Atkinson, W. Lee Barnett, Michael Severe, 2016-11-09 Ministry with Youth in Crisis is a comprehensive treatment of major adolescent crises related to life themes including self identity faith formation family life social relationships sexuality suicide substance abuse and eating disorders The distinctiveness of this book is that it offers a fine blend of solid research workable theory and specific strategies for successfully ministering to and with youth in crisis Furthermore it emphasizes the caring and sensitive side of working effectively with adolescents experiencing both normal and extreme crisis situations This volume therefore is both descriptive and prescriptive in nature in that it describes the world teens live in and offers biblical responses for ministry

Handbook of Youth and Justice Susan O. White, 2001-01-31 When approached by Plenum to put together a volume of social science research on the topic of youth and justice I found the interdisciplinary challenge of such a project intriguing Having spent 2 years as Director of the Law and Social Science Program at the National Science Foundation I was well aware of the rich diversity of research that could fit within that topic I also knew that excellent research on youth and justice was coming from different communities of researchers who often were isolated from each other in their respective disciplines as psychologists sociologists criminologists or policy analysts I saw this project as an opportunity to break down some of this isolation by introducing these researchers and their work to each other and to the broader community of social scientists interested in law and justice There was another gap or set of gaps to be bridged as well The juvenile justice system and the criminal justice system differ in significant ways and the civil justice system which is a major venue for issues of youth and justice is yet another separate world Few researchers are likely to know the whole picture For example a focus on juvenile justice often ignores the extent to which civil justice proceedings shape the lives of young people through divorce custody adoption family preservation policies and other actions and vice versa Integrated Developmental and Life-course

Theories of Offending David P. Farrington, 2017-07-05 Developmental and life course criminology aims to provide information about how offending and antisocial behavior develops about risk and protective factors at different ages and about the effects of life events on the course of development This volume advances knowledge about these theories of offender behavior many of which have been formulated only in the last twenty years It also integrates knowledge about individual family peer school neighborhood community and situational influences on offender behavior and combines key elements of earlier theories such as strain social learning differential association and control theory Contributors Benjamin B

Lahey and Irwin D Waldman focus on antisocial propensity and the importance of biological and individual factors Alex R Piquero and Terrie E Moffitt distinguish between life course persistent and adolescent limited offenders David P Farrington presents the Integrated Cognitive Antisocial Potential ICAP theory which distinguishes between long term and short term influences on antisocial potential Richard F Catalano J David Hawkins and their colleagues test the Social Development Model SDM Marc Le Blanc proposes an integrated multi layered control theory in which criminal behavior depends on bonding to society psychological development modeling and constraints Robert J Sampson and John H Laub hypothesize that offending is inhibited by the strength of bonding to family peers schools and later adult social institutions such as marriage and jobs Terence P Thornberry and Marvin D Krohn propose an interactional theory of antisocial behavior Per Olof H Witkstrom s developmental ecological action theory emphasizes the importance of situational factors opportunities cause temptation friction produces provocation and monitoring and the risk of sanctions have deterrent effects Restructuring the Middle Level School Sally N. Lippman,2006-10-03 Regardless of its validity many adults share a belief that today s youth face an inauspicious future Drugs sex violence disintegration of the nuclear family technology that replaces interpersonal relationships that s what you hear in the news The media through its dramatization of the dangers and risks children confront and pose have created a well established image of disenfranchised hostile and often destructive children and adolescents This image ignores the many children who are thriving as well as the possibility of positive outcomes for children and youth With children comprising roughly 30% of the global population almost 2 billion children worldwide understanding exactly what leads children to grow into confident caring responsible adults is an issue that belongs at the forefront of every nation's agenda. Increasingly it is understood that we need not only to prevent negative outcomes but to promote positive outcomes. What Do Children Need to Flourish: Conceptualizing and Measuring Indicators of Positive Development, part of the Search Series on Developmentally Attentive Community and Society, focuses on how scholars and practitioners can begin to build rigorous measures of the healthy behaviors and attitudes that result in positive outcomes for children and youth. The volume is presented in five parts: Introduction and conceptual framework; Positive formation of the self: character, values, spirituality, life satisfaction, hope, and ethnic identity; Healthy habits: positive behaviors and time use; Positive relationships with parents and siblings; Positive attitudes and behaviors toward learning and school environments; Enacting positive values and behaviors in communities. What Do Children Need to Flourish: Conceptualizing and Measuring Indicators of Positive Development is an important volume for researchers and practitioners in fact for anyone interested and involved in working with children and adolescents.

Handbook of Religion and Social Institutions Helen Rose Ebaugh, 2007-10-23

Handbook for Religion and Social Institutions is written for sociologists who study a variety of sub disciplines and are interested in recent studies and theoretical approaches that relate religious variables to their particular area of interest. The handbook focuses on several major themes: Social Institutions such as Politics, Economics, Education, Health, and Social Welfare; Family and the Life Cycle; Inequality; Social Control; Culture; Religion as a Social Institution; and in a Global Perspective. This handbook will be of interest to social scientists including sociologists, anthropologists, political scientists, and other researchers whose study brings them in contact with the study of religion and its impact on social institutions.

Families and Adoption Harriet Gross, Marvin B. Sussman, 2021-12-12

Do parents with adoptive children see themselves as similar to or different from nonadoptive parents? Is the stigma attached to adoption lessening? Does open communication about adoption contribute to the family's well-being? How successful are adoptive adults at putting their adolescent turmoil behind them? These and many other important and complex questions are addressed in Families and Adoption, an informative guidebook that shows you how adoption is both a condition and a lifelong process. Families and Adoption discusses legislation that can serve the needs of various members of the adoptive experience to deepen your understanding of the key legal issues associated with consent and openness. It also provides you with detailed coverage of changes in adoption law, open adoption, research results, transracial and transethnic adoption, and the consequences of placing versus parenting for unmarried teenage women who give birth. Graduate students, social workers, adoption professionals, members of adoptive families, and couples wishing to adopt will find there isn't a rock that Families and Adoption leaves unturned. It presents you with vital information on the following topics: the developmental stages of reunion between an adoptive child and birth parent; notions of adoption, parenthood, and kinship; and how these notions are challenged after a reunion has taken place; the institution of adoption as it has existed for decades in American society; international adoption; respecting the bonds children have and helping them develop critical attachment skills those who accept open adoption and those who embrace it flexible parenting styles and their positive effect on developmentally vulnerable adoptees A skillful blend of personal adoption experiences and research studies Families and Adoption explores the special issues adoption presents and how all parties involved can work together to improve placement decisions ensure that a woman is confident in her decision to relinquish her child and help families select the most appropriate adoption arrangement The book s main strength is that it doesn t just look at the initial considerations of adoption it prepares you for the issues that will arise along the way A Portrait of Young Adolescents in the 1990s Peter C. Scales, Peter Scales, 1991 Search For Structure Francis Ianni, 1989 Francis Iannni has drawn upon over 1500 hours of listening to 300 adolescents studied over a period of ten years to weave a mosaic of insights into the protean nature of adolescence Edmund W Gordon Yale University Preventing Violence in America Robert L. Hampton, Pamela Jenkins, Thomas P. Gullotta, 1996 What can be done to address the problem of violence in society The contributors to this volume both scholars and practitioners examine this question by exploring the history of violence together with theoretical explanations The book discusses such issues as the disproportionate presence of violence within North American minority populations the concept of psychological resiliency how spirituality may serve as a protective factor and the role of television in promoting violence The contributors also address prevention and intervention strategies among gangs of young people and the implementation of special programmes in schools
