Regionalization And Security In Southern Africa:

Regionalization and Security in Southern Africa N. Poku, 2001-02-02 Once torn by ideological conflicts and the dominance of command economies Southern Africa is now moving towards economic liberalism and openness In general the ascendancy of market economics is acknowledged by its governments albeit with different degrees of enthusiasm Theoretically rich and empirically engaging this timely book offers a critical insight into the ensuing debate on regionalism and the process of regionalization in southern Africa

Region-Building in Southern Africa Chris Saunders, Gwinyayi Albert Dzinesa, Dawn Nagar, 2013-07-04 How successful have Southern African states been in dealing with the major issues that have faced the region in recent years What could be done to produce more cohesive and effective region building in Southern Africa In this original and wide ranging volume which draws on an interdisciplinary team of mainly African and African based specialists the key political socio economic and security challenges facing Southern Africa today are addressed These include the various issues confronting the Southern African Development Community SADC and its institutions such as HIV AIDS migration and xenophobia land grabbing and climate change and the role of the main external actors involved with the region including the United Nations the European Union the United States and China The book also looks at the Southern African Customs Union and Southern African Development Finance Institutions including the Development Bank of Southern Africa and Industrial Development Corporation and issues of gender and peacebuilding In doing so the book goes to the heart of analyzing the effectiveness of SADC and other regional organisation suggesting how region building in Southern Africa may be compared with similar attempts elsewhere in Africa and other parts of the world

Security and Development in Southern Africa Nana Poku, 2001-04-30 With the end of white dominated South Africa many observers have argued for a positive transformation of the whole of Southern Africa based upon market integration and increased cooperation among the states of the region Poku and the contributors to this collection re examine this optimistic scenerio and they point to the problems of translating good intentions into actual policies In reality the economic imbalance between South Africa and its neighbors poses severe problems for the region Far from finding a stronger ally in regional reconstruction and development the countries in the region are finding that for many in South Africa they simply do not matter that much The analysis points to greater polarization which may imply greater marginalization of the poorer countries in the region Moreover a major widening of the gap between the richer South Africa and some or all of the weaker economies may lead to increased tensions and breakdown of regional relations even to a situation detrimental to economic development in the region A provocative analysis by some of the leading politico economic thinkers of the region the volume will be of great use to scholars researchers and policy makers involved with Southern African development

Zahid Shahab Ahmed,2016-04-08 Zahid Shahab Ahmed evaluates the progress of the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation SAARC This study goes beyond economic integration to present a detailed appraisal of cooperation under the overarching themes of economic cooperation environmental security human welfare and cooperation in security matters According to the author SAARC is making progress in addressing the myriad of issues on its agenda The transition from agreements to actions and frequent interactions among the member states has boosted confidence The progress of SAARC is more evident in the less controversial areas of human security such as poverty alleviation health and safety human resources development and higher education Notwithstanding enthusiastic commitments reflected in agreements and action plans there is a gulf between rhetoric and implementation most notably in sensitive areas relating to traditional security In the light of the findings of this study the author proposes that greater cooperation in common human security areas has a potential to pave the way for a cooperation on issues of a contentious nature particularly terrorism regionalization in Africa is more rhetoric than reality It discusses the progress to date on specific themes identifies historical political sustainability and funding challenges and concludes that while the impacts of regionalization efforts have not been fully realized there is cautious optimism for the future Regionalization of Security and the Reconstruction of a Region Gladys Mokhawa,Ian Taylor,University of St. Andrews. School of International Relations,2011 This thesis central aim is to rethink regional security cooperation in southern Africa by transcending the geopolitics that has been characteristic to the region The constructivist inspired regional security complex theory is thus preferred as an analytic device through which a non statist understanding of security within the region could be conceived Furthermore to understand how the Southern African Development Community SADC is involved in the re construction of the region the region building approach is adopted although the thesis is mindful of the fact that this approach is relevant to regions that have high levels of regionality Comprehension of the regional security cooperation could not be possible without deconstructing the taken for granted understanding of regional security cooperation To this end post modern and post structuralists traditions become sites in which the altered and reformulations of regional security cooperation can be imagined with the hope of re imagining new interpretations of regional security politics Thus linguistically inspired methodology and methods are embraced in order to unmask the taken for granted understandings and transform them into objects of discussion and criticism Therefore SADC s critical and ironic security dynamics are considered within the post modern tradition without necessarily engaging in the aesthetics of this tradition Zimbabwe as a case illuminates the limits of modernistic understanding of regional security cooperation The thesis concludes by proposing regionalist understanding of security alternatives that are based on integrated analysis of security threats and preventative approach to responses The New Regionalism and the Future of Security and Development B. Hettne,2016-04-30 This book is dedicated to the implications of the new regionalism for global security and development The fourth in the five volume New Regionalism Series it features contributions from the UNU WIDER project on new regionalism African Regional Trade Agreements as Legal Regimes James Thuo Gathii,2011-07-21 African regional trade integration has grown exponentially in the last decade This book is the first comprehensive analysis of the legal framework within which it is being pursued It will fill a huge knowledge gap and serve as an invaluable teaching and research tool for policy makers in the public and private sectors teachers researchers and students of African trade and beyond The author argues that African Regional Trade Agreements RTAs are best understood as flexible legal regimes particularly given their commitment to variable geometry and multiple memberships He analyzes the progress made toward trade liberalization in each region how the RTAs are financed their trade remedy and judicial regimes and how well they measure up to Article XXIV of GATT The book also covers monetary unions as well as intra African regional integration and examines free trade agreements with non African regions including the Economic Partnership Agreements with the European Union Regionalization of the World Pierre Beckouche,Yann Richard,2024-04-16 On the world map macro regions or global regions have gradually emerged with varying degrees of success and following different trajectories The authors of this book attempt to determine whether within the context of globalization these macro regions have become an additional level in the spatial deployment of numerous actors and whether they have come to stand between the national and global levels This question has arisen because the increasing scales of trade environmental problems migration routes energy distribution the construction of major infrastructures etc transcend national boundaries and are leading states to implement macro regional cooperation The authors ask whether these large regional groupings are becoming genuine territories and are the fruit of in depth regional integration economic institutional legal normative political cultural and in terms of identity If so these global regions would therefore become referents that make sense and take root in social representations

The Southern African Development Community (SADC) and the European Union (EU) Johannes Muntschick, 2017-10-09 This book explores regionalism in the Southern African Development Community SADC and highlights the influence of the European Union EU as an extra regional actor on the organization and integration process The analysis is guided by theory and explains the emergence institutional design and performance of SADC s major integration projects in the issue areas of the economy security and infrastructure It provides in this way a profound assessment of the organization as a whole The study shows that South Africa plays a regional key role as driver for integration while external influence of the EU is ambivalent in character because it unfolds a supportive or obstructive impact The author argues that the EU gains influence over regional integration processes in the SADC on the basis of patterns of asymmetric interdependence and becomes a game changer insofar as it facilitates or impedes solutions to regional cooperation problems

Critical Security Studies Keith Krause, Michael C. Williams, 2002-09-11 This text takes issue with arguments that security studies is a discipline of limited use in making sense of the post Cold War world It argues that many of the most interesting theoretical issues in international relations can most usefully be studied through a prism labelled security studies The book combines chapters which provide a variety of critical perspectives on the discipline and address a diverse range of theoretical concerns with chapters that examine such substantive issues as weapons proliferation and the changing meaning of security for actors in the erstwhile conflict between East and West

Regional Economic Organizations and Conventional Security Challenges M. Leann Brown, 2017-11-22 Within the context of regional integration comparative regionalism organizational change and regional security literatures this book investigates three cases wherein regional economic organizations were confronted with conventional security threats the 1978 91 Association of Southeast Asian Nations Vietnam Standoff the 1990 Economic Community of West Africa

Liberian Civil War Challenge and the 1990 91 European Communities Balkans Crisis While the literature suggests multiple possible explanations for regional economic organizations response to these security challenges including systemic and power related factors organizational factors and functional needs and cognitive and social factors the author argues that the decision to transform a regional economic organization into a conventional security actor is most influenced by decision makers perceptions of threat and functional necessity

Handbook of Regional Conflict Resolution Initiatives in the Global South Jeronimo Delgado-Caicedo, 2022-07-28 During the first half of the twentieth century the international system was largely dominated by the USA and the colonial powers of western Europe After the two world wars the political and economic dominance of these states guaranteed them and their allies an almost complete control of world politics However as it is the norm in the international system power structures are not immutable After the end of the Cold War rapid changes to the existing international hierarchies took place as new countries from the so called developing world began to emerge as crucial actors capable of questioning and altering the power dynamics of the world It is therefore unthinkable to ignore emerging countries such as Russia the People s Republic of China India Brazil or South Africa in the decision making process in today s world order In addition there is a group of smaller yet increasingly important countries that while acknowledging their inability radically to change the rules of the international system are still eager to shift power relations and enhance their influence in the world Argentina Colombia Egypt Indonesia Iran South Korea Mexico Nigeria Pakistan Saudi Arabia Turkey and Vietnam are generally recognised as part of this grouping of emerging powers from the Global South While there is a consensus amongst academics that emerging powers from the Global South must have a stabilising role within their own regions previous analyses have focused primarily on the impact that emerging powers have had in their own regions conflict resolution initiatives This volume instead aims to go beyond these analyses and provide new insights regarding the effect that this stabilising role has on the continental and global positioning of emerging powers In other words this book explores the relation between a country s involvement in conflict resolution initiatives and its positioning in the international system The volume will contribute to this approach using the perspective of academics and practitioners from countries of the Global South particularly from states that have strengthened or sometimes weakened their position in the international hierarchy of power through a leading role in regional conflict resolution initiatives from the point of view of the region e.g. West East Central and Southern Africa. The national perspectives in Part II focus on the new regionalism in Africa from the point of view of particular countries or specific state society complexes such as Kenya, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, DRC, the enclave of Cabinda, Angola and Zambia. Part III contains two concluding chapters that tie the main threads of the volume together theoretically and empirically and discuss the contribution of the analytical framework, the new regionalism approach, NRA, to the larger study of regionalism. Handbook on Urban Food Security in the Global South, Jonathan Crush, Bruce Frayne, Gareth Haysom, 2020-12-25. The ways in which the rapid urbanization of the Global South is transforming food systems and food supply chains and the food security of urban populations is an often neglected topic. This international group of authors addresses this profound transformation from a variety of different perspectives and disciplinary lenses, providing an important corrective to the dominant view that food insecurity is a rural problem requiring increases in agricultural production. Regional Security, Rodrigo Tavares, 2009-12-16. Regional organizations are an inescapable feature of global politics. Virtually all countries in the world are members of at least one regional or other intergovernmental organization. The involvement of international organizations in the realm of regional peace and security and their cooperation in this domain with the United Nations has reached an unprecedented level. Regional organizations have traditionally been formed around economic, political or environmental objectives; however, over the last decades, these organizations have gradually penetrated into the security sphere and developed their capacities in conflict prevention, peacekeeping or post-war reconstruction. In Europe, Africa, Asia or the Americas, regional and other intergovernmental organizations have been concurrently empowered by the UN and their own member states to maintain peace and security. Despite suffering from important discrepancies in both their mandates and capacities, regional organizations have become indisputable actors that play a role from the outbreak of a crisis to the reconstruction efforts in the aftermath of a conflict. Presenting the most up-to-date critical and comparative analysis of the major regional security institutions, assessing a wide range of regional organizations and providing an accessible and comprehensive guide to 11 key organizations, this book is the first systematic study of the capacities of the most recognized intergovernmental organizations with a security mandate. Regional Security is essential reading for all students of international organizations, peace and security studies and global governance.
