Human Intelligence Nicholas Mackintosh, 2011-03-03 What is intelligence may seem like a simple question to answer but the study and measurement of human intelligence is one of the most controversial subjects in psychology. IQ and Human Intelligence provides an authoritative overview of the main issues surrounding this fascinating area Race in Mind

Alexander Alland, 2002-10-18 In Race in Mind Alexander Alland challenges the idea that intelligence is related to race offering critiques of the biological determinism of Carlton Coon, Arthur Jensen, Cyril Burt, Robert Ardrey, Konrad Lorenz, William Shockley and others. Presenting evolutionary genetics in understandable and accessible language, Alland demonstrates that biologically race cannot explain human variation. Written in a lively conversational style, Alland imparts real substantive scientific arguments and cuts through the ideological posturing and jargon that so often characterizes our discussions about race, showing us a more nuanced and scientifically valid way to understand the diversity that is the human condition Key Thinkers in Individual Differences Alex Forsythe, 2019-05-28

Key Thinkers in Individual Differences introduces the life work and thought of 25 of the most influential figures who have shaped and developed the measurement of intelligence and personality. Expanding on from a r sum of academic events, this book makes sense of these psychologists by bringing together not only their ideas but the social experiences, loves and losses that moulded them. By adopting a chronological approach, Forsythe presents the history and context behind these thinkers, ranging from the buffoonery and sheer genius of Charles Galton, the theatre of Hans Eysenck and John Phillip Rushton to the much maligned and overlooked work of women such as Isabel Myers, Katherine Briggs and Karen Horney. Exploring all through a phenomenological lens, the background, interconnections, controversies and conversations of these thinkers are uncovered. This informative guide is essential reading to anyone who studies works in or is simply captivated by the field of individual differences, personality and intelligence. An invaluable resource for all students of individual differences and the history of psychology Race and IQ

Ashley Montagu, 1999-04-08 Ashley Montagu, who first attacked the term race as a usable concept in his acclaimed work Man

s Most Dangerous Myth offers here a devastating rebuttal to those who would claim any link between race and intelligence In now classic essays this thought provoking volume critically examines the terms race and IQ and their applications in scientific discourse The twenty four contributors including such eminent thinkers as Stephen Jay Gould Richard Lewontin Urie Bronfenbrenner W F Bodmer and Jerome Kagan draw on fields that range from biology and genetics to psychology anthropology and education What emerges in piece after piece is a deep skepticism about the scientific validity of intelligence tests especially as applied to evaluating innate intelligence if only because scientists still cannot distinguish between genetic and environmental contributions to the development of the human mind Five new essays have been included that specifically address the claims made in the recent highly controversial book The Bell Curve Must reading for anyone interested in racism and education in America Race and IQ is a brilliantly lucid exploration of the boundary line between race and intelligence

Measurement, Realism and Objectivity J. Forge, 2012-12-06 The institutionalization of History and Philosophy of Science as a distinct field of scholarly endeavour began comparatively early though not always under that name in the Australasian region An initial lecturing appointment was made at the University of Melbourne immediately after the Second World War in 1946 and other appointments followed as the subject underwent an expansion during the 1950s and 1960s similar to that which took place in other parts of the world Today there are major Departments at the University of Melbourne the University of New South Wales and the University of Wollongong and smaller groups active in many other parts of Australia and in New Zealand Australasian Studies in History and Philosophy of Science aims to provide a distinctive publication outlet for Australian and New Zealand scholars working in the general area of history philosophy and social studies of science Each volume comprises a group of essays on a connected theme edited by an Australian or a New Zealander with special expertise in that particular area Papers address general issues however rather than local ones parochial topics are avoided Further more though in each volume a majority of the contributors is from Australia or New Zealand contributions from elsewhere are by no means ruled out Quite the reverse in fact they are actively encouraged wherever appropriate to the balance of the volume in question

Fifty Key Thinkers in Psychology Alexandra Forsythe, 2022-07-08 The new edition of Fifty Key Thinkers in Psychology introduces the life thought work and impact of some of the most influential figures who have shaped and developed modern psychology considering a more diverse history of the discipline The revised text includes new biographies histories and overviews of the work from scientists and scholars such as Alfred Alder Isabel Briggs Myers Katherine Cook Briggs and Karen Horney as well as major re-writes of the works of Freud Binet and Jung and some of the more controversial characters such as Charles Galton and Hans Eysenck Exploring the often overlooked but significant contributions of black Jewish and Eastern scholars to the discipline this new edition looks to address the historically imbalanced focus of particular key thinkers and begin unpicking the impact that race and gender had on the direction and advancement of the field The book covers the black psychology movement from George Herman Candy to Mamie Phipps Clark and Kenneth Bancroft Clark the enormous contribution of Chinese psychologist Jing Qicheng and some of the many great psychologists whose families were part of the waves of Jewish emigration to the United States escaping oppression persecution and economic hardship including Walter Mischel Cary Cooper and Daniel Kahneman This fascinating and informative guide is an invaluable resource for those studying working in or who simply want to find out more about psychology suitable for both students and the lay reader alike

Human Abilities in Cultural Context S. H. Irvine, John W. Berry, 1988-09-30 Originally published in 1988 Human Abilities in Cultural Context constituted a major development in conceptualising and studying human abilities It formed a unique reference frame This study offers a re evaluation of ability theory by the editors S H Irvine and J W Berry and strong individual statements by H J Eysenck Arthur R Jensen Joseph R Royce and Robert J Sternberg who represent markedly different approaches to the measurement of intelligence It also focuses on contexts in which the limits of assessment by psychological tests are defined in minority native groups in North America in migrants to Britain in lower caste enclaves in India among African minorities and among Australian Aborigines Written by long term residents of the regions in question these chapters presented a wealth of fresh data in relation to Western formulations of theory and practice

The Future of Children: Spring 2005 Cecilia Rouse, Jeanne Brooks-Gunn, Sara S. McLanahan, 2010-12-01 The Future of Children is a new semiannual publication that provides research and analysis to promote effective policies and programs for children This first issue focuses on School Readiness Closing Racial and Ethnic Gaps For more than 30 years researchers have seen white children outperform black and other minority children in tests of reading and math skills Though there is evidence that the gap has narrowed somewhat the very persistence of this racial and ethnic gap remains a source considerable concern for academics policy professionals and parents The ethnic and racial gaps appear to reach back to the preschool years When children reach the school door minority children exhibit lower school readiness skills at least those measured by standardized tests than their white counterparts From that point forward the achievement gap only widens If policy professionals are to address this disparity in academic achievement and the consequent disparity in later opportunity the racial and ethnic gap must be examined in the very earliest years before students begin school with embedded inequalities This volume critically summarizes the research on the origin and trajectory of the racial and ethnic gap in the early years from several theoretical perspectives In particular research is analyzed to determine when these differences start to emerge in what areas they appear what factors contribute to their development by the time children enter grade school and what are the long term effects Contents Introducing the Issue of Test Score Ethnic and Racial Disparities Jeanne Brooks Gunn Sara McLanahan and Cecilia Elena Rouse Identifying Racial and Ethnic Differences in School Readiness Donald Rock and Jack Stenner Test Score Gaps The Contribution of Family and Neighborhood Characteristics Greg Duncan and Katherine Magnuson Genetic Differences and School Readiness William T Dickens Neuroscience Perspectives on Disparities in School Readiness Kim Noble B J Casey and Nim Tottenham Low Birth Weight and School Readiness Nancy Reichman The Impact of Health on School Readiness Janet Currie Parenting Jeanne Brooks Gunn and Lisa Markman Childcare and Early Education Katherine Magnuson and Jane Waldfogel Perspectives on Bias in Mental Testing Cecil Reynolds, 2013-11-11 The cultural test bias hypothesis is one of the most important scientific questions facing psychology today Briefly the cultural test bias hypothesis contends that all observed group differences in mental test scores are due to a built in cultural bias of the tests themselves that is group score differences are an artifact of current psychometric methodology If the cultural test bias hypothesis is ultimately shown to be correct then the 100 years or so of psychological research on human differences or differential psychology the scientific discipline underlying all applied areas of human psychology including clinical counseling school and industrial psychology must be reexamined and perhaps dismissed as confounded contaminated or otherwise artifactual In order to continue its existence as a scientific discipline psychology must confront the cultural test bias hypothesis from the solid foundations of data and theory and must not allow the resolution of this issue to occur solely within and to be determined by the political Zeitgeist of the times or any singular work no matter how comprehensive In his recent volume Bias in Mental Testing New York Free Press 1980 Arthur Jensen provided a thorough review of most of the empirical research relevant to the evaluation of cultural bias in psychological and educational tests that was available at the time that his book was prepared Nevertheless Jensen presented only one perspective on those issues in a volume intended not only for the scientific community but for intelligent laypeople as well

The Science and Politics of Racial Research William H. Tucker, 1994 Unlike other critiques of the scientific literature on racial difference The Science and Politics of Racial Research argues that there has been no scientific purpose or value to the study of innate differences in ability between groups William Tucker shows how for more than a century scientific investigations of supposedly innate differences in ability between races have been used to rationalize social and political inequality as the unavoidable consequence of natural differences Tucker structures his work chronologically with each chapter describing how research on genetic difference was used in a particular era to support a particular political agenda He begins with the use of science to support slavery in the mid nineteenth century and ends with the effects of Jensenism in the 1970s Highlights include one chapter describing a little known but concerted attempt by a group of scientists to overturn the Brown v Board of Education decision on the basis of expert testimony about racial differences and another that presents a review of the eugenics movement in the twentieth century The author also considers how to balance the rights and responsibilities of scientists concluding that one generally neglected method is to strengthen the rights of research subjects

Facts, Fallacies and Frauds in Psychology Andrew M. Colman,2024-05-01 Are the effects of hypnosis real or imagined Is intelligence determined by nature or nurture Will ordinary people perform acts of cruelty if ordered to do so by authority figures Are anorexia and bulimia nervosa forms of depression Why do some groups outscore others on IQ tests Is there any real evidence of ESP These are some of the questions that continued to generate fierce arguments among psychologists and excite considerable general interest in the 1980s and beyond But where does the truth lie Originally published in 1987 Facts Fallacies and Frauds in Psychology looks closely at these six popular and controversial issues In each case the central ideas are explained and research findings presented in such a way that readers can begin their own voyage of scientific discovery develop a clearer deeper understanding and find out how psychologists really think Reputations are assessed fraud is unflinchingly exposed This entertaining and provocative book will still fascinate the general reader and provide an excellent introduction for students of psychology This book is a re issue originally published in 1987 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication
