Regional Integration In Latin America And The Caribbean:

Regional Integration in Latin America and the Caribbean V. Bulmer-Thomas, 2001 This collection is a sober assessment of the state of regional integration in Latin America and the Caribbean It studies the question from four perspectives economic institutional political and in relation to the rest of the world It considers the questions raised by LAC countries efforts to use new regionalism to address the challenges of globalization and to explore the nature and meaning of open regionalism This thematic treatment draws on the experience of the different schemes currently in place in the region NAFTA CACM CARICOM the Andean Community and MERCOSUR It also examines the nature of globalization including concerns over the relationship between regionalism and the multilateral system There is now a broad consensus among LAC countries that regional integration can help them adjust to the new world order but there is much less agreement on how to achieve it and what reforms are needed to bring it about Connecting the Dots Mauricio Mesquita Moreira, 2018-05-29

What can be said of Latin America and the Caribbean s experiment with regional integration Did it live up to the expectations What does this experience say about the regional integration agenda moving forward Do the tectonic changes undergone by the world economy in the last quarter of a century matter for policy design This report offers answers to these pressing questions It argues that while the new regionalism was in general effective to promote international trade it failed to boost the region s competitiveness abroad Fragmentation is seen as the original sin and convergence the path to redemption The policy recommendations offer different routes to convergence from a cautious cumulation of rules or origin approach to a non stop sprint to a LAC FTA But they all come with a warning in the current challenging trade environment the benefits of caution might be too little too late The New Face of Regional Integration in Latin America and the Caribbean Enrique V. Iglesias, 1997

Better Neighbors Chad P. Bown, Daniel Lederman, Samuel Pienknagura, Raymond Robertson, 2017-03-15 This book proposes a renewal of Open Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean LAC aimed at achieving the region s goals of high growth with stability The LAC region experienced a growth spurt with equity during the first decade of the 21st Century It is well understood that an unsustainable demand boom fueled by terms of trade improvements drove this growth acceleration episode especially in South America Unfortunately terms of trade are no longer fueling growth and the region s policymakers are in search of new sources of growth with stability With the experience of East Asia and the Pacific in mind many policymakers in LAC are looking to international economic ties as a potential source of stable growth The challenge highlighted in this book lies in designing an integration agenda comprising trade and factor market integration that is conducive to region wide efficiency gains which can help LAC enhance its global competitiveness The forces of geography imply that pro growth global integration cannot be achieved without building a strong neighborhood Thus this volume argues that LAC s regional economic integration agenda needs to go well beyond the current spaghetti bowl of preferential trading arrangements Regional Economic Integration in Latin America and the Caribbean: A Comparative Case Study

Paulette Howlett, 2012 Abstract In this study the question of whether integration is the answer to economic development in the Latin America and Caribbean LAC region is explored Regional economic integration is not a new phenomenon and can be traced at least as far back as World War II The specific problem is while the LAC region has seen a decline in tariffs from 40% in the 1980s to about 10% in 2008 the share of intra regional trade has declined or remained the same since 2000 In addition the region has seen exports drop from 11.3% in 1948 to 3.7% in 2007 whereas Asia saw an increase from 14% to 28% during the same period This study focused on collecting and comparing secondary data related to regional economic integration in the LAC region Three questions addressed within this study include a why integration has declined or ceased in the LAC region b what efforts are warranted for government leaders to embrace transformational leadership in devising programs and policies that foster integration in the region and c how important is regional integration in the globalized economic world Necessary to moving forward is collective leadership from the countries that also lead in governance effectiveness and political stability The findings show although efforts continue to restart the process some charges of protectionism and lack of readiness are valid On the other hand many good arguments exist for greater integration in the LAC region Integration has played a role in the defense of democratic principles especially when threatened by de facto regimes or periods of political instability Continued research on integration as an economic approach and solution for LAC is imperative A better understanding of benefits and challenges related to hemispheric or regional integration is a reason to continue research on this topic

Open Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean United Nations. Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean, 1994 An attempt to answer some general and specific questions regarding regional integration such as Why should integration be encouraged What kind of integration should be encouraged Which mechanisms and instruments are most suitable for integrating economies at this point How do the new integration plans differ from those of the 1960s and 1970s The answers to these and other questions are based on the core premise that recent integration efforts have generally involved the interaction of two types of phenomena trade liberalization and deregulation policies introduced at the national level and explicit agreements or policies which entail certain preferences with respect to the treatment accorded other nations Handbook of Latin American Studies v 57

Cluster Report International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept., 2017-03-10 This cluster report takes stock of and explores opportunities for trade integration in Latin America and the Caribbean LAC Drawing on a set of 12 analytical studies that will be issued as working papers the report examines the determinants of trade explores the potential to enhance LAC's trade integration and assesses the associated economic and social effects To deepen understanding of the region's policy options and trade strategies the report also incorporates the views of LAC country authorities based on responses to a survey This provides an opportunity to examine the alignment of recommendations based on the analytical findings with the region's current trade policy priorities with the caveat that the survey was conducted between late 2015 and mid 2016 prior to the most recent developments in the global trade landscape Resilience of Regionalism in Latin America and the Caribbean Andrés Rivarola Puntigliano, J. Briceño-Ruiz, 2013-03-05 As regionalisation becomes an increasingly hot topic the authors explain why regionalism has been most successful in Latin America and analyse current processes and opinions of possible future developments in the region including the Caribbean Central America Brazil and Mexico Better Neighbors Chad Philips Bown, 2017 Towards an evaluation of regional integration in Latin America in the 1990's (Working Paper ITD = Documento de Trabajo ITD; 2) Robert Devlin, Ricardo Ffrench-Davis, 1998 Regional Integration in Latin America and Dynamic Gains from Macroeconomic Cooperation Hubert Escaith, Igor Paunovic, 2003 This publication examines the concept challenges and benefits to be gained from macroeconomic policy co operation between countries in the Latin America and the Caribbean region using examples from fiscal monetary and exchange rate policies Cuba's Journey Towards Regional Integration in Latin America & the Caribbean Catriona Pender, 2004 What's New in the New Regionalism in the Americas? Robert Devlin, Antoni Estevadeordal, 2000 Latin America and the Caribbean : Present Challenges to Its Regional Integration and the Role of INTAL Institute for Latin American Integration, 1988 Breaking from Isolation Anneke Jessen, Andrew Katona, 2001 Instruments of Economic Integration in Latin America and in the Caribbean Inter-American Institute of International Legal Studies, 1975 An updated expanded and thorough revision of the institute s 1968 publication Instruments relating to the economic integration of Latin America The Politics of Regional Integration in Latin America O. Dabène, 2009-08-31 This book explores the widely admitted failure of regional integration in this continent linking the features of regional institutional arrangements with domestic politics and includes an inquiry into regionalism at the hemispherical level Regional Integration and Productivity Ernesto López-Córdova, Mauricio Mesquita Moreira, 2003 International Courts in Latin America and the Caribbean Salvatore Caserta, 2020 A distinctive feature of modern international society is the increase in the number of international judicial bodies and dispute settlement and implementation control bodies in their case loads and in the range and importance of the issues they are called upon to address These factors reflect a new stage in the delivery of international justice The International Courts and Tribunals series has been established to encourage the publication of independent and scholarly works which address in critical and analytical fashion the legal and policy aspects of the functioning of international courts and tribunals including their institutional substantive and procedural aspects Book jacket Comparative Analysis of Regionalism in Latin America and Asia-Pacific Ramiro Pizarro, United Nations. Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. International Trade and Development Finance Division, 1999 The growing participation of developing countries in multilateral trade liberalisation as well as the boom in free trade agreements that grant exclusive preferences to its members are both closely related to what has been called open regionalism This paper examines the differences and similarities among initiatives for regional economic co operation
