Warfare Since the Second World War Torsten Schvinghammer, 2018-04-24 Warfare Since the Second World War presents a wealth of analysis and data about one of the most pressing questions of our time why does war continue to plague us fifty years after World War II This book argues that the nature of war has shifted from inter state conflicts toward internal conflicts above all civil war Low intensity conflict helps explain the constant increase in wars over the last fifty years and makes it probable this trend will continue Gantzel and Schvinghammer argue that modern warfare reflects a continuation of the nation state building process begun in nineteenth century Europe In their analysis economic modernization and social integration destroy traditional relations and create instability in the developing world While these forces were successfully harnessed by the modern state in Europe and North America economic and political globalization make a similar resolution considerably more complex In addition to their insightful analysis the authors provide a detailed list of all wars fought from 1945 to 1995 The authors lucid explanatory commentaries are accompanied by lists tables and charts In addition to a detailed war register upon which all statistical data and analyses for the volume are based there are appendices with directories useful for locating specific wars as well as several supplementary lists An afterword brings the reader closer to the world situation as we conclude the twentieth century including the impact of political developments in Eastern Europe Beyond its historical dimension this book offers a policy relevant empirical demonstration of the ongoing increase in internal civil wars and addresses the inability of modern society to prevent this scourge Warfare Since the Second World War is an indispensable resource for anyone concerned with issues of war and peace development and the future of international relations Government Confronts Culture Bruce Fuller, 2012-09-10 Transitional societies struggling to build democratic institutions and new political traditions are faced with a painful dilemma How can Government become strong and effective building a common good that unites disparate ethnic and class groups while simultaneously nurturing democratic social rules at the grassroots Professor Fuller brings this issue to light in the contentious multicultural setting of Southern Africa Post apartheid states like South Africa and Namibia are pushing hard to raise school quality reduce family poverty and equalize gender relations inside villages and townships But will democratic participation blossom at the grassroots as long as strong central states so necessary for defining the common good push universal policies onto diverse local communities This book builds from a decade of family surveys and qualitative village studies led by Professor Fuller at Harvard University and African colleagues inside Botswana Namibia and South Africa British Year Book of International Law 2008 James Crawford, Vaughan Lowe, 2009-11-12 The British Year Book of International Law is a key reference resource for academics and practising lawyers providing up to date information on important developments in modern international law

South Africa Murray Faure, Jan-Erik Lane, 1996-08-15 The Republic of South Africa RSA held its first fully democratic elections in April 1994 They were a highly visible signal that the RSA is really moving from the era of apartheid towards a democratic constitutional state The process is an archetypal case of a negotiated transition of a regime and as such it is of great interest to students of constitutional mechanisms The contributors to this book leading South African political scientists discuss the process the difficulties and the achievements in the transformation of the RSA's political and legal institutions They address various aspects of constitutional design and their interactions with social forces They examine the new constitution the roles of president and executive the electoral party and parliamentary systems and the Constitutional Court They look at the public service at questions of labour and corporatism at the RSA's changing external relations and at the position of the armed forces The new government's Reconstruction and Development Programme of which so much is
