House Angela Thirkell, 2024-03-07 Charming very funny indeed Angela Thirkell is perhaps the most Pym like of any twentieth century author after Pym herself Alexander McCall Smith Edgewood Rectory may be set in an ancient landscape but the Grantly family are very much of their time Caught up in the uncertain world that has emerged since the outbreak of peace the Rector and Mrs Grantly are bewildered by the challenges facing their eldest children Eleanor longing for more excitement than can be found in the Red Cross Library and Tom struggling to readjust to student life at Oxford after his military service When their elderly neighbour Miss Sowerby sells her beloved Old Bank House to self-made MP Sam Adams the one-time outsider finds himself at the heart of Barsetshire society And while Sam may dismiss her advice that the house needs a mistress even a contented widower can be surprised by love Love at All Ages Angela Thirkell, 2024-01-23 From a starry-eyed teenager to an elderly clergyman it seems no one is immune to romance in the county of Barsetshire In the long running and beloved series that brings Anthony Trollope's Barsetshire into the mid twentieth century and offers a fresh original witty interpretation of England's social history the quirky inhabitants and well-bred families of the county find themselves navigating the delights and uncertainties of love The New York Times Lady Gwendolyn Harcourt no spring chicken is courted by the aging Reverend Oriel of Harefield And on the other end of the generational spectrum fresh-faced sixteen-year-old Lavinia Merton may have a future marriage prospect in her singing partner Ludovic Lord Mellings Thirkell's gently meandering account of the diversions of Barsetshire society leaves nothing to be desired New York Herald Tribune To read Thirkell is to get the feeling of knowing Barsetshire folk as well as if one had been born and bred in the county Kirkus Reviews A Space of Their Own Katie Baker, Naomi Walker, 2023-03-31 This collection explores how nineteenth and twentieth century women writers incorporated the idea of place into their writing Whether writing from a specific location or focusing upon a particular geographical or imaginary place women writers working between 1850 and 1950 valued a space of their own in which to work The period on which this collection focuses straddles two main areas of study nineteenth century writing and early twentieth century modernist writing so it enables discussion of how ideas of space progressed alongside changes in styles of writing It looks to the many ways women writers explored concepts of space and place and how they expressed these through their writings for example how they interpreted both urban and rural landscapes and how they presented domestic spaces A Space of Their Own will be of interest to those studying Victorian literature and modernist works as it covers a period of immense change for women s rights in society It is also not limited to just one type or definition of space Therefore it may also be of interest to academics outside of literature for example in gender studies cultural geography place writing and digital humanities

English Country Life in the Barsetshire Novels of Angela Thirkell Laura Collins, 1994-11-30. After the publication in 1932 of Angela Thirkell's first Barsetshire novel, her fans eagerly awaited a new book in the series and they were rewarded annually for the next 27 years. Drawing upon the entire body of Barsetshire novels set in Trollope's imaginary county whose seat Barchester is a cathedral town, Laura Collins shows Angela Thirkell's larger purposes in chronicling the daily lives of the rural English. English Country Life demonstrates Thirkell's conviction that loyalty to family, county, and country is the essential bond that strengthens middle-class culture; her close acquaintance with the English countryside; her high regard for the wit and wisdom of its people; and her firm conviction that the strong family unit is the backbone of the nation. These are recurrently illustrated in the Barsetshire series. Collins traces the development of representative county families and their responses to the forces of political and economic decline. The book conveys Thirkell's mastery of detail in recreating life on the county's estates and farms and in towns and villages, reflecting the cultural changes forced upon all social classes by the two World Wars and their aftermath. Collins shows how Thirkell's own life is reflected in her county chronicles. Perhaps most significantly, Collins believes Thirkell's own experiences as a daughter and as a mother to three sons are reflected throughout the novels, revealing largely in hindsight the touching ironies as well as the comedy of these relations. In the course of these narratives, her sharp sense of human nature is seen at its best when she introduces readers to the many babies, toddlers, and adolescents who grow up in Barsetshire. Making extensive use of the series, Collins demonstrates convincingly that Thirkell presents an authentic record of upper-middle-class English country life.
