Race Class On Campus:

Race and Class Matters at an Elite College Elizabeth Aries, 2008-09-28 How race and class collide at a prestigious liberal arts college

Geographies of Campus Inequality Janel E. Benson, Elizabeth M. Lee, 2020-07-31 In efforts to improve equity selective college campuses are increasingly focused on recruiting and retaining first generation students those whose parents have not graduated from college In Geographies of Campus Inequality sociologists Benson and Lee argue that these approaches may fall short if they fail to consider the complex ways first generation status intersects with race ethnicity and gender Drawing on interview and survey data from selective campuses the authors show that first generation students do not share a universal experience Rather first generation students occupy one of four disparate geographies on campus within which they negotiate academic responsibilities build relationships engage in campus life and develop post college aspirations Importantly the authors demonstrate how geographies are shaped by organizational practices and campus constructions of class race and gender Geographies of Campus Inequality expands the understanding of first generation students campus lives and opportunities for mobility by showing there is more than one way to be first generation

Clearing the Path for First-Generation College Students Bedelia Nicola Richards, Ashley C. Rondini, Nicolas P. Simon, 2018-06-07 Clearing the Path for First Generation College Students comprises a wide range of studies that explore the multidimensional social processes and meanings germane to the experiences of first generation college students before and during their matriculation into institutions of higher education The chapters offer timely empirical examinations of the ways that these students negotiate experiences shaped by structural inequities in higher education institutions and the pathways that lead to them This volume provides insight into the dilemmas that arise from the transformation of students class identities in pursuit of upward mobility as well as their quest for community and a sense of belonging on college campuses that have not been historically designed for them While centering first generation status this collection also critically engages the ways in which other dimensions of social identity intersect to inform students educational experiences in relation to dynamics of race ethnicity socioeconomic class gender and immigration Additionally this book takes a holistic approach by exploring the ways in which first generation college students are influenced by and engage with their families and communities of origin as they undertake their educational careers

Intersectionality and Higher Education W. Carson Byrd, Rachelle J. Brunn-Bevel, Sarah M. Ovink, 2019-05-03 Though colleges and universities are arguably paying more attention to diversity and inclusion than ever before to what extent do their efforts result in more socially just campuses Intersectionality and Higher Education examines how race ethnicity class gender sexuality sexual orientation age disability nationality and other identities connect to produce intersected campus experiences Contributors look at both the individual and institutional perspectives on issues like campus climate race class and gender disparities LGBTQ student experiences undergraduate versus graduate students faculty and staff from varying socioeconomic backgrounds students with disabilities undocumented students and the intersections of two or more of these topics Taken together this volume presents an evidence backed vision of how the twenty first century higher education landscape should evolve in order to meaningfully support all participants reduce marginalization and reach for equity and equality

Rethinking College Student Development Theory Using Critical Frameworks Elisa S. Abes,Susan R. Jones,D-L Stewart,2023-07-03 A major new contribution to college student development theory this book brings third wave theories to bear on this vitally important topic The first section includes a chapter that provides an overview of the evolution of student development theories as well as chapters describing the critical and poststructural theories most relevant to the next iteration of student development theory These theories include critical race theory queer theory feminist theories intersectionality decolonizing indigenous theories and crip theories These chapters also include a discussion of how each theory is relevant to the central questions of student development theory The second section provides critical interpretations of the primary constructs associated with student development theory These constructs and their related ideas include resilience dissonance socially constructed identities authenticity agency context development consistency coherence stability and knowledge sources of truth and belief systems Each chapter begins with brief personal narratives on a particular construct the chapter authors then re envision the narrative s highlighted construct using one or more critical theories The third section will focus on implications for practice Specifically these chapters will consider possibilities for how student development constructs re envisioned through critical perspectives can be utilized in practice The primary audience for the book is faculty members who teach in graduate programs in higher education and student affairs and their students The book will also be useful to practitioners seeking guidance in working effectively with students across the convergence of multiple aspects of identity and development
