Race For Timbuktu In Search Of Africas City Of Gold:

The Race for Timbuktu Frank T. Kryza, 2006 In the first decades of the 19th century no place burned more brightly in the imagination of European geographers and fortune hunters than the lost city of Timbuktu This is the true story of Alexander Gordon Laing and the race to discover the city at a time when the continent was still largely uncharted The Readers' Advisory Guide to Nonfiction Neal Wyatt, 2007-05-14 Navigating what at she calls the extravagantly rich world of nonfiction renowned readers advisor RA Wyatt builds readers advisory bridges from fiction to compelling and increasingly popular nonfiction to encompass the library's entire collection She focuses on eight popular categories history true crime true adventure science memoir food cooking travel and sports Within each she explains the scope popularity style major authors and works and the subject's position in readers advisory interviews Wyatt addresses who is reading nonfiction and why while providing RAs with the tools and language to incorporate nonfiction into discussions that point readers to what to read next In easy to follow steps Wyatt Explains the hows and whys of offering fiction and nonfiction suggestions together Illustrates ways to get up to speed fast in nonfiction Shows how to lead readers to a variety of books using her read around and reading map strategies Provides tools to build nonfiction subject guides for the collection This hands on guide includes nonfiction bibliography key authors benchmark books with annotations and core collections It is destined to become the nonfiction bible for readers advisory and collection development helping librarians library workers and patrons select great reading from the entire library collection Timbuktu Unbound Rachel Ama Asaa Engmann, 2023 Timbuktu Unbound Islamic Texts Textual Traditions and Heritage in West Africa is a cutting edge collection offering a reconsideration of manuscripts in Muslim West Africa The contributors give voice to the dynamic ways in which textuality operates through technological innovations ongoing habituated practices and how the workings of power and authority within these communities inform these texts and their roles To that end this book explores a number of interrelated themes the social value of texts as objects personal libraries as forms of investment legacy social practices involved in the exchange movement and gifting of certain kinds of manuscripts hierarchies and evaluative treatments of manuscripts and quasi market forces The recent destruction and subsequent salvage operations to protect the Timbuktu manuscript libraries has highlighted their role as the quintessential exemplar of manuscript heritage in newly historicized Africa Yet these events also underscore the prevalent narrative about Muslim West African cultural heritage embodied in the form of manuscripts archives and documents as under dramatic and existential threat This volume seeks to diverge from this dominant salvific starting point of heritage discourse namely that such objects are things of intrinsic value to be saved in order to examine the more nuanced activities of diverse actors engaged in the study preservation acquisition movement and in some cases destruction and disposal of the wide range of materials that constitutes the textual heritage of these societies Rachel Ama Asaa Engmann is an Associate Professor at the Africa Institute Sharjah United Arab Emirates Timbuktu Marq De Villiers, Sheila Hirtle, 2012-11-13 The first book for general readers about the storied past of one of the world's most fabled cities Timbuktu the name still evokes an exotic faraway place even though the city's glory days are long gone Unspooling its history and legends resolving myth with reality Marq de Villiers and Sheila Hirtle have captured the splendour and decay of one of humankind's treasures Founded in the early 1100s by Tuareg nomads who called their camp Tin Buktu it became within two centuries a wealthy metropolis and a nexus of the trans Saharan trade Salt from the deep Sahara gold from Ghana and money from slave markets made it rich In part because of its wealth Timbuktu also became a centre of Islamic learning and religion boasting impressive schools and libraries that attracted scholars from Alexandria Baghdad Mecca and Marrakech The arts flourished and Timbuktu gained near mythic stature around the world capturing the imagination of outsiders and ultimately attracting the attention of hostile sovereigns who sacked the city three times and plundered it half a dozen more The ancient city was invaded by a Moroccan army in 1600 beginning its long decline since then it has been seized by Tuareg nomads and a variety of jihadists in addition to enduring a terrible earthquake several epidemics and numerous famines Perhaps no other city in the world has been as golden and as deeply tarnished as Timbuktu Using sources dating deep into Timbuktu's fabled past alongside interviews with Tuareg nomads and city residents and officials today de Villiers and Hirtle have produced a spectacular portrait that brings the city back to life

Black Africans in the British Imagination Cassander L. Smith, 2016-12-14 As Spain and England vied for dominance of the Atlantic world during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries mounting political and religious tensions between the two empires raised a troubling specter for contemporary British writers attempting to justify early English imperial efforts Specifically these writers focused on encounters with black Africans throughout the Atlantic world attempting to use these points of contact to articulate and defend England's global ambitions In Black Africans in the British Imagination Cassander L. Smith investigates how the physical presence of black Africans both enabled and disrupted English literary responses to Spanish imperialism By examining the extent to which this population helped to shape early English narratives from political pamphlets to travelogues Smith offers new perspectives on the literary social and political impact of black Africans in the early Atlantic world With detailed analysis of the earliest English language accounts from the Atlantic world including writings by Sir Francis Drake Sir Walter Raleigh and Richard Ligon Smith approaches contact narratives from the perspective of black Africans recovering figures often relegated to the margins This interdisciplinary study explores understandings of race and cross cultural interaction and revises notions of whiteness blackness and indigeneity Smith reveals the extent to which contact with black Africans impeded English efforts to stigmatize the Spanish empire as villainous and to malign Spain's administration of its colonies In addition her study illustrates how black presences influenced the narrative choices of European and later Euro American writers providing a more nuanced understanding of black Africans role in contemporary literary productions of the region

Mali Ross Velton,2009 The third edition of Bradt s Mali has been thoroughly updated and includes new sections on Mali s festivals music and musicians Seven Wonders of Ancient Africa Michael Woods,Mary B. Woods,2009 Take a new look at ancient history through the seven wonders of a geographical or cultural region Each book in this series explains the qualities that makes something a wonder with information about how the wonders were constructed how they were discovered or preserved how they are studied and if and how they are used in modern times The Politics of Heritage Management in Mali Charlotte L Joy,2016-06-16 This critical investigation highlights the politics of cultural heritage management including authenticity and conservation and its effects on the everyday lives of the peoples it claim to be representing through the example of Djenn in Mali The Storied City Charlie English,2018-05-01 Timbuktu is a real place and Charlie English will fuel your wanderlust with true descriptions of the fabled city s past present and future Fodor s Two tales of a city The historical race to discover one of the world s most mythologized places and the story of how a contemporary band of archivists and librarians fighting to save its ancient manuscripts from destruction at the hands of al Qaeda added another layer to the legend To Westerners the name Timbuktu long conjured a tantalizing paradise an African El Dorado where even the slaves wore gold Beginning in the late eighteenth century a series of explorers gripped by the fever for discovery tried repeatedly to reach the fabled city But one expedition after another went disastrously awry succumbing to attack the climate and disease Timbuktu was rich in another way too A medieval center of learning it was home to tens of thousands according to some hundreds of thousands of ancient manuscripts on subjects ranging from religion to poetry law to history pharmacology and astronomy When al Qaeda linked jihadists surged across Mali in 2012 threatening the existence of these precious documents a remarkable thing happened a team of librarians and archivists joined forces to spirit the manuscripts into hiding Relying on extensive research and firsthand reporting Charlie English expertly twines these two suspenseful strands into a fraught and fascinating account of one of the planet's extraordinary places and the myths from which it has become inseparable

The Black Woods Amy Godine, 2023-11-15 Winner of the Charles A Weyerhaeuser Forest History Society Book Award The Black Woods chronicles the history of Black pioneers in New York's northern wilderness From the late 1840s to the 1860s they migrated to the Adirondacks to build the farms that helped them meet a 250 property requirement imposed on Black New York voters in 1821 Abolitionist Gerrit Smith gifted 120 000 acres to 3 000 landless Black New Yorkers with the support of Frederick Douglass John Brown and other abolitionists His prescient plan enacted affirmative action and distributive justice But when most of his grantees did not move north Smith's interest cooled He would not visit Timbuctoo Freeman's Home or Blacksville The settlers were on their own In The Black Woods Godine revives this history with stirring stories of frontier life and racial justice She puts the vote seeking Black pioneers at the heart of the Adirondack narrative At long last their shaping role has been reclaimed

Thieving Three-Fingered Jack Frances R. Botkin, 2017-12-31 The fugitive slave known as Three Fingered Jack terrorized colonial Jamaica from 1780 until vanquished by Maroons self emancipated Afro Jamaicans bound by treaty to police the island for runaways and rebels A thief and a killer Jack was also a freedom fighter who sabotaged the colonial machine until his grisly death at its behest Narratives about his exploits shed light on the problems of black rebellion and solutions administered by the colonial state creating an occasion to consider counter narratives about its methods of divide and conquer For more than two centuries writers performers and storytellers in England Jamaica and the United States have thieved Three Fingered Jack's riveting tale defining black agency through and against representations of his resistance Frances R Botkin offers a literary and cultural history that explores the persistence of stories about this black rebel his contributions to constructions of black masculinity in the Atlantic world and his legacies in Jamaican and United States popular culture
