Quicksand Plot:

Losing the Plot Pardis Dabashi, 2023-11-06 An examination of the relationship between literature and classical Hollywood cinema reveals a profound longing for plot in modernist fiction The modernist novel sought to escape what Virginia Woolf called the tyranny of plot Yet even as twentieth century writers pushed against the constraints of plot driven Victorian novels plot kept its hold on them through the influence of another medium the cinema Focusing on the novels of Nella Larsen Djuna Barnes and William Faulkner writers known for their affinities and connections to classical Hollywood Pardis Dabashi links the moviegoing practices of these writers to the tensions between the formal properties of their novels and the characters in them Even when they did not feature outright happy endings classical Hollywood films often provided satisfying formal resolutions and promoted normative social and political values Watching these films modernist authors were reminded of what they were leaving behind both formally and in the name of aesthetic experimentalism by losing the plot

Heterosexual Plots and Lesbian Narratives Marilyn Farwell, 1996 What is lesbian literature Must it contain overtly lesbian characters and portray them in a positive light Must the author be overtly or covertly lesbian Does there have to be a lesbian theme and must it be politically acceptable Marilyn Farwell here examines the work of such writers as Adrienne Rich Marion Zimmer Bradley Jeanette Winterson Gloria Naylor and Marilyn Hacker to address these questions Dividing their writings into two genres the romantic story and the heroic or quest story Farwell addresses some of the most problematic issues at the intersection of literature sex gender and postmodernism Illustrating how the generational conflict between the lesbian feminists of twenty years ago and the queer theorists of today stokes the critical fires of contemporary lesbian and literary theory Heterosexual Plots and Lesbian Narratives concludes by arguing for a broad and generous definition of lesbian writing

Mothering the Race Allison Berg, 2002 Maternal metaphors articulating gender race and nation at the turn of the century Reconstructing motherhood Pauline Hopkins's Contending forces and the rhetoric of racial uplift The romance plot reproducing silence reinscribing race in The awakening and Summer Hard labor Edith Summers Kelley's Weeds and the language of eugenics Fatal contractions Nella Larsen's Quicksand and the new Negro mother Epilogue representing motherhood at century's end

Psychoanalysis and Black Novels Claudia Tate, 1998-02-12 Although psychoanalytic theory is one of the most important and influential tools in contemporary literary criticism to date it has had very little impact on the study of African American literature and culture Now Claudia Tate argues that psycholanalytic paradigms can produce rich readings of African American desire alienation and subjectivity Tate summarizes the work of such figures as Freud and Lacan with references to their contemporary literary proponents and examines a series of texts by Emma Kelly W E B Du Bois Richard Wright Zora Neale Hurston and Nella Larsen This provocative new book will serve as an introduction to psychoanalytic theory and its application for African American literature and culture Tate strikes uncharted territory and her work will be of great interest to scholars and students in African American studies

From

Slave Cabins to the White House Koritha Mitchell, 2020-08-31 Koritha Mitchell analyzes canonical texts by and about African American women to lay bare the hostility these women face as they invest in traditional domesticity. Instead of the respectability and safety granted white homemakers, black women endure pejorative labels, racist governmental policies, attacks on their citizenship, and aggression meant to keep them in their place. Tracing how African Americans define and redefine success in a nation determined to deprive them of it, Mitchell plumbs the works of Frances Harper, Zora Neale Hurston, Lorraine Hansberry, Toni Morrison, Michelle Obama, and others. These artists honor black homes from slavery and post-emancipation through the Civil Rights era to post-racial America. Mitchell follows black families asserting their citizenship in domestic settings while the larger society and culture marginalize and attack them not because they are deviants or failures but because they meet American standards. Powerful and provocative, From Slave Cabins to the White House illuminates the links between African American women's homemaking and citizenship in history and across literature.

In Search of Nella Larsen George Hutchinson, 2009-07-01 Born to a Danish seamstress and a West Indian cook, Larsen lived her life in the shadows of America's racial divide. Hutchinson exposes the truths and half-truths surrounding her and the complex reality they mask and mirror. His book is a cultural biography of the color line as lived by a person who embodied all its ambiguities and complexities.

Best White Rebecca Davis, 2015-05-01 Rebecca Davis has been described as one of the funniest writers in South Africa today. Her razor-sharp wit combines with her acute powers of observation to produce social and political commentary that will have you in stitches even as it informs and provokes you to think seriously about the topics she discusses. In Best White, Davis offers advice on life's tricky issues, discusses the perils of being a Best White, laments the fact that society does not have a universally adopted form of greeting such as the high five, explores the intricacies of social media and internet dating, considers the future of reading, and tackles a range of controversial topics in between.

Ugly Feelings Sianne Ngai, 2009-07-01 Ngai mobilizes the aesthetics of unprestigious negative affects such as irritation, envy, and disgust to investigate not only ideological and representational dilemmas in literature with a particular focus on those inflected by gender and race but also blind spots in contemporary literary and cultural criticism.

The Worlds of Tomie dePaola Barbara Elleman, 2021-03-09 Barbara Elleman's insightful biography on Tomie dePaola captures the essence of the beloved author-illustrator through engaging stories, childhood photos, countless illustrations, and thoughtful analysis of decades of celebrated books. Tomie dePaola is one of the best-known and most beloved creators of books for children. His art and his stories, which are filled with imagination, humor, grace, and curiosity, represent a love of life that is reflected in everything he does. Barbara Elleman's exploration of Tomie dePaola's career takes a fascinating look at the many worlds dePaola has brought to life through his work, from autobiographical memories to folktales, religious stories, nursery rhymes, and more, including, of course, the inventive world of his most famous character, Strega Nona. Originally published in 1999 and filled with evocative artwork, captivating photographs, and heartwarming anecdotes, this comprehensive book has been updated to cover two new decades of dePaola's creativity Elleman's thoughtful narrative brings a fresh appreciation to the work of a unique author/illustrator one who is a true legend of children's literature and a source of lasting joy for generations of readers young and old Nella Larsen - African-American Artist of the Harlem Renaissance Kathrin Haubold, 2003-08-27 Seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject American Studies Literature grade 1 A University of Frankfurt/Main Institute for English and American Studies course Harlem Renaissance language English abstract This seminar paper will sketch some of the elements of the cultural Zeitgeist that shaped and was reflected in Nella Larsen's writings But it will concentrate on the novels that she left behind Quicksand and Passing An important topic Larsen is dealing with is race identity Larsen assimilates these themes in her two novels not by representing the lower class problem but more by focusing on the life and problems of middle class females It is more the psychological than the sociological side she portrays This paper demonstrates that race identity and race dualism reflects Larsen's own life story First I will give an introduction on the Harlem Renaissance era Then I will focus on Nella Larsen's life I will examine her two novels Quicksand and Passing to find out how race identity and race dualism is assimilated in her novels The Kindness of Strangers John Boswell, 1998-11 Using a wide variety of sources John Boswell examines the evidence that parents of all classes gave up unwanted children exposing them in public places donating them to the church or delivering them in later centuries to founding hospitals He shows what happened to these children and he illuminates the moral codes that condoned abandonment Practices of Surprise in American Literature After Emerson Kate Stanley, 2018-07-19 Practices of Surprise in American Literature After Emerson locates a paradoxical question how does one prepare to be surprised at the heart of several major modernist texts Arguing that this paradox of perception gives rise to an American literary methodology this book dramatically reframes how practices of reading and writing evolved among modernist authors after Emerson Whereas Walter Benjamin defines modernity as a series of shocks inflicted from without Emerson offers a countervailing optic that regards life as a series of surprises unfolding from within While Benjaminian shock elicits intimidation and defensiveness Emersonian surprise fosters states of responsiveness and spontaneity whereby unexpected encounters become generative rather than enervating As a study of how such states of responsiveness were cultivated by a post Emerson tradition of writers and thinkers this project displaces longstanding models of modernist perception defined by shock's passive duress and proposes alternate models of reception that proceed from the active practice of surprise Together by Accident Stephanie C. Palmer, 2008-12-16 This fascinating account of the regional travel accident motif within American local color literature offers a reassessment of the cultural work done by authors writing during the Gilded Age Stephanie C. Palmer shows how events like broken carriage wheels and missed trains were used by local color authors to bring together bourgeois and lower class characters thus giving readers the opportunity to see modernity coming into contact with both rural and urban life Using the works of Sarah Orne Jewett Bret Harte William Dean Howells Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and others Palmer traces the use of the regional travel accident motif and how local color writers employed it to give critiques on class society and modern life Exploring the themes of regional identity modernity and interpersonal relationships Together by Accident offers an intriguing evaluation of the innovations and inconveniences associated with life during the industrializing Gilded Age in America The Chicago Banker ,1900 Realist Ecstasy Lindsay V.
