic conception of time which supplemented and even supplanted the conventional sense of chronological time This temporal turn animated the existential insights of Husserl Heidegger and Bergson but it was grounded in nineteenth century advances in the biological sciences the hegemony of Hegelianism and even stretched back to Augustine s early meditation on time in Book XI of his Confessions In linking together a set of thinkers who addressed this form of temporal consciousness Gabriel R Ricci illuminates a common intellectual preoccupation from the vantage point of a concept The authors do not together assemble the thought it is the thought that produced a collective voice This voice appears in the episodes outlined in each chapter and they are framed by an introduction which explores Joseph Frank s insights into the new spatial forms in literature and an epilogue which resurrects J W Dunne s peculiar dream experiments and theory of precognition Ricci employs Frank s seminal essay to draw comparisons between literature s adaptation of the new time sense and philosophy s expression of the new compatibility between space and time Dunne s theory serves to demonstrate the continuity between literary form and philosophical speculation Transcendence and Phenomenology University of Nottingham. Glen A. Mazis, 2016-09-21 Assesses Merleau Ponty's contribution to ethics as calling for a poetic interplay between perception and imagination and between silence and solidarity that reveals our place in the world and our obligations to ourselves and others Before his death in 1961 Merleau Ponty worried about what he saw as humanity's increasingly self enclosed and manipulative way of experiencing self others and the world the consequences of which remain apparent in our destructive inability to connect with others within and across cultures In Merleau Ponty and the Face of the World Glen A

Mazis provides an overall consideration of Merleau Ponty's philosophy that brings out what he sees as a corrective prescription for ethical reorientation that is fundamental to Merleau Ponty's thought. Mazis begins by analyzing the key role that silence plays for Merleau Ponty as a positive powerful presence rather than a lack or emptiness and then builds on this to explore the ethical significance of the face to face encounter in his thought as one of solidarity rather than obligation. In the last part of the book Mazis traces the development of what he calls physiognomic imagination in Merleau Ponty's work. This understanding of imagination is not fancy or make believe but rather brings out the depths of perceptual meaning and leads to an appreciation of poetic language as the key to revitalizing both ethics and ontology. Drawing on Merleau Ponty's published works, lecture notes, unpublished writings and the work of many phenomenologists and Merleau Ponty scholars, Mazis also offers incisive readings of Merleau Ponty's work as it relates to that of Antoine de Saint Exupéry, Gaston Bachelard and Emmanuel Levinas. Merleau-Ponty at the Limits of Art, Religion, and Perception Kascha Semonovitch, Neal DeRoo, 2010-05-20. A timely and important collection of essays examining Merleau Ponty's interrogation of the limits of philosophy. Time's Urgency Carlos Montemayor, Robert Daniel, 2019-07-15. The Study of Time XVI. Time's Urgency celebrates the 50th anniversary of the International Society for the Study of Time. It includes a keynote speech by renowned physicist Julian Barbour, a dialogue between British author David Mitchell, Katie Paterson and ISST's previous president Paul Harris. The volume is divided into dialogues and papers that directly address the issue of urgency and time scales from various disciplines. This book offers a unique perspective on the contemporary status of the interdisciplinary study of time. It will open new paths of inquiry for different approaches to the important issues of narrative structure and urgency. These are themes that are becoming increasingly relevant during our times. Contributors are Julian Barbour, Dennis Costa, Kerstin Cuhls, Ileana da Silva, Margaret K. Devinney, Sonia Front, Peter A. Hancock, Paul Harris, Rose Harris, Birtill, David Mitchell, Carlos Montemayor, Jo Alyson Parker, Katie Paterson, Walter Schweidler, Raji C. Steineck, Daniela Tan, Frederick Turner, Thomas P. Weissert, Marc Wolterbeek and Barry Wood. The Routledge History of the Senses Andrew Kettler, Will Tullett, 2025-06-26. The Routledge History of the Senses presents readers with an overview of the field. As well as pointing to directions for the future of the discipline, it illustrates the extent to which the subject offers a considerable space for the exploration of diverse historical topics through the lens of sensory experience. The handbook brings together essays and case studies from some of the leading academics on the history of the senses. Together they not only chart topics and arguments in existing scholarship but introduce fresh methodologies for future analyses. Specifically, the chapters collectively show that the senses of the historical body often portray the intensity of the invasion of capital upon the functions of the mind throughout global history. As a global history, this work arrives at a time when many sensory historians are looking for a touchstone for moving beyond the often heavily Western frameworks that dominate the existing literature on the historical senses. Not only will this book appeal to students and scholars of the history of senses, visual studies, art history, food studies and many of the social sciences but individual chapters also offer useful reading material for a wide range of history modules and contemporary topics
