Fisher, 1961-12-15 The author of this important contribution to the study of Blake was tragically drowned in a sailing accident when he had almost completed it in manuscript His was a critical mind of singular erudition and power As is abundantly evidenced in these chapters which Northrop Frye has prepared for publication Fisher had made a careful study of Oriental philosophy and of Plato and the Neo Platonists and this background enabled him to make an original and fruitful analysis of his central interest Blake The book is not a study of Blake's sources but of his context The author is trying to answer the question given Blake's general point of view why does he make the specific judgments he does make judgments which so often seem merely glib or petulant or perverse Blake himself in explaining a painting remarked It ought to be understood that the Persons Moses Abraham are not here meant but the States Signified by those Names Fisher explains what Blake meant by states and shows that such names as Plato Bacon or Newton or such terms as priest or deist in Blake's writings refer not to individuals but to cultural forces in Western civilization the influence of which accounted for the social conditions that Blake attacked The attack itself Fisher shows was based on a revolutionary dialectic a sense of the underlying opposition between reactionaries committed to obscurantism and social injustice the Elect as Blake calls them and the prophets committed to a greater vision the Reprobate with the mass of the public the Redeemed in between From Data to Decisions in Music Education Research Brian C. Self-Regulation and Ego Control Edward R. Hirt, Joshua John Clarkson, Lile Jia, 2016-08-08 Self Regulation and Ego Control examines the physiological effects of depletion the effects of psychological variables in self control depletion effects the role of motivational and goal states on self control depletion effects and a number of cognitive perspectives on self control exertion This insightful book begins with an introduction of self control theories ego depletion phenomena and experimental examples of research in self control and concludes by delineating more inclusive and comprehensive models of self regulation that can account for the full spectrum of findings from current research In recent years researchers have had difficulty identifying the underlying resources responsible for depletion effects Moreover further research has identified several psychological and motivational factors that can ameliorate depletion effects These findings have led many to question assumptions of the dominant strength model and suggest that capacity limitations alone cannot account for the observed effects of depletion Self Regulation and Ego Control facilitates discourse across researchers from different ideological camps and advances more integrated views of self regulation based on this research Covers the neuropsychological evidence for depletion effects highlighting the roles of reward valuation and control in self regulation Reviews the roles of willpower expectancies of mental energy change and individual differences in the modulation of self control exertion Highlights the effects of various states such as positive mood power implementation intentions mindfulness and social rejection as moderators of depletion Provides clarification of the distinctions between self control in the context of goal directed behavior versus related terms like self regulation executive control and inhibition Details the overlap between mental and physical depletion and the potential interplay and substitutability of resources Challenges the view that depletion reflects capacity limitations and includes newer models that take a more motivational account of resource allocation Facilitates discourse across researchers from different ideological camps within the field Informs and enriches future research and advances more integrated views of self regulation Out of Control Erich Goode, 2008 A supplemental textbook that examines the self control theory of crime from a range of perspectives both supportive and critical

Encyclopedia of Criminological Theory Francis T. Cullen, Pamela Wilcox, 2010-09-23 Consistently excellent The level and coverage of the content make this an invaluable reference for students studying criminology or taking criminal psychology modules at degree level and beyond Adam Tocock Reference Reviews In discussing a criminology topic lecturers and course textbooks often toss out names of theorists or make a sideways reference to a particular theory and move on as if assuming their student audience possesses the necessary background to appreciate and integrate the reference However university reference librarians can tell you this is often far from the case Students often approach them seeking a source to provide a quick overview of a particular theory or theorist with just the basics the who what where how and why if you will And reference librarians often find it difficult to guide these students to a quick one stop source In response SAGE Reference is publishing the two volume Encyclopedia of Criminological Theory available in both print and electronic formats This serves as a reference source for anyone interested in the roots of contemporary criminological theory Drawing together a team of international scholars it examines the global landscape of all the key theories and the theorists behind them presenting them in the context needed to understand their strengths and weaknesses In addition to interpretations of long established theories it also offers essays on cutting edge research as one might find in a handbook And like an unabridged dictionary it provides concise to the point definitions of key concepts ideas schools and figures Coverage will include contexts and concepts in criminological theory the social construction of crime policy implications of theory diversity and intercultural contexts conflict theory rational choice theories conservative criminology feminist theory Elements of Psychology Noah Knowles Davis, 1892 Three Faces of Desire Timothy Schroeder, 2004-08-12 Desires lead to actions influence feelings and determine what counts as a reward Recent empirical evidence shows that these three aspects of desire stem from a common biological origin The author reveals this common foundation and builds a striking new philosophical theory of desire that puts desire's neglected face reward at its core Djuna Barnes' Consuming Fictions Diane Warren, 2017-11-28 Djuna Barnes 1892-1982 was a pioneering female journalist experimental novelist playwright and poet whose influence on literary modernism was profound and whose writings anticipated many of the preoccupations of poststructuralist and feminist thought In her new book the author argues that Barnes' writings made significant contributions to gender and aesthetic debates in their immediate early twentieth century context and that they continue to contribute to present day debates on identity In particular Warren traces the works' close engagement with the effects of cultural boundaries on the individual showing how the journalism Ryder Ladies Almanack and the early chapters of Nightwood energetically and playfully subvert such boundaries In this reading Nightwood is contextualised as a pivotal text which poses questions about the limits of subversion thereby positioning The Antiphon 1958 as an analysis of why such boundaries are sometimes necessary Djuna Barnes Consuming Fictions shows that from the irreverent and carnivalesque iconoclasm of Barnes early works to the bleak assessment that conflict lies at the root of culture seen from the close of Nightwood Barnes oeuvre offers a profound analysis of the relationship between culture the individual and textual expression      Changing the Subject

Julian Henriques, Wendy Hollway, Cathy Urwin, Couze Venn, Valerie Walkerdine, 2003-09-02 Changing the Subject is a classic critique of traditional psychology in which the foundations of critical and feminist psychology are laid down Pioneering and foundational it is still the groundbreaking text crucial to furthering the new psychology in both teaching and research Now reissued with a new foreword describing the changes which have taken place over the last few years Changing the Subject will continue to have a significant impact on thinking about psychology and social theory      South Africa, the Prospects of Peaceful Change

Theodor Hanf, Heribert Weiland, Gerda Vierdag, 1981      Ethics for Rational Animals Elena Cagnoli Fieconci, 2024 Ethics for Rational Animals presents a new account of practical wisdom virtue and akrasia acting against one's best judgement through an original study of the moral psychology at the basis of Aristotle's ethics It ranges over his works on ethics psychology and biology and defends a novel view concerning Aristotle's intellectualism      Parliamentary Debates
