Politics Of Economic Reform In Zimbabwe Continuity And Change In Development:

The Politics of Economic Reform in Zimbabwe Tor Skålnes, 2016-07-27 In 1990 Zimbabwe embarked on economic liberalisation. The country's economic associations notably that erstwhile proponent of protectionism the Confederation of Zimbabwe Industries had successfully lobbied for gradual reform. While state autonomy has often been regarded as a vital condition for reform in Zimbabwe societal groups have induced an initially recalcitrant government to reconsider its basic policies. After 1980 the government tried to limit political competition. However because of the perceived need for racial reconciliation following the guerrilla war it maintained dialogue with settler dominated interest groups along the pattern of societal corporatism established in the 1930s. By contrast African associations particularly labour unions have regularly been subjected to regimentation. The government however has listened more closely to the demands of African farmers who want to preserve parastatal marketing and governmental determination of prices. In Zimbabwe key urban groups support liberalisation while key rural groups do not. Theories of urban bias must therefore be qualified.

The World Bank and Non-Governmental Organizations P. Nelson, 1995-10-27 This book assesses the World Bank's interaction with non governmental organizations NGOs in projects policy dialogue and elsewhere. Based on extensive project documents public and private policy statements and interviews the author identifies central organizational barriers to greater collaboration and accountability and links these to the international political economy of the World Bank. The author suggests guidelines for judging organizational change in the World Bank reviews opportunities and dangers for NGOs in relating with major aid donors and discusses agenda and strategy.

Perspectives on Third-World Sovereignty Mark E. Debham, Mark Owen Lombardi, 2016-07-27 This book explores the concept of sovereignty in the post modern world and its interrelationship to problems and issues facing the Third World. Specifically it examines the theoretical and practical dimensions of sovereignty in the current era such as its changing dimensions and possible disintegration. These issues are placed into a real world context by examining their relationships to political and economic development in the Third World The Aftermath of 'Real Existing Socialism' in Eastern Europe

 Jacques Hersh, Johannes Dragsbaek Schmidt, 2016-07-27 The themes in this book concern former Soviet type societies 1 Is the capitalist world system willing and able to absorb these newcomers or are they condemned to Third worldization 2 Is the neoliberal advice of simultaneous political democratization and economic liberalization a viable path 3 Is the East Asian model of authoritarianism and governed markets a better option 4 Can the revolution of rising expectations be harnessed into a new structure of accumulation based on class polarisations 5 Are there lessons in Chinese market socialism In this topical and timely collection these questions are answered by an interdisciplinary and international team of specialists Social Reconstructions of the World Automobile Industry Frederic C. Deyo, 2016-07-27 This book assesses the varying ways in which automobile assemblers in several countries of East and Southeast Asia Europe and the Americas have sought to enhance their efficiency and flexibility in response to heightened global competition during the 1980s and early 1990s It then explores the implications of such managerial strategies for workers and trade unions and the responses of unions in seeking to preserve or enhance worker welfare and voice under industrial restructuring The New World Order in International Finance G. Underhill, 1997-04-12 The author provides a clear portrait of the dramatic transformation of the global financial system in the late 20th century Drawing on work by a prestigious and interdisciplinary set of specialists this volume looks at the political economy of individual sectors of the financial services industry at regional market patterns such as the EU and NAFTA and at individual countries from the Asian NICs to Europe and the United States The book captures the complexity and dynamics of a sector with vital implications for the future of global economic development Forests and Livelihoods S. Barracclough, K. Ghimire, 1995-11-05 The social dynamics of deforestation and of forest protection are the ongoing interactions amongst social actors and processes that determine the use and management of forests Based on a vast amount of research and detailed case studies in Brazil Central America Nepal and Tanzania as well as several papers dealing with wider themes and regions this book argues that most current discussions of increased rates of deforestation and perceived accompanying environmental crises are overly simplistic Institutional reforms and policy measures that have been undertaken in developing countries usually failed to protect either the forests or people s livelihoods Technical solutions to deforestation are only one element in what are essentially political questions The central issue is not how to halt deforestation but rather how to manage forest areas and natural resources in order to meet social goals on a more equitable and sustainable basis Conventional wisdom that attributes deforestation primarily to peasant ignorance and population growth is questioned as are other single factor explanations such as market and policy failures Global Establishment David Kowalewski, 2016-07-27 Global Establishment applies the theory of establishmentism to international political economy After the 1930 80 period which greatly damaged the interests of the elites of Northern countries the establishments of the North increasingly meshed across national borders They also forged close connections with the national establishments of

Asian nations Whereas this new transnational class formation the Global Establishment has been of great benefit to Northern and Asian elites it has brought considerable suffering to Asian nonelites These nonelites have fought back in the form of numerous strikes demonstrations and terrorist acts

Foreign Direct Investment in a Changing Global Political Economy Steve Chan,2016-07-27 This book examines foreign direct investment in a changing world economy It offers case studies of this investment in different national and industrial contexts Firms and countries have encountered mixed results in using this investment to further their foreign leverage Conversely potential host countries have faced different opportunities and constraints in attracting or utilizing foreign capital for their development Although some countries have been relatively successful most do not appear to be well positioned to take advantage of the ongoing processes of globalization of national economies

Security Problems and Policies in the Post-Cold War Caribbean Humberto Garcia Muniz,Jorge Rodriguez Beruff,2016-07-27 This volume brings together contributions by eleven noted specialists on peace and security issues in the Caribbean All chapters are based on recent research on the radically transformed regional situation in the post Cold War context Particular emphasis is placed on the formulation of security policies by the most relevant security actors including both external powers present in the region independent states and subregional groupings This discussion is placed in the framework of post Cold War security outlooks which focus on non traditional threats mainly drugs and illegal migration

Post-Socialist World Orders Robert Boardman,2016-07-27 Post Socialist World Orders presents a study of Soviet Russian Federation and Chinese policies in selected UN institutions from the early 1980s to the early 1990s The analysis is set in the context of research in international political economy Part I focuses on Russia and comprises chapters on foreign policy relations with international financial institutions technical agencies and approaches to peace and security issues Part II deals with China s foreign policy and economic modernization and examines policies in the same set of institutions

Latin America's New Insertion in the World Economy Ruud Buitelaar,Pitou van Dijck,2016-07-27 Latin America s New Insertion in the World Economy examines the contributions governments can make in order to stimulate efficient and export orientated manufacturing production in small and medium sized economies in Latin America in the coming years The study focuses on the progress that has been made recently to correct policy failures of the past the obstacles and bottlenecks that have occurred in the process of economic transition and the challenges the selected countries face in order to stimulate in a systematic way the development of an internationally competitive manufacturing sector

Southeast Asia in the New World Order Bruce Burton,David Wurfel,2016-07-27 This multi authored book looks at one of the most dynamic regions of the Third World within the context of the rapidly changing international system of the 1990s Among the many themes it explores are ASEAN s new political roles and new modes of economic cooperation the growing importance of ecological and human rights issues the policies of the major external powers towards the region the Cambodian and Spratly conflicts and the relevance of Southeast Asian experience in the New World Order to the ongoing theoretical debates about democracy the market the state and multilateralism Cuba in the International System John M. Kirk, Archibald R.M. Ritter, 2016-07-27 This book examines the evolution of Cuba's foreign relations since the demise of the USSR. It is divided into three sections: the first examines the nature of economic and political change that has taken place in Cuba in the last three years; the second analyzes the evolution of Cuban international relations which have flourished in recent years; the final section examines the nature of the impasse in bilateral relations with the USA and offers some suggestions to resolve the difficulties.

Children in the International Political Economy G. Kent, 1995-09-13 The first line of responsibility for children lies with their parents, but what if the parents fail to look after their children? Who else is involved and what should they do? Children in the International Political Economy examines the moral responsibilities of different individuals and agencies towards children and argues that some responsibilities should be codified as concrete legal duties. If all else fails, children must look to the international community for help. Thus international agencies should recognize specific obligations to look after the well-being of children around the world.

Supporting Civil Society Laura Macdonald, 2016-07-27 Many analysts are looking to non-governmental organizations (NGOs) as the promoters of more equitable and democratic forms of development because of their status as actors in civil society. Based on a critical evaluation of six rural development projects in Costa Rica and Nicaragua, Supporting Civil Society shows that NGOs often perpetuate paternalism and dependency. It is argued that both international and national NGOs need to support social movements which are best able to express the demands of people at the grassroots.

Votes and Budgets John Healey, William Tordoff, 2016-07-27 This book presents case studies in accountable government and the management of public funds with particular reference to the multi-party political systems of Botswana, Jamaica, Sri Lanka, and Zambia under the Third Republic. Criteria for judging accountability are set out, and the role and influence of political leadership, elections, parties, parliaments, interest groups, the media, and external donors are explored. Conclusions take account of the comparisons which are drawn with the experience of single-party regimes in Africa and Asia.
