Why Nations Fight Richard Ned Lebow, 2010-09-02 Four generic motives have historically led states to initiate war fear interest standing and revenge Using an original data set Richard Ned Lebow examines the distribution of wars across three and a half centuries and argues that contrary to conventional wisdom only a minority of these were motivated by security or material interest Instead the majority are the result of a quest for standing and for revenge an attempt to get even with states who had previously made successful territorial grabs Lebow maintains that today none of these motives are effectively served by war it is increasingly counterproductive and that there is growing recognition of this political reality His analysis allows for more fine grained and persuasive forecasts about the future of war as well as highlighting areas of uncertainty

Duffy,2013-03-14 Stanley Cavell and English

Romanticism serves as both introduction to Cavell for Romanticists and to the larger question of what philosophy means for the reading of literature as well as to the importance and relevance of Romantic literature to Cavell's thought. Illustrated through close readings of Wordsworth and Shelley and extended discussions of Emerson and Thoreau as well as Cavell, Duffy proposes a Romanticism of persisting cultural relevance and truly trans-Atlantic scope. The turn to romanticism of America's most distinguished ordinary language philosopher is shown to be tied to the neo-Romantic claim that far from being merely an illustrator of the truths discovered by philosophy, poetry is its equal partner in the instituting of knowledge. This book will be vital reading for anyone interested in Romanticism. Stanley Cavell and the ever-deepening connections between literature and philosophy

The Star and Celebrity Confessional Sean Redmond, 2013-10-18 In this book the different manifestations, meanings, and processes of the star and celebrity confessional will be explored. The confessional is taken to be any moment in which a star, celebrity, or fan engages in revelatory acts that are considered to be authentic, heart-felt, and honest. These confessional encounters can take place in an interview, through performance, and presentation events online and in unscripted encounters. A star may break down in tears or reveal a previously unknown truth about their private life. However, this authenticity is often found to have been manufactured or is timed to occur against a new release or product launch. Alternatively, the desire to confess may be seen to draw attention to the centrality of pseudo-forms of emotion in contemporary culture and the obsessional behaviour it produces. In this book, authors consider acts of confession by celebrities such as Tom Cruise, Michael Jackson, Jade Goody, Britney Spears, Sarah Jessica Parker, Tracey Emin, and Russell Crowe.
