Question Driven Writing:

Write Here: Developing Writing Skills in a Media-Driven World Randi Brummett de Leon, Brooke Hughes, 2020-04-30

Write Here is designed to teach students essential reading and writing skills using media examples to help explain academic concepts and provide opportunities for practice. It is adaptable because it covers the basics of reading writing and the modes of writing; it is appropriate to use in developmental composition classrooms. However, it also covers such topics as logical fallacies, rhetoric, timed writing, academic writing, source integration, and MLA/APA documentation, making it appropriate for a first year or stretch composition course. Many beginning writing students are underprepared and feel that writing just isn't for them. The authors hope to dispel that myth by using media examples and a conversational tone to introduce and teach the material. Write Here provides examples that are interesting to students while allowing them to connect to the subject matter on a more personal level. Additionally, the process of analyzing the media helps students sharpen their reading, writing, and critical thinking skills.

Writing Useful, Accessible, and Legally Defensible Psychoeducational Reports Michael Hass, Jeanne Anne Carriere, 2014-03-24 PRACTICAL GUIDANCE ON WRITING USEFUL ACCESSIBLE AND LEGALLY DEFENSIBLE PSYCHOEDUCATIONAL REPORTS From clearly identifying reasons for referral to making recommendations based on assessment results, Writing Useful Accessible and Legally Defensible Psychoeducational Reports offers practical guidance for creating reports that enhance the understanding of children and their strengths and challenges in order to better meet their educational and functional needs. The authors offer step by step guidelines for developing an assessment plan in a collaborative process with parents, teachers, and other professionals; choosing appropriate assessment and data collection tools; gathering relevant information; and providing clear and feasible individualized recommendations that directly respond to referral concerns in a format easily understood by parents and teachers. Ideal for graduate students in school psychology, school psychologists, and other professionals in related fields who work with children in a school setting, Writing Useful Accessible and Legally Defensible Psychoeducational Reports provides specific suggestions for increasing the usefulness and accessibility of reports, including readability, positive phrasing, and vocabulary. It illustrates how to develop well formed questions and how to choose assessment tools to answer referral questions. Reviews the legal mandates of report writing and discusses what must be included. Demonstrates how to accurately document and integrate data from record review, interviews, observations, and tests. Discusses how the use of the referral based consultative assessment and report writing model can promote more active involvement in collaboration, prevention, and intervention. Features numerous real world cases, helpful checklists, examples of question driven referral reports, and a model interview protocol.
