Militocracy vs.

Democracy in West Africa 1960s - 1990s

Godfrey Mwakikagile, This is a historical narrative and analysis of the unconstitutional changes of government in most West African countries where military rule became institutionalised more than in any other part of the continent from the sixties to the nineties There is no specific reason why the region has suffered from usurpation of power by soldiers more than any other part of the continent besides the desire by soldiers to rule recently demonstrated by coups in Mali in 2020 and 2021 Guinea in 2021 and Burkina Faso in 2022 Governments in West Africa are no more unstable or weaker than their counterparts in other parts of the continent Overthrowing governments became a continental phenomenon when military rulers went on to legitimise their seizure of power through rigged elections by turning themselves into civilian rulers They civilianised themselves not only to claim that they were no longer military rulers but were democratically elected leaders a manipulation of power that triggered counter coups by their opponents to end their rule resulting in many deaths in many countries where this violent change took place Military rule in Africa started soon after independence in the sixties The most ambitious goals in the postcolonial era were consolidation of the state and nation building with varying degrees of success in different parts of the continent Military rulers proved to be no better than their civilian counterparts they had replaced In most cases they were even worse and used coercive power of the state to perpetuate themselves in office just as their civilian counterparts did The result was consolidation of the state as an instrument of oppression the most oppressive apparatus being the executive branch itself invested with all the powers which evolved into the imperial presidency a phenomenon that persists in some African countries legitimised through rigged elections enabling leaders to remain in office under the guise of democracy in the name of the people Unpublished Research on Africa, Completed and in Progress United States Department of State. Religious Beliefs and Knowledge Systems in

Africa Toyin Falola, Nicole Griffin, 2021-09-21 Key to African studies is understanding the knowledge systems of the continent and her diaspora The representation and understanding of Africa are dependent on the observer's definition of knowledge Afrocentric knowledge is comprised of a collection of political religious and indigenous belief systems Religious Beliefs and Knowledge Systems in Africa begins with deconstructing the Western philosophy of knowledge before defining and exploring the epistemic disciplines of Africa It transcends postcolonial critique through an Afrocentric approach to knowledge divided into three key themes The first of these is the African worldview exploring knowledge through eldership witchcraft and divination This is followed up by kingship ideology and epistemologies exploring discussing how politics religion and belief shape African society Finally the world religion chapter examines Christianity Islam and Pentecostalism in their impact on African ways of knowing This book calls to action new fields of study in universities encouraging a greater understanding of

African ways of knowing through more nuanced disciplines Statecraft and Nation Building in Africa Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2014-04-21 This is a study of statecraft and nation building in Africa in the post colonial era Subjects covered include early years of independence state legitimacy constitutional primacy institutional transformation autocracy quest for democracy national integration consolidation of the state and others It focuses on case studies whose relevance is continental in scope Almanac of African Peoples and Nations Mohamad Yakan, 2017-11-30 The peoples of Africa are neither ethnically culturally nor religiously homogeneous European colonial powers took little note of this reality in carving up the continent a fact reflected in the periodic outbreak of civil war since decolonialization Likewise Western European models of development whether in their liberal or Marxist manifestations have so far failed to meet African development needs The path to stability in Africa is through its people s character and goals Almanac of African Peoples and Nations provides an essential guide to the major ethnic groups of the African continent highlighting the major contributions and basic features of each The Almanac reviews Africa s language families and their respective national and geographic concentrations explaining ethnic classification based on linguistic difference and including language groups that are not indigenous to Africa The major African peoples are then listed by country with a statistical breakdown on their respective shares in the total population of each country and maps indicating their concentration The major section of the volume includes a comprehensive listing and descriptive profile of each ethnic national and tribal group detailing their history customs economic systems and political and social organizations The Almanac points out as well which groups support revisionist political aspirations and shows the internal and external pressures they are subject to Yakan notes that African societies are not highly integrated and must support multitudes of influential sub cultures with conflicting agendas and loyalties Arguing that tribalism reflects Africa s historical experience and cultural heritage he sees the resolution of the continent s problems in consociational democracy proportional representation federalism or some form of autonomous rule State Building and Democracy in Southern Africa Pierre Du Toit, 1995 6 The Contest for Hegemony The Palgrave Handbook of African Social Ethics Nimi Wariboko, Toyin Falola, 2020-03-30 This Handbook provides a robust collection of vibrant discourses on African social ethics and ethical practices It focuses on how the ethical thoughts of Africans are forged within the context of everyday life and how in turn ethical and philosophical thoughts inform day to day living The essays frame ethics as a historical phenomenon best examined as a historical movement the dynamic ethos of a people rather than as a theoretical construct It thereby offers a bold incisive and fresh interpretation of Africa s ethical life and thought External Research United States.
