Alternative and Mainstream Media Linda Jean Kenix, 2011-11-01 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com Historically alternative media have been viewed as fundamental albeit at times culturally peripheral forces in social change In this book however Kenix argues that these media do not uniformly subvert the hierarchies of access that are so central to mainstream media in fact their journalistic norms and routines have always been based on the professional standards of the mainstream Kenix goes on to posit the perception of mainstream and alternative as a misconception She argues that although alternative media can and do construct distinct alternative communications they have always existed on the same continuum as the mainstream and the two will continue to converge Through comparative analysis this book argues that many alternative and mainstream media are merging to create a continuous spectrum rooted in commercial ideology Indeed much of what is now considered alternative media actually draws very little from principles of the independent press whereas many contemporary mainstream media now use communication techniques more commonly associated with media that do not operate for financial gain This book puts forward a controversial but convincing argument around the relationship between alternative and mainstream media drawing on examples from the UK US Australia and New Zealand to strengthen and develop the central premise

Media and Mass Atrocity Allan Thompson, 2019-04-05 When human beings are at their worst as they most certainly were in Rwanda during the 1994 genocide the world needs the institutions of journalism and the media to be at their best Sadly in Rwanda the media fell short Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the case of Rwanda but also examines how the nexus between media and mass atrocity has been shaped by the dramatic rise of social media It has been twenty five years since Rwanda slid into the abyss The killings happened in broad daylight but many of us turned away A quarter century later there is still much to learn about the relationship between the media and genocide an issue laid bare by the Rwanda tragedy Media and Mass Atrocity revisits the debate over the role of traditional news media in Rwanda where confronted by the horrors taking place international news media for the most part turned away and at times muddled the story when they did pay attention Hate media outlets in Rwanda played a role in laying the groundwork for genocide and then actively encouraged the extermination campaign The news media not only failed to fully grasp and communicate the genocide but mostly overlooked the war crimes committed during the genocide and in its aftermath by the Rwandan Patriotic Front The global media landscape has been transformed since Rwanda We are now saturated with social media generated as often as not by non journalists Mobile phones are everywhere And in many quarters the traditional news media business model continues to recede Against that backdrop it is more important than ever to examine the nexus between media and mass atrocity The book includes an extensive section on the echoes of Rwanda which looks at the cases of Darfur the Central African Republic Myanmar and South Sudan while the impact of social media as a new actor is examined through chapters on social media use by the Islamic State and in Syria and in other contexts across the developing world It also looks at the aftermath of the genocide the shifting narrative of the genocide itself the evolving debate over the role and impact of hate media in Rwanda the challenge of digitizing archival records of the genocide and the fostering of free and independent media in atrocity s wake The volume also probes how journalists themselves confront mass atrocities and examines the preventive function of media through the use of advanced digital technology as well as radio programming in the Lake Chad Basin and the Democratic Republic of Congo. Media and Mass Atrocities questions what the lessons of Rwanda mean now in an age of communications so dramatically influenced by social media and the relative decline of traditional news media. Routledge Handbook of Sport, Leisure, and Social Justice Stefan Lawrence, Joanne Hill, Rasul Mowatt, 2024-05-23 This is the first book to explore in breadth and in depth the complex intersections between sport, leisure and social justice. This book examines the relations of power that produce social inequalities and considers how sport and leisure spaces can perpetuate those relations or act as sites of resistance and makes a powerful call for an activist scholarship in sport and leisure studies. Presenting original theoretical and empirical work by leading international researchers and practitioners in sport and leisure, this book addresses the central social issues that lie at the heart of critical social science, including racism, sexism, homophobia, transphobia, ableism, religious persecution, socio-economic deprivation and the climate crisis, and asks how these issues are expressed or mediated in the context of sport and leisure practices. Covering an incredibly diverse range of topics and cases, including sex testing in sport, sport for refugees, pedagogical practices in physical education, community sport development, events and human rights, and athlete activism, this book also surveys the history of sport and social justice research as well as outlining theoretical and methodological foundations for this field of enquiry. The Routledge Handbook of Sport, Leisure, and Social Justice is an indispensable resource for any advanced student, researcher, policymaker, practitioner or activist with an interest in the sociology, culture, politics, history, development, governance, media and marketing, and business and management of sport and leisure. Representing Communities Ruth Sanz Sabido, 2017-10-12 This edited collection offers the latest research into the reproduction of hegemonic discourse and the ways in which the description and evaluation of social groups affects their ability to exercise cultural and political autonomy. The book examines the representations of a number of communities and social groups both within their micro contexts and with reference to the economic, political, social, cultural and technological macro contexts in which they are embedded. The analysis highlights the connections between discourse, power, dominance and social inequality, focusing on patriarchal, capitalist and postcolonial representations and power imbalances. Based on a combination of theoretical and empirical analyses, the collection offers an array of macro social critiques based on the analysis and critical understanding of contemporary contexts and representations and how they contribute to political, social, economic and cultural practices. Revisiting the 'Ideal Victim' Marian Duggan, 2018-07-04 Nils Christie's 1986 seminal work on the Ideal Victim is reproduced in full in this edited collection of vibrant and provocative essays that respond to and update the concept from a range of thematic positions. Each chapter celebrates and commemorates his work by analysing, evaluating and critiquing the current nature and impact of victim identity, experience, policy and practice. The collection expands the focus and remit of victim studies, addressing key themes around race, gender, faith, ability and age while encompassing new and diverse issues Examples include sex workers as victims of hate crimes victims experiences of online fraud and recognising historic child sexual abuse victims in Ireland With contributions from an array of academics including Vicky Heap Sheffield Hallam University Hannah Mason Bish University of Sussex and Pamela Davies Northumbria University as well as a Foreword by David Scott The Open University this book evaluates the contemporary relevance and applicability of Christie s Ideal Victim concept and creates an important platform for thinking differently about victimhood in the 21st century

Making Anti-Racial Discrimination Law Iyiola Solanke,2012-08-21 Making Anti Racial Discrimination Law examines the evolution of anti racial discrimination law from a socio legal perspective Taking a comparative and interdisciplinary approach the book does not simply look at race and society or race and law but brings these areas together by drawing out the tension in the process in different countries by which race becomes a policy issue which is subsequently regulated by law Moving beyond traditional social movement theory to include the extreme right wing as a social actor the study identifies the role of extreme right wing confrontation in agenda setting and law making a feature often neglected in studies of social action In so doing it identifies the influence of both the extreme right and liberalism on anti racial discrimination law Focusing primarily on Great Britain and Germany the book also demonstrates how national politics feeds into EU policy and identifies some of the challenges in creating a high and uniform level of protection against racial discrimination throughout the EU Using primary archival materials from Germany and the UK the empirical richness of this book constitutes a valuable contribution to the field of anti racial discrimination law at both undergraduate and postgraduate level The book will interest specialists and academics in law sociology and political science as well as non specialists who will find this study stimulating and useful to expand their knowledge of anti racial discrimination law or pursue teaching goals policy objectives and reform agendas
