Newfoundland In The North Atlantic World 1929 1949:

Newfoundland in the North Atlantic World, 1929-1949 Peter Neary, 1988 A collection of three dozen interviews conducted with gay men ranging in age from 24 to 84 who grew up in the rural Midwest uncovering a much neglected aspect of the gay experience The stories are at times touching and also deeply disturbing as they reminisce about the rigid gender roles common to farming communities social isolation racism religious conservatism and little information to help them make sense of their identities The other side of the coin is the deep and loving feelings these men have for the land their families communities and churches Told sometimes from urban exile and sometimes from the middle of the field all the interviews have a brave openness in common Lacks an index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Urban and community development in Atlantic Canada, 1867-1991, 1993-01-01 This book offers the first comprehensive overview of community development for the Atlantic Provinces The authors take a collaborative approach to their research question and contribute more than just a survey on urban development They also create a framework for understanding the relationship between the development of towns and cities in Atlantic Canada and in other parts of the country Published in English

Don't Tell the Newfoundlanders Greg Malone, 2014-01-28 The true story drawn from official documents and hours of personal interviews of how Newfoundland and Labrador joined Confederation and became Canada's tenth province in 1949 A rich cast of characters hailing from Britain America Canada and Newfoundland battle it out for the prize of the resource rich financially solvent militarily strategic island The twists and turns are as dramatic as any spy novel and extremely surprising since the official version of Newfoundland history has held for over fifty years almost without question Don't Tell the Newfoundlanders will change all that

Twentieth-century Newfoundland James Hiller, Peter Neary, 1994 Twentieth Century Newfoundland Explorations brings together ten papers by eight well known historians of Newfoundland and Labrador The papers address a wide variety of subject matter and open many avenues for further research The book concludes with an extensive bibliography on the Newfoundland and Labrador in the Twentieth century This bibliography is organized by topic and will serve the needs of the general reader and specialists alike Twentieth Century Newfoundland Explorations highlight the scope and complexity of present day writing about the history of Newfoundland and Labrador James Hiller Professor of History at Memorial University and author of a number of articles on Newfoundland in the Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries Peter Neary Professor of History at the University of Western Ontario and the author of Newfoundland in the North Atlantic World 1929 1949 1998

The Atlantic Provinces in Confederation Ernest R. Forbes, Delphin A. Muise, 1993-12-15 Canada's four easternmost provinces while richly diverse in character and history share many elements of their political and economic experience within Confederation In this volume thirteen leading historians explore the shifting tides of Atlantic Canada's history beginning with the union of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick with Ontario and Quebec to form the Dominion in 1867 Continuing on through Prince Edward Island's entry into Confederation six years later and Newfoundland s in 1949 they take the story of Atlantic Canada up to the 1980s Collectively their work sheds light on the complex political dynamic between the region and Ottawa and reveals the roots of current social and economic realities Fragmentation versus integration plenty versus scarcity centre versus periphery and other models inform their analysis The development of regional disparity and responses to it form a major theme The tradition of regional protest by Maritimers and later Atlantic Canadians runs deep so does their commitment to the idea of an integrated Canadian nation Protests over the decades have primarily been expressions of frustration at perceived exclusion from the full benefits of national union The creation of national markets for labour capital and goods often operated to their detriment and political decisions at the national level frequently reinforced rather than alleviated the regional predicament More than an account of the wealthy and powerful this book often places ordinary men and women at the centre of the story Above all it reveals the resilience of Atlantic Canadians as they have struggled to overcome their problems and to share in the benefits of life in the Canadian community

Inventing Atlantic Canada Corey James Arthur Slumkoski, 2011-01-01 When Newfoundland entered the Canadian Confederation in 1949 it was hoped it would promote greater unity between the Maritime provinces as Term 29 of the Newfoundland Act explicitly linked the region s economic and political fortunes On the surface the union seemed like an unprecedented opportunity to resurrect the regional spirit of the Maritime Rights movement of the 1920s which advocated a cooperative approach to addressing regional underdevelopment However Newfoundland s arrival did little at first to bring about a comprehensive Atlantic Canadian regionalism Inventing Atlantic Canada is the first book to analyse the reaction of the Maritime provinces to Newfoundland s entry into Confederation Drawing on editorials government documents and political papers Corey Slumkoski examines how each Maritime province used the addition of a new provincial cousin to fight underdevelopment Slumkoski also details the rise of regional cooperation characterized by the Atlantic Revolution of the mid 1950s when Maritime leaders began to realize that by acting in isolation their situations would only worsen
