Morgan, 2008-04-01 ANU E Press edition of work originally published by Pandanus Books While political parties remain an indispensable institutional framework for representation and governance in a democracy the democracies of many Pacific Islands nations are undermined by the weakness and inefficacy of their local political parties Addressing the implications of the lack of established party systems across the Pacific this collection seeks to illuminate the underlying assumptions and suppositions behind the importance of coherent and effective parties to overall democratic functioning Focusing on the political systems of East Timor Papua New Guinea Solomon Islands Vanuatu New Caledonia Fiji and Samoa the coherent structure of the volume makes it consistently useful as both an articulate analytical text and as a reference tool concerning the political composition history and direction of Pacific states Featuring contributions from scholars who are familiar names to even the most casual of Pacificists Political Parties in the Pacific is the benchmark reference work on the political parties of the Pacific an invaluable resource for students scholars and researchers of the Pacific and international politics Provided by publisher Security in South-East Asia and the South-West Pacific, 1989 Australia's Arc of Instability Dennis Rumley, Vivian Louis Forbes, Christopher Griffin, 2006-01-12 The idea for this book emerged from a conversation between Vivian Forbes and Charles Eaton following two seminars held in the Department of Geography at the University of Western Australia given by Trevor Soeld and Christopher Griffin more than five years ago One seminar involved papers from Charles Eaton and Christopher Griffin on the recent Speight coup in Fiji the other given by Trevor Soeld was on the Solomon Islands The seminars were attended by among others Dennis Rumley who on getting involved in the conversation suggested the idea of a book and then followed through on its scope structure planning and possible contributors Looking back now we owe a special debt of gratitude to Charles Eaton both for his enthusiasm and his ideas then and for his continued support throughout the whole project Since that time five years ago many people have boarded and have left the Arc Indeed the very project itself exhibited a degree of instability At times it even looked as though it might not stay afloat Thankfully several early boarders remained firmly anchored Other authors were co-opted later some at relatively short notice one or two of them under mild duress We extend our heartfelt thanks to all of these contributors for remaining patient enthusiastic and keeping faith with the project Naturally a project like this dealing with such a large and dynamic region will always be out of date independent statehood and why mass mobilization for independence emerged where and when it did Lawrence shows that nationalist discourses became dominant as a consequence of the failure of the reform agenda Where political rights were granted colonial subjects opted for further integration and reform Contrary to conventional accounts nationalism was not the only or even the primary form of anti colonialism Lawrence shows further that mass nationalist protest occurred only when and where French authority was disrupted Imperial crises were the cause not the result of mass protest Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2005 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office,2005 Pacific Women in Politics Kerry Baker,2019-04-30 Women are significantly underrepresented in politics in the Pacific Islands given that only one in twenty Pacific parliamentarians are female compared to one in five globally A common but controversial method of increasing the number of women in politics is the use of gender quotas or measures designed to ensure a minimum level of women s representation In those cases where quotas have been effective they have managed to change the face of power in previously male dominated political spheres How do political actors in the Pacific islands region make sense of the success or failure of parliamentary gender quota campaigns To answer the question Kerry Baker explores the workings of four campaigns in the region In Samoa the campaign culminated in a safety net quota to guarantee a minimum level of representation set at five female members of Parliament In Papua New Guinea between 2007 and 2012 there were successive campaigns for nominated and reserved seats in parliament without success although the constitution was amended in 2011 to allow for the possibility of reserved seats for women In post conflict Bougainville women campaigned for reserved seats during the constitution making process and eventually won three reserved seats in the House of Representatives as well as one reserved ministerial position Finally in the French Pacific territories of New Caledonia French Polynesia and Wallis and Futuna Baker finds that there were campaigns both for and against the implementation of the so called parity laws Baker argues that the meanings of success in quota campaigns and related notions of gender and representation are interpreted by actors through drawing on different traditions and renegotiating and redefining them according to their goals pressures and dilemmas Broadening the definition of success thus is a key to an understanding of realities of quota campaigns Pacific Women in Politics is a pathbreaking work that offers an original contribution to gender relations within the Pacific and to contemporary Pacific politics Developments in French Politics Peter A.
