Reinvigorating Faith in Communities Amy L. Sherman, 2002 This volume collects several of Amy Sherman's published and unpublished reflections on faith based welfare reform Part One establishes why public policy makers should care about the faith community including both a discussion of the specific contributions religious institutions are making to solve social problems and an analysis of how religious institutions are strengthening society's moral and cultural fiber Part Two describes models of faith in action giving a human face to the issue while reminding readers that the policy debate over faith based organizations is about improving service to the needy Later sections specifically address government faith collaboration highlighting general principles and specific lessons learned from a variety of efforts in the last five years concluding with specific recommendations for unleashing the power of faith based organizations

Faith-based Social Services Stephanie C. Boddie, Ram A. Cnaan, 2006 The Charitable Choice provision and the Bush Administration's National Faith Based Initiative have broadened the scope of social services delivered through faith based organizations There are expectations that these faith based social service providers will be more effective but how should that effectiveness be measured Faith Based Social Services Measures Assessments and Effectiveness explains the nature and quality of religion based social service delivery while serving as a point of reference for future research and work This unique source tackles the important complex issue of measuring the effectiveness of faith based social services in comparison to secular services while providing analysis of the latest available studies

Faith in Action Richard L. Wood,2002-09-15 Over the past fifteen years associations throughout the U S have organized citizens around issues of equality and social justice often through local churches But in contrast to President Bush s vision of faith based activism in which groups deliver social services to the needy these associations do something greater Drawing on institutions of faith they reshape public policies that neglect the disadvantaged To find out how this faith based form of community organizing succeeds Richard L Wood spent several years working with two local groups in Oakland California the faith based Pacific Institute for Community Organization and the race based Center for Third World Organizing Comparing their activist techniques and achievements Wood argues that the alternative cultures and strategies of these two groups give them radically different access to community ties and social capital Creative and insightful Faith in Action shows how community activism and religious organizations can help build a
