Race A Christian Symposium:

Race, 1986      Race, a Christian symposium Clifford Stanley Hill, 1968      Rescripting Religion in the City Alana Harris, 2016-04-22 Rescripting Religion in the City explores the role of faith and religious practices as strategies for understanding and negotiating the migratory experience. Leading international scholars draw on case studies of urban settings in the global north and south. Presenting a nuanced understanding of the religious identities of migrants within the modern metropolis, this book makes a significant contribution to fields as diverse as twentieth century immigration history, the sociology of religion and migration studies as well as historical and urban geography and practical theology.      Faith and Race in American Political Life Robin Dale Jacobson, Nancy D. Wadsworth, 2012-02-02 Drawing on scholarship from an array of disciplines, this volume provides a deep and timely look at the intertwining of race and religion in American politics. The contributors apply the methods of intersectionality but where this approach has typically considered race, class and gender, the essays collected here focus on religion too to offer a theoretically robust conceptualization of how these elements intersect and how they are actively impacting the political process. Contributors: Antony W. Alomkalliliff, School of Theology, Carlos Figueroa, University of Texas at Brownsville, Robert D. Francis, Lutheran Services in America, Susan M. Gordon, independent scholar, Edwin I. Hernandez, DeVos Family Foundations, Robin Dale Jacobson, University of Puget Sound, Robert P. Jones, Public Religion Research Institute, Jonathan I. Leib, Old Dominion University, Jessica Hamar Martinez, University of Arizona, Eric Michael Mazur, Virginia Wesleyan College, Sangay Mishra, University of Southern California, Catherine Paden, Simmons College, Milagros Peña, University of Florida, Tobin Miller Shearer, University of Montana, Nancy D. Wadsworth, University of Denver, Gerald R. Webster, University of Wyoming.      Christianity and the African Imagination David Maxwell, Ingrid Lawrie, 2022-08-08 During the twentieth century, Christendom shifted its centre of gravity to the Southern Hemisphere. Africa becoming the most significant area of church growth. This volume explores Christianity's advance across the continent and its capturing of the African imagination. From the medieval Catholic Kingdom of Kongo to a transnational Pentecostal movement in post-colonial Zimbabwe, the chapters explore how African agents, priests and prophets, martyrs and missionaries, evangelists and catechists have seized Christianity and made it theirs. Emphasizing popular religion, the book shows how the Christian ideas and texts, practices and symbols which have been adapted by Africans help them accept existential passions and empower them through faith to deal with material concerns for health and wealth and to overcome evil.      The Background of Immigrant Children Ivor Morrish, 2021-11-29 First published in 1971, The Background of Immigrant Children offers a deeper understanding of the diversity and richness of the customs, cultures and religious convictions of the minority groups in a multiracial society. Ivor Morrish argues that in order to go beyond the mere tolerance of the other groups, it is becoming one of the important functions of the teacher to assist in the development of social awareness in his pupils and this must include a sympathetic involvement in the cultural ideas and outlook of groups from all over the world This book is an attempt to introduce the teacher in training to three of the main coloured immigrant groups in Britain West Indians Indians and Pakistanis and to some of the problems that culture contact poses This book will be a useful resource for scholars and researchers of education multiculturalism sociology and social anthropology The Making of the Black Working Class in Britain Ron Ramdin, 2017-08-22 A classic history of the role of Black working class struggles throughout the twentieth century In this pioneering history Ron Ramdin traces the roots of Britain's disadvantaged black working class From the development of a small black presence in the sixteenth century through the colonial labour institutions of slavery indentureship and trade unionism Ramdin expertly guides us through the stages of creation for a UK minority whose origins are often overlooked He examines the emergence of a black radical ideology underpinning twentieth century struggles against unemployment racial attacks and workplace inequality and delves into the murky realms of employer and trade union racism First published in 1987 this revised edition includes a new introduction reflecting on events over the past four decades

Evangelicalism and Dissent in Modern England and Wales David Bebbington, David Ceri Jones, 2020-09-07 This book treads new ground by bringing the Evangelical and Dissenting movements within Christianity into close engagement with one another While Evangelicalism and Dissent both have well established historiographies there are few books that specifically explore the relationship between the two Thus this complex relationship is often overlooked and underemphasised The volume is organised chronologically covering the period from the late seventeenth century to the closing decades of the twentieth century Some chapters deal with specific centuries but others chart developments across the whole period covered by the book Chapters are balanced between those that concentrate on an individual such as George Whitefield or John Stott and those that focus on particular denominational groups like Wesleyan Methodism Congregationalism or the Black Majority Churches The result is a new insight into the cross pollination of these movements that will help the reader to understand modern Christianity in England and Wales more fully Offering a fresh look at the development of Evangelicalism and Dissent this volume will be of keen interest to any scholar of Religious Studies Church History Theology or modern Britain

Reluctant Race Men Joan L. Bryant, 2024-02-13 Activists in the earliest Black antebellum reform endeavors contested and deprecated the concept of race Attacks on the logic and ethics of dividing grouping and ranking humans into races became commonplace facets of activism in anti colonization and emigration campaigns suffrage and civil rights initiatives moral reform projects abolitionist struggles independent church development and confrontations with scientific thought on human origins Denunciations persisted even as later generations of reformers felt compelled by theories of progress and American custom to promote race as a basis of a Black collective consciousness Reluctant Race Men traces a history of the disparate challenges Black American reformers lodged against race across the long nineteenth century It factors their opposition into the nation's history of race and reconstructs a reform tradition largely ignored in accounts of Black activism Black controlled newspapers societies churches and conventions provided the principal loci and resources for questioning race In these contexts people of African descent generated a lexicon for refuting race debated its logic and ultimately reinterpreted it Reformers challenges call into question the notion that race is a self evident site of identity among Black people Their ideas instead spotlight legal political religious social and scientific practices that configured human difference sameness hierarchy and consciousness They show how a diverse set of actions constituted multifaceted American phenomena dubbed race Race, Religion, and Civil Rights Stephanie Hinnert, 2015-09-01

For God and Globe Michael G. Thompson, 2016-02-19 For God and Globe recovers the history of an important yet largely forgotten intellectual movement in interwar America Michael G Thompson explores the way radical left and ecumenical Protestant internationalists articulated new understandings of the ethics of international relations between the 1920s and the 1940s Missionary leaders such as Sherwood Eddy and journalists such as Kirby Page as well as realist theologians including Reinhold Niebuhr developed new kinds of religious enterprises devoted to producing knowledge on international relations for public consumption For God and Globe centers on the excavation of two such efforts the leading left wing Protestant interwar periodical The World Tomorrow and the landmark Oxford 1937 ecumenical world conference Thompson charts the simultaneous peak and decline of the movement in John Foster Dulles s ambitious efforts to link Christian internationalism to the cause of international organization after World War II Concerned with far more than foreign policy Christian internationalists developed critiques of racism imperialism and nationalism in world affairs They rejected exceptionalist frameworks and eschewed the dominant Christian nation imaginary as a lens through which to view U S foreign relations In the intellectual history of religion and American foreign relations Protestantism most commonly appears as an ideological ancillary to expansionism and nationalism For God and Globe challenges this account by recovering a movement that held Christian universalism to be a check against nationalism rather than a boon to it
