

The illustration depicts a person with long, wavy blonde hair and a human face, looking directly at the viewer. The torso is replaced by a complex, dark-colored mechanical structure with various gears, pipes, and a large circular component on the right side. The person is wearing a light blue, long-sleeved garment. Above the head is a halo of twelve small, circular coins arranged in a ring. The background is a solid dark color. The title and author's name are printed in white at the bottom.

Women as Candidates in American Politics Susan J. Carroll, 1994-05-22 In this second edition Susan Carroll updates her pioneering study of women candidates and their campaigns in the aftermath of the Year of the Woman Although in many regards the political climate has become vastly more favorable for female candidates opportunities are still limited by the political structure Carroll examines a number of possible reforms and actual developments which may eventually mean larger numbers of women being elected to public office American Book Publishing Record Cumulative, 1950-1977 R.R. Company. Department of Bibliography, 1978 Epistemologies and Ethics in Adult Education and Lifelong Learning Richard G. Bagnall, Steven Hodge, 2022-02-17 This book presents and advocates for a framework of competing epistemologies and conceptions of ethics as a way of understanding modernist lifelong learning These epistemologies are grounded in a recognition of the normative nature of knowledge that informs lifelong learning each being framed by a different account of the sort of knowledge that is most valued and therefore foregrounded in lifelong learning policy provision and engagement informed by the epistemology Each epistemology is also characterised by its constituent conception of ethics Four such epistemologies and conceptions of ethics are here recognised as having been important in the lifelong learning movement to date disciplinary developmental emancipatory and design The authors argue that assumptions about knowledge and moral positions constitute a powerful but not well understood feature of such arguments awareness of these assumptions and positions could serve to powerfully advance the overall understanding of what is at stake in lifelong learning and adult education at all levels The National Union Catalog , 1973 Medical Research in the Veterans' Administration
